JEWEL ROBBERS KILL MAN

LIVELY BUNDLE OF SENSATIONS IN HEALEY CASE

A MERRY DAY IN COURT

Sensations crowded on one another's heels in the malfeasance-conspiracy hearing against Chief of Police Healey and William Luthardt before Chief Justice Harry Olson yesterday.

Joseph A. Thoney, an investigator for the Citizens' association, said the 2,000 slot machines operated in Chicago in the heyday of their prosperity last summer took in $400,000 a month. This is $5,000,000 a year, or $200 a month for each machine.

CABARET PRIVILEGES SOLD.

Capt. Wesley H. Westbrook of Warren avenue station declared it a "rumor" that police captains made a custom of selling cabaret privileges to saloonkeepers.

Peter J. Gaynor, a saloonkeeper at 401 West Twenty-sixth street, said he had paid $250 to a man of mysterious identity named "John" to obtain the restoration of his license.

Almost at the minute that John J. Healy, counsel for Chief Healey, announced he understood the grand jury investigation of the charges had been abandoned, the grand jury resumed its inquiry under the personal direction of State's Attorney Hoyne.

A FEW HOT DETAILS.

In Judge Olson's court Mr. Thoney proved one of the most sensational witnesses so far. Some of his startling assertions were:

John Greevey, a saloonkeeper at 3061 Archer avenue, told him: "You have to line up with the Thompson administration or you can't operate a slot machine in your place."

Fifteen minutes after his license was restored a policeman brought a slot machine into Louis A. Thums' saloon, 1858 Belmont avenue, deposited it on the bar, and departed.

When Chief Healey's order went out to suppress the gambling devices messengers with the tip that slot machines must disappear preceded police raiders by fifteen minutes everywhere.

T. A. Rooney, saloon keeper at 3846 Archer avenue, said Tom Finucane, political boss of the Fourth and Fifth wards, owned and operated 150 slot machines.

Most of the slot machines were under the control and protection of politicians.

A saloon keeper at 5124 South Halsted street told him one slot machine paid his rent, after he had paid "the coppers their graft."

WESTBROOK HURLS BOMB—HELL.

Police Capt. Westbrook, called as a witness by the state's attorney, proved a boomerang and a bombshell. When he assumed command at Warren avenue he issued orders that all slot machines in the district be confiscated.

"When this order was placed on the books," said Capt. Westbrook, "a member of my command came to me and told me if I permitted slot machines to operate I could get $100 on the first and $100 on the fifteenth of every month."

"Who told you that?" asked Judge Olson.

"Do I have to tell?"

"Yes."

NAMES SERGEANT HOWE.

"It was Sergt. Lawrence Howe. I wish to add that I reported my talk with Howe to Chief Healey. He wanted to suspend him and have him before the trial board. I persuaded him not to because I knew Howe would deny the proposal and it was only my word against his. Chief Healey said he would drive Howe from the police force and did. Howe was forced to resign a little later."

"When Howe offered you the bribe did he say anything else?"

"He said: 'That's what's been doing right along. No use in your breaking it up.'"

HE SLIPS A COG.

Capt. Westbrook gave Chief Healey a clean bill of health, but slipped a cog in the midst of a fine eulogy.

G. O. P. Claims 300 Electoral Votes; See Possible 405

Hughes Tour Manager Predicts Victory After Swing Through North.

RIVAL JUST AS SURE

New York, Oct. 20.—[Special.]—Charles W. Farnham, manager of Charles E. Hughes' campaign tours, predicted today that the Republican candidate is sure of 300 electoral votes, that he will receive "probably" fifty more, and may "possibly" get fifty-five others. The total electoral vote is 531.

Mr. Farnham bases his judgment on information received and on observations made of conditions in all but the southern states. As tour manager he has visited most of the other states.

"Sure for Hughes."

Following is Mr. Farnham's list of "sure for Hughes" states, with the electoral vote of each:

Ohio	24	California	13
Oregon	5	North Dakota	5
Massachusetts	18	Utah	4
New York	45	South Dakota	5
Rhode Island	5	Washington	7
Vermont	4	Indiana	15
Illinois	29	Wisconsin	13
Maine	6	Wyoming	3
Michigan	15	Delaware	3
Iowa	13
Minnesota	12	Total	300

"Probable" and "Possible."

The states and electoral votes which Mr. Farnham predicts as "probable for Hughes" are:

New Jersey	14	Nebraska	5
Montana	4	West Virginia	8
Arizona	3
Connecticut	7	Total	50

Mr. Farnham picked as "possibly for Hughes" these states:

Maryland	8	Missouri	18
Kentucky	13
Colorado	6	Total	55

Women to Swing Illinois.

Illinois, Mr. Farnham says, will give Hughes a large proportion of the woman vote; Indiana he claims for Hughes by 25,000; the chances in Maryland he believes favor Hughes, and he looks for 40,000 plurality in Michigan.

Minnesota he expects to give Hughes 40,000, and if New Jersey fails to give the Republican candidate "at least 100,000" he will be surprised.

He expects a small plurality for Hughes in West Virginia and Wyoming.

After a series of conferences, Vance C. McCormick, Democratic national chairman, said tonight:

"It's all over The president is reelected."

BIG BETS IN WALL STREET ON PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION.

Nearly $40,000 Wagered by Commissioners—Hughes Odds Range from 10 to 7 to 10 to 8.

New York, Oct. 20.—[Special.]—Today was far the heaviest betting day on the presidential election seen in the Wall street district. It was estimated between $30,000 and $40,000 was wagered by the curb commissioners, with large sums of money still being offered on both President Wilson and Mr. Hughes when the day ended.

No perceptible change was made in the quoted odds and the bets made ranged from 10 to 7 at the opening to 10 to 8 at the close, with intermediary betting at 10 to 7. Hughes continuing favorite.

Shumm of Brooklyn has $30,000 to bet on Wilson. He wants odds of 10 to 7, but the best price offered to him today was 10 to 8.

RIOTS OPPOSE ALLIES' RULE OVER ATHENS

PERIL GROWS WORSE.

EUROPEAN WAR SUMMARY

Greek reservists, angered at entente action, riot in Athens and gain upper hand.

Roumanians drive back Teutons to Transylvanian frontier, but admit loss in Dobrudja. Serbs capture another town in Macedonia.

Violent battle for tooth of Pasubio, in Trentino, continues. Italians report repulse of massed attacks by Austrians.

Berlin reports recapture of the trenches captured by British north of Somme on Wednesday.

Berlin reports Germans storm Russian river positions in Galicia and take 2,000 prisoners; Petrograd claims repulse of Teuton attacks.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—Extremely turbulent conditions in Athens on Wednesday night are reported in a dispatch from Reuter's correspondent at the Greek capital, sent that evening.

Greek reservists have taken the law into their own hands despite the presence of strong entente detachments of marines, who are given virtually no assistance by the Greek authorities in maintaining order, the dispatch declares.

CAVALRY ESCORTS FRENCH.

"Tonight," the message reads, "it is evident that the reservists are out of hand, for, despite the fact that strong cavalry forces are escorting the French and Greek marines and soldiers spread about everywhere, the reservists assembled in groups have taken the law into their own hands and the Greek forces for the maintenance of order do not dispose of them.

"The chief of the French police control has informed the editors of the anti-Venizelos press that, beginning tomorrow, the French will exercise a newspaper censorship and that newspapers printing anti-entente articles run the risk of suspension."

[The foregoing, although bringing the news of developments in Athens only up to Wednesday night, is the latest report to be received on the situation there.]

MORE ALLIES ARE LANDED.

Additional entente forces have been sent to Saloniki, according to Reuters correspondent there, who sends word that a further strong contingent of infantry was landed today, and that several detachments of Greek troops have arrived from Crete to join the nationalist army.

Twenty-five officers and 500 men of the Athens garrison have gone over to the national movement and left for Saloniki, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Athens.

Newspapers announce, adds the message, that Janina, in Greek Epirus, has gone over to the revolutionists, but official confirmation of this is lacking.

GIVEN U. S. RECOGNITION.

ATHENS, Thursday, Oct. 19, via London, Oct. 20.—The afternoon newspapers publish a letter said to have been sent by the American consul at Saloniki to M. Politis, foreign minister of the provisional government established by former Premier Venizelos, expressing "the sincere hope of being able to continue with the de facto goverament the cordial relations always heretofore existing between the authorities and this consulate."

The adherents of M. Venizelos claim that this constitutes recognition of the provisional government by the United States. The American minister, Garrett Droppers, denies that any consul has been authorized to do more than cultivate essential relations with the de facto authorities in Mytilene and Crete as well as Saloniki.

Girls Land in Cell on Hot Trail of Twelve Jet Cats!

But What Care They?—This Story Is Meat for Them.

VERY CLUBBY AFFAIR

If the Black Cat club's dance at the Edgewater Beach hotel tonight isn't a success it won't be the fault of Miss Lillian McMann of New Orleans and Miss Pauline Williams of Nashville, Tenn.

And if three or four Chicago police persons aren't fired for being just hopelessly impossible, it won't be the fault of these same outraged young women.

Both are guests at the new north side hostelry that faces the lake at Sheridan road and Balmoral avenue. During her brief stay Miss McMann has been helping Miss Jane Dabney, social secretary at the hotel, in planning the Black Cat club's Saturday night dances, which number among their patronesses Mrs. Laurence Armour, Mrs. A. A. Sprague II., Mrs. Leeds Mitchell, Mrs. Arthur Meeker, Mrs. Hobart Chatfield-Taylor, Mrs. E. J. Warner Jr., and Mrs. D. Mark Cummings.

A Bit of Diversion.

With this introduction, consider what happened yesterday—

As a diverting feature of its opening dance the club desires the presence of twelve coal black cats as mascots. They must be ferocious to to mien, and bewhiskered, as is fitting in the Halloween season.

So Miss McMann and Miss Williams set out in the driving rain, equipped with a lot of printed handbills setting forth the requirements and offering $1 coin of realm, for each cat accepted.

It was exciting They circularized several schools on the lower north side and, along about 4:30, invaded the lion house in Lincoln park. It seemed a propitious place, but—it wasn't.

"Hands Off, You Brute!"

Lincoln Park Policeman Alex Locashio was there, and Policeman Alex knows the law. In his best manner he informed Miss McMann and Miss Williams that they couldn't pull that stuff around there and they'd better beat it.

Two pairs of eyebrows lifted disdainfully.

"W—why, don't you dare touch us!" flashed Miss McMann, who is blond and fluffy in appearance. "We live at the Edgewater Beach hotel. You can't arrest us."

"Certainly not," observed Miss Williams, flinging another handful of bills into the air.

Ride in "Black Maria."

A patrol wagon came. The unbelievable happened. Miss McMann and Miss Williams were trundled away to the Halsted street station—a horrible place, if you will take the prisoners' word for it. There being no police matron there, a disconcerted desk sergeant opined they'd better go to East Chicago avenue, and to East Chicago avenue they went, jolting dismally through the rain.

Then they were locked up. For one mortal hour they sat in a basement cell, too astonished to speak their minds properly, until Assistant Manager George A. Beesley was summoned from the hotel to give bail for them at $25 apiece.

"Gracious!" exclaimed Miss McMann. "All I can remember is iron bars—those lions and things in their cages and then us—we, I mean—looking out through the bars ourselves."

GERMANY AND RUSSIA PLAN PEACE, MUENSTERBERG SAYS

Harvard Educator Asserts Agreement Will Be Made by Spring—Then Russo-Jap-Teuton Alliance.

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 20.—Hugo Muensterberg, professor of psychology at Harvard university, in an address tonight before the International Polity club of the university, asserted he had been reliably informed that Russia and Germany would sign terms of a separate peace before spring, and that after this peace there would be an alliance between Germany, Russia and Japan.

"I know from reliable sources," he said, "that Russia is out of joint, is half bankrupt, is starving and will be ready for a separate peace before spring. The result is to be an alliance between Germany, Austria, Russia and Japan. Japan and Russia are pushing toward this combination and an overwhelming majority of the German people would welcome it today.

"It is the old Bismarckian tradition that Germany ought to be the friend of Russia and that such an alliance would be her surest protection."

THE PROSPERITY THAT DEPENDS UPON THE DISTRESS AND SUFFERING OF OTHERS

SOUTH SHORE COUNTRY CLUB SUED BY OUSTED MEMBER.

E. F. McDonald Jr. Asks Mandamus to Compel Replacing of His Name on Roll.

Eugene F. McDonald Jr., who recently was expelled from the South Shore Country club, yesterday filed a petition for a writ of mandamus to compel the club to replace his name on the membership roll.

"My client was wrongfully accused by a guard at the club of driving too near another member's automobile and of approaching the club in his car with the muffler cut out," Attorney Forest Garfield Smith said. "An argument followed, and the doorman pulled a blackjack with which to hit Mr. McDonald.

"My client, to protect himself, struck the doorman first, and the expulsion of Mr. McDonald followed. However, his being thrown out of the club was largely a matter of petty politics. Mr. McDonald does not pull with the officers in charge, and as a result he is not allowed to remain a member."

When Mr. McDonald first made his charges against the club President Everett C. Brown emphatically denied them.

DANISCH'S AUTO IS VERY WABBLY

But Maybe This Will All Be News to the Said Mr. Danisch.

"Robert Glover," who seemed to be a perfect double for Frank P. Danisch, clerk of the Municipal court, became the guest, unwillingly, of the Desplaines street police last night.

"Glover," who so singularly resembles Danisch, was driving a large touring car west in Washington boulevard. There seemed to be something wrong with the steering gear or the driver, for the car wabbled rather unsteadily.

A Little Maneuver.

"Glover," still bearing a striking resemblance to Mr. Danisch, seemed unable to keep his automobile in the street and presently approached a fire engine house at the northwest corner of Clinton and Washington. Hitherto there has been a water plug just in front of the engine house, but that is ancient history.

When "Glover," whose facial characteristics are so bluntly reminiscent of Frank P. Danisch, arrived at this point his car declined to hesitate. It went rearing on, staggering somewhat, and tore the water plug from its moorings. The result was a deluge. The basement of the engine house became a short order natatorium.

What the Firemen See.

A number of firemen were in front of the engine house.

"Why," said one of them, "that's Frank P. Danisch, clerk of the Municipal court."

Continuing to bear this favor, "Glover" backed his car out and started south. At Halsted street firemen who followed the car came upon Park Policeman Hensel. The policeman arrested "Glover" and took him to the Desplaines street station, where it was again remarked that "Glover" certainly looked like Danisch.

"Jim Frank Glover."

"What is your name?" asked the sergeant, wondering if he had ever seen that face before in any Municipal court affairs.

"Frank Glover of 1715 South Ridgeway avenue," replied "Glover," trying not to resemble Frank P. Danisch.

He was locked in a cell.

The police refused to tell the number of "Glover's" machine.

Strangely enough the firemen remembered the number of the automobile. It was 40875, and by reference to the license directory it is learned this is listed as belonging to Frank P. Danisch.

"Glover" was released shortly before 1 o'clock this morning on $400 bonds signed by Michael J. Keough, saloonkeeper across from the police station and professional bondsman.

WOMEN BARE ARMS TO TEST BY TYPHOID DETECTIVE

Seventy-five Leaders of Englewood School Lunch Club Start Hunt for Carrier.

Seventy-five women, leaders of club and social activities of Englewood, will bare their arms to the surgeon's lance on Monday in an effort to aid the department of health in its search for the source of a typhoid epidemic prevalent among students of the Englewood High school. This was made known yesterday when the health department admitted that blood tests probably will be made to ascertain if any of the seventy-five women to be examined is a typhoid "carrier."

The women who will submit to the tests are members of a committee in charge of the Englewood Woman's club's lunchroom at the high school. Fifteen women from the club have been assigned daily to supervise and assist in serving the student-customers at the restaurant. Fourteen girls and one boy have been stricken with typhoid. All other efforts to ascertain the source of the disease having failed, the department decided upon the blood test examinations among the club members.

Among those who will submit to the blood tests are Mrs. Harry G. Earl of 324 West Seventy-second street, chairman of the committee in charge of the lunchroom; Mrs. Joseph K. Brittain of 7126 Princeton avenue, vice chairman, and Mrs. Louis K. Scotford of 6433 Harvard avenue.

EXPERT SALESMAN HELD ON $5,000 THEFT CHARGE

Shoe Clerk Refuses a Raise in Salary and Employers Find the Reason When the Cash Is Short.

David Marks, a salesman employed by O'Connor & Goldberg, shoe dealers, 23 East Madison street, was arrested yesterday accused of stealing $5,000 from his employers.

O'Connor & Goldberg were pleased with Marks' work and found him such an excellent salesman that on several occasions they offered to raise his salary. This he uniformly refused to accept.

"My wife is an heiress," he would say. "She has plenty of money. The only reason I work is because I want to keep my hand in and be busy."

It was discovered that Marks kept a duplicate system of salesbooks. If he made a $10 sale he would make out the sales slip on his private book and later turn in a $5 sales slip to the cashier made out on the regular book.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 20.—A degree of doctor of laws was conferred upon Thomas A. Edison over the telephone tonight by Dr. John H. It was the first time a degree had ever been conferred over the telephone.

DEALER HELD UP, SAVES $25,000; COMRADE SLAIN

Louis Lichtenstein Dead, Emil Noel Wounded—Bandit Is Hit.

POSED AS U. S. AGENTS

Diamond robbers, failing in an attempt that recalls the Logue murder of 1912, last night shot down and killed Louis Lichtenstein and dangerously wounded Emil Noel, his brother-in-law. Noel, who is a jeweler, was carrying $25,000 worth of gems in a chamois bag.

The shooting took place at the entrance to Noel's private garage in the rear of 5416 Prairie avenue. The garage is two doors from the apartment building at 5418 Prairie avenue in which are the homes of both Noel and Lichtenstein.

Noel fired upon the robbers, wounding one, but the men ran out the mouth of the alley and escaped. Noel saved his jewels.

THE DETAILED STORY.

Noel has an office in the Heyworth building at 29 East Madison street. It has been his custom to take home with him each evening a number of valuable stones in a chamois bag. Lichtenstein, who was an advertising man on the Evening Post, often called at the office of his brother-in-law to motor home with him. This he did yesterday. Noel placed a large number of gems in a bag and stowed it in an inner pocket.

They drove into the alley and arrived at the garage when two men stepped out from ambush.

"Hands up," one of them called.

Noel and Lichtenstein laughed, considering it a joke.

"This is no joke," called the spokesman of the robbers. "Stick 'em up in the air."

DUELS WITH ROBBERS.

The command was followed by the appearance of revolvers in the hands of the robbers. Noel by this time had opened the door of his car and was standing on the running board. He raised his hand and thrust forward a revolver he had drawn from his coat pocket. He fired and immediately there was a fusillade from the robbers.

Noel jumped into the open door of the garage and lifted a spare automobile wheel from the wall. This he held before him as a shield while he continued to fire upon the robbers.

Meanwhile three shots fired at Lichtenstein as he sat in the machine had taken effect. One bullet struck the young man in the head, another through the heart, and a third passed through his left hand. He fell over in the car, dead.

ONE ROBBER WOUNDED.

The robbers started backing away, still shooting. A bullet struck Noel in the head, dazing him. A shot from Noel's revolver struck one of the robbers in the neck. He broke and ran. Then his companion turned and fled.

The shooting alarmed the neighborhood, and men came running down their back stairs. The wound in Noel's head had caused him to topple over, and he was not able to give any information.

J. Grossman, who lives at 216 East Fifty-fourth street, was hurrying into the alley when he came upon the wounded robber. Blood was flowing from the wound in his neck.

"What's the matter" asked Grossman.

"Nothing, nothing," answered the bandit. "Everything is all right."

"What's the matter with your neck?" asked Grossman. "You're bleeding."

HE WALKS RIGHT ON.

The robber placed his hand to his neck and drew it away. It was covered with blood, as was his coat, a light cravanette. He made no answer, but started off again toward Indiana avenue. There Parker Nelson of 5407 Indiana avenue met him.

"He was all bloody," Nelson told the police, "and he carried a revolver in his hand. There were several men there and we ran after him. But we didn't want to get too close for fear he would shoot. He ran into an alley after he turned at Fifty-third street and Michigan avenue and disappeared."

The other robber was not seen in his flight. He is said to have a black mustache and was wearing a cap and also a light raincoat.

Dr. I. J. Frish of 5427 Prairie avenue was called to the Noel home. The jeweler's wounds were dressed and he regained consciousness. The police of the Fiftieth street station were notified and Noel was able to give an accurate account of the shooting. Detective Sergeant Thomas Culley and a squad of detectives were sent out to search the district for the wounded robber. All doctors' offices and hospitals were also notified to look out for him.

Hiding in the garage was Vernon C. Beaver, 16 years old, also of 5416 Prairie avenue. The boy had entered with his motorcycle and was repairing it when the robbers forced him to remain quiet while they lay in ambush. Thus the boy became innocently the means of their allaying suspicion. He was able to tell the police of the shooting, being a witness from under an automobile where he took refuge from flying bullets.

On a Hot Trail.

While the police were searching for the robbers a stranger slipped into the Fiftieth street police station.

"I just jumped off a State street car," he said, all out of breath, "and two fellows in front of me were talking about the robbery. They had a suitcase."

Six detectives hopped into a police automobile and, taking the informant with them, chased the street car. At Sixty-first street they overtook the car. The suspects got out.

The police caught one. The other ran and reached for his hip.

"Don't shoot!" he cried.

But the police overpowered him, and in his hip pocket they found—his purse!

The informer was bounced out of the automobile and the detectives went gravely back.

The similarity between the murder and attempted robbery recalled to the police the slaying of Joseph Logue, a jeweler, in his office in the McVicker building in 1912.

Recalls Office Visit.

"I thought of the Logue case," Noel said, "when these same men came into my office about two weeks ago. The robbers are the same fellows, I know.

"They came into my office and told me they were federal inspectors. They told me they would like to talk with me in my private office about some personal matters. I told them there was nothing so private they couldn't talk about it out in the open. Then, when I began to ask them questions, they became frightened and went away in a hurry."

Noel's experience at that time was reported in the Jewelers' Weekly, a trade paper, and a warning was issued to jewelers to beware of an experience such as befell Logue with a pair of bandits who struck him down in his office and looted his gems.

Lichtenstein was 34 years old and Noel is 28. The former is well known in advertising circles. It is expected the inquest will be delayed pending the outcome of the search for the robbers.

Bloom Case Recalled.

Max Bloom, a jeweler with offices in the Masonic temple, who on Oct. 10 reported he had been robbed in a saloon of $25,000 worth of diamonds, said he believed there is a possibility that the men who watched Noel's movements also trailed him and robbed him.

"I have no way of identifying the men in the Noel shooting," he said, "but I remember a man who came in my place when I was showing diamonds to a jeweler in the Stewart building. Tomorrow I am going to find out who he was. Perhaps that will have a bearing on the Noel case."

FIRST CAVALRY SHIVERS IN NEW ORLEANS COLD.

Chicago Horsemen on Way Home Strike Some Chilly Weather in the South.

New Orleans, La., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—Garments in vogue in the arctic regions would have found a ready market here today after the First Illinois cavalry arrived in town. The thermometer ranged around the fifty degree mark. Added to this was a stiff north wind. The cavalrymen, fresh from more than three months on the sun baked deserts of Texas, felt the cold keenly. Many of them have only khaki uniforms suitable for hot weather service.

The cavalrymen were given a day to themselves by Col. Foreman. They spent it in going to theaters, sightseeing, and riding about the city.

At night the four sections of the troop train pulled out on the run to Springfield. The train is expected to arrive in Memphis tomorrow night or Sunday morning.

I. N. G. CAUGHT IN SNOW.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 20.—A company of engineers and field hospital No. 2, I. N. G., arrived here early this morning from the Mexican border, coming from southern warmth into an early winter blizzard. In a driving storm of soggy snow they hastily put up their tents. Members of the Eighth regiment of Negro troops stayed closely to their quarters today and no work was attempted. The Eighth will be mustered out on Oct. 27.

ILLINOIS LABOR FEDERATION KEEPS REFERENDUM BALLOT

Proposal to Change System of Choosing Officers Defeated After Bitter Debate.

Quincy, Ill., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—The referendum system of election of officers in the Illinois Federation of Labor will be retained as the result of a hard fought battle on the floor of the convention in the closing session this afternoon. The debate grew in bitterness until retiring President John Walker took the floor and made an address which is credited with having influenced the delegates to keep the referendum.

The resolution committee was divided, the majority report being for the abolishing of the referendum. It was pointed out by the minority faction that should the referendum be abolished the federation would go on record as being against something in its own organization for which it is asking the state legislature in relation to the tax amendment to the state constitution.

ROW OVER DICE GAME LEADS TO FATAL SHOOTING

Arthur Leeb Slain in a Barber Shop Dispute at 508 West Chicago Avenue.

A barber shop crap game ended the career of Arthur Loeb, 23 years old, last night when he was shot down by one of a coterie of gamblers at 508 West Chicago avenue.

Five men, including Peter Sparacino, owner of the barber shop, were arrested and are held pending investigation. Inasmuch as none of the men interested in the dive game were able to give information, it is believed a man who escaped fired the shot.

Cashed $200 Check.

Leeb, who was a salesman for George B. Carpenter company, ship chandlers, was accompanied by George Murphy, 19 years old, of 1520 Wieland street. Leeb lived at 1303 South Crawford avenue. It is said by those held that Leeb had made frequent trips from the barber shop to the saloon of Frank Kaplan, adjoining, where he cashed a number of checks. The last one was for $200, it is said.

It is believed all this money went into the game. Michael Seaplio of 857 Townsend street, Tony Serranova of 535 West Oak street, and George Levin of 2307 Thomas street, all were held, in addition to Murphy and the owner of the shop. Levin said Leeb was shot by a young Italian with whom he had quarreled and who fled after the shooting.

Revolver and Shotgun.

Police made an examination of the shop and found a revolver and a shotgun shell, together with dice and small change on the floor. The shooting was heard by firemen in an engine house near by, who surrounded the shop and kept the gamblers in until the police arrived.

It is said Leeb comes of a wealthy family, but nothing definite could be learned of him last night. In his clothing was found a diamond pin, two watches, but no money.

Saloon Brawl Fatal.

Charles R. Matthews of 2011 Howe street, a steamfitter, was fatally hurt when in a saloon brawl that ended an argument late last night with an unidentified man in the saloon of George H. Wilson at 6358 North Clark street.

John McNamara, a street car conductor, according to the bartender, P. T. Conners of 6313 Wayne avenue, became involved in an argument with Matthews about 10 o'clock. This argument was said to have been over some land. A short time later Matthews returned and became involved in an argument with a stranger over meat and blows were exchanged.

When Matthews fell he was holding a heavy beer glass in his hand, and this was broken. One piece of it cut his scalp and another piece is believed to have severed an artery in his head, causing him to bleed to death.

"MISS HELEN A. MORGAN" A SHOPLIFTING MYSTERY.

She Admits She Conceals True Identity and Judge Puts Sergeant on the Trail.

"Miss Helen A. Morgan of 6351 Blackstone avenue," as she styled herself when arrested three weeks ago on a charge of stealing a $250 sable collarette from Marshall Field & Co., was given a new chance yesterday.

"My name is not Morgan," she told Judge Beckwith when her case came up for trial. "I am the daughter of a well known minister and my home will be wrecked if my name is exposed. I did not try to steal the fur. I was with a man who said he would buy me one and I was trying it on when he walked away and left me. Then I was arrested and I couldn't find him."

Judge Beckwith gave her a respite and told Detective Sergt. McGuire to inquire into the girl's identity. McGuire said he hadn't much to report last night.

U. S. IS LEGALLY AT WAR, BRIG. GEN. CROWDER SAYS.

Army Authority Defines Status Toward Mexico—Opinion Refutes Democratic Plea.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—The Democratic campaign slogan that "Wilson has kept us out of war" went glimmering today when it was learned that Brig. Gen. Enoch H. Crowder, judge advocate general of the army and the highest legal authority in the war department, has ruled that the United States is legally in a state of war with Mexico.

This ruling, which was made necessary in order to determine the status of the many legal questions constantly confronting this branch of the army, was made recently, but the fact of its existence heretofore has been carefully concealed by the war department. The ruling has been made in writing by the judge advocate general.

Huebner, who was killed by Albert Dallage in April, 1915, filed suit in the Superior court yesterday against the board of trustees of the police pension fund. Mrs. Huebner, who has two children, maintains she is entitled to $600 a year. The claim has been contested because Huebner had been on the force less than three months when he was killed.

U. S. TROOPS AND MEXICANS FIGHT FOR 45 MINUTES

Clash in Big Bend Territory Begun by "Drunken" Invaders—No Casualties.

San Antonio, Tex., Oct. 20.—American troops and Mexicans clashed near San José, in the Big Bend country yesterday afternoon, according to a report received by Gen. Funston tonight from Col. Joseph Gaston, commander of the district.

The fight lasted for forty-five minutes. No losses were suffered on either side.

Mexicans Open Fire.

Col. Gaston's report said that a band of about thirty Mexicans opened fire on a detachment composed of twenty-three men of the Sixth cavalry and Texas national guard cavalry squadron, engaged in patrol duty between Presidio and Ruidosa. Lieut. Cudington of the Texas squadron, commanding the troops, ordered his men to return the fire.

A vigorous exchange of shots continued for forty-five minutes, the Americans and Mexicans firing in skirmish formation from covered positions on either side of the Rio Grande.

Information from Col. Gaston did not indicate that the United States troops crossed in pursuit of the Mexicans.

After the fight Lieut. Cudington returned to Ruidosa with his command.

Work of Drunken Mexicans?

Washington, D. C., Oct. 20.—Gen. Funston, reporting tonight on the exchange of shots across the border at San Jose, said that late reports reaching him indicated the American troops were fired upon "by drunken Mexicans."

Beats Villa in First Clash.

Chihuahua City, Mexico, Oct. 20.—Gen. Ozuna's advance guard had its first encounter today near Santa Ysabel with Villa's band, with a victory for the government troops, according to brief advices received here by Gen. Trevino.

An unverified report places among the bandits killed, Martin Lopez, brother of Pablo Lopez, author of the Santa Ysabel massacre, who was executed in Chihuahua City some four months ago.

New Threat by Villa.

El Paso, Tex., Oct. 20.—So far from being friendly towards Americans, declared a Mexican who had been Villa's prisoner at Cusihuiriachic, and who reached here today, Villa has proclaimed his intention of killing any one working for or aiding any American. He described Villa as lining up some of his soldiers who wore American shoes and telling them they had better go shod with cowhide sandals than to make this concession to American superiority.

Passengers from Mexico City, arriving at Juarez late last night, said their train was held up by bandits below Jimenez, the train guard disarmed and the passenger robbed, but otherwise unharmed.

DISEASE GRIPS ALLIES' HORSES

Eight Hundred Are Quarantined to Prevent Spread of Strange Malady.

DISCOVERED 5 DAYS AGO

Eight hundred horses, remounts for the allies, have been quarantined in and about Chicago by state and government inspectors to prevent the spread of a strange disease similar to foot and mouth disease in cattle.

Six hundred of the horses are held at Calumet Park, Ind., and 200 in isolation pens at the Union stockyards.

Horse dealers call the strange disease which afflicts the horses merely "sore mouth." Veterinary experts refer to it as "a form of pustular stomatitis." The disease is communicable and presumably contagious. Whether it is contagious or infectious is a point that has not yet been fully decided. But horses exposed to it have contracted the disease within two days after exposure. None of the horses has died thus far, although the disease interferes with their eating and drinking for a period of five days.

Discovered Five Days Ago.

Inspectors first discovered the disease in the remounts five days ago. Since then the utmost secrecy has been maintained over the quarantining of the horses and the nature of the disease. At first inspectors denied that such a disease existed and refused to talk to reporters about the quarantining of the animals. Horses meanwhile were being taken to isolation hospitals hourly, almost as fast as they arrived. Most of the first cases came from Nebraska.

Yesterday, however, the lid on the secrecy was removed when Dr. O. E. Dyson of Springfield, state veterinarian, arrived at the office of the state live stock commission in Chicago. He had previously wired Washington and secured the services of Dr. Adolph Ichorn, chief field inspector for the bureau of animal industry.

Calls Disease Peculiar.

Dr. T. C. Tiedebohl of the horse hospital at the Union stockyards, and an expert on horse diseases, has been working as a special deputy for the state for several days. He has charge of the cases in the Union stockyards. Dr. L. A. Merrill, another special deputy, has charge of the cases at Calumet Park, Ind.

"The disease is a peculiar one," said Dr. Dyson last night, 'we have never yet struck anything just like it and the datum on the subject is small. It resembles in a way the foot and mouth disease among cattle, but horses never have foot and mouth disease. The common name for the disease is 'sore mouth,' and that is about as good as any."

No Deaths So Far.

Dr. Ichorn is conducting the investigation into the cause of the disease and the preventives and cures.

"So far," said Dr. Tiedebohl last night, "we have had no deaths among the horses from the disease, although that may occur. We have found that the disease yields readily to treatment.

"Personally I think this disease is a form of pustular stomatitis, and that it is a germ disease. Sooner or later we will discover a serum method of treating it, no doubt. At present our efforts are confined chiefly to stamping out the disease rather than let the horses suffering with it be shipped. A large proportion of the 200 horses quarantined in the stockyards have not developed the disease, but were in the pens with animals which had. They were isolated for reasons of safety."

BAKER BLAMES BOOK HE READ FOR ARMY SLUR

Admits Comparison of Washington's Troops and Mexicans —Says It Was Not Odious.

Flint, Mich., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—Newton D. Baker, secretary of war for President Wilson, did make a comparison between George Washington's revolutionary army and the Mexican revolutionists in his speech in Jersey City, but he declares that the comparison was not odious, and, moreover, he says he based it on Fiske's "American Revolution and Critical Period."

Further, if he accused the American revolutionary soldiers of stealing silver plate from Tory churches, it must have been because the famous historian recorded the fact.

On this particular point, however, Mr. Baker wasn't clear. He did not remember, he said, whether he told his audience about the stealing or whether such a charge does appear in Fiske's works.

Avers He Was Misquoted.

The secretary of war was in Flint tonight to make a campaign speech for his chief and he was inclined to be brief in his conversation concerning his reported statements.

"I didn't say what was reported, either in substance or in sense," he declared. "What I did say was that the general condition in any country where a revolution is under way is always disturbed, and that I felt that the Mexican revolutionists ought to have their chance to fight out their ideals and have liberty according to their own notions, just as our own revolutionists did.

Took Fiske as Authority.

"I didn't use the term 'Mexican' in a reproachful sense. I was careful to explain to my audience that I was using information obtained from Fiske's book when I referred to the American revolutionists. I said that our own soldiers drove out loyalist ministers from their churches and applied what they got towards meeting their expenses.

"I did say the Mexicans were ragged and had no uniforms and that the same was true of Washington's army, and also that there were deserters among the Mexicans. Well, we did have deserters among the Americans, too.

"Of course, it was not probably so often that we had cases of appropriating from the churches in our revolution, but, at any rate, we did drive out loyalist ministers."

Tory Ministers Driven Out.

"Did you make the statement that American revolutionists took silver plate from Tory churches?" Secretary Baker was asked.

"Well, I don't remember that. I took Fiske as an authority for what I said, and undoubtedly nothing of that kind occurred often, but loyalist ministers were driven out."

"Does Fiske say in his book that American revolutionary soldiers took silver plate from the churches?" was next asked.

"I don't remember. I was careful to tell my audience that what I said was based on what the historian wrote."

Condemns Baker for Speech.

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—Jackson W. Sparrow today introduced a resolution at the annual dinner of the Ohio society, Sons of the Revolution, condemning Secretary Baker for his speech comparing Washington's army with Mexican bandits. Copies of the resolution were sent to President Wilson, Secretary Baker, and congressmen.

"Our army under Washington certainly is not in the same category as the bands of outlaws under Villa and other rebels in Mexico," declared Charles Lewis, president of the society.

"Naturally we resent such an inference. Our continental army was composed of peaceful citizens who were fighting for the liberty of their country. The Mexican rabble, for the most part, is composed of outlaws who will fight for any cause which may present itself, and have done so."

PLENTY OF BOOTHS FOR ALL VOTERS, OFFICIAL ASSERTS.

Election Board Clerk Promises Ample Facilities for Casting Ballots in Big Precincts Nov. 7.

Dennis J. Egan, chief clerk of the election board, declared yesterday that ample facilities will be afforded all voters for casting ballots on Nov. 7. Fear that in some precincts, as in the Twenty-fifth ward, where more than 900 are registered, voters could not all be accommodated, Mr. Egan said, was not well considered.

He pointed out that the law provides a booth for each seventy-five registered voters, and that in precincts like those cited in the Twenty-fifth ward they will have as many as twelve booths.

"In the last mayoralty election," he said, "we had a registration of 760,000 and 87 per cent of the registered vote was cast. We had no complaints. Besides, then we had in addition to other ballots a special proposition ballot forty-eight inches long and two feet wide. And we didn't have a single kick.

"About 900 voted in some precincts. We will simply put in a sufficient number of booths in all large precincts to take care of all voters."

Election officials do not anticipate much of a decrease in the total registered vote after today's revision. The rolls will be open today, as they were on registration days, for voters to see that any mistakes are rectified.

HUGHES TO REST FEW DAYS, THEN TOUR THE WEST AGAIN.

Nominee Reaches New York and Will Go to New Jersey—Fourth Trip Begins Next Week.

New York, Oct. 20.—Charles E. Hughes arrived here today from his campaign trip in the middle west and will go to Mont Clair, N. J., for a rest before starting on his fourth western tour next week. His train was more than an hour late. The Republican nominee will confer tonight with Chairman Willcox of the Republican national committee and other party leaders.

Miss Pauline Williams Miss Lillian McMann

Miss Lillian McMann and Miss Pauline Williams of the Edgewater Beach hotel ran afoul of the law yesterday when they invaded the lion house in Lincoln park to distribute handbills offering $1 apiece for the loan of a dozen black cats, "high backed and with whiskers" to be features of the Black Cat club's dance at the hotel tonight.

A park policeman arrested them and the outraged young women spent an hour in a cell at the East Chicago avenue station, waiting for the assistant manager of the hotel to come down and bail them out.

FARMERS REJECT IDEAS OF WILSON

Lobby Fails to Get Support of the National Congress.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—Ignoring the concerted efforts of administration agents to obtain an indorsement of President Wilson, the Farmers' National congress, which closed its session here today, adopted resolutions which constitute a severe indictment of the legislation and policies of the Wilson régime.

"We protest against any advance in rates to compensate for increased wages," declared one resolution, referring to the president's proposal to transfer to the consumers the burden of the cost of raising by 25 per cent the wages of the railroad brotherhood members.

Demand Farm Act Change.

Another resolution advocated the apportionment of the Smith-Lever law funds for agricultural extension work by farm acreage under tillage instead of rural population, as now provided by the Democratic act for the purpose of increasing the allotment to the south.

The congress urged the adoption of the Susan B. Anthony equal suffrage amendment to the constitution in accordance with "fundamental principles of human equality, real representative government, and economic justice." On this question the body took its stand with Hughes and against President Wilson.

Views on Conservation.

"We demand the rigid safeguarding of the public's interests in granting control of water power and other natural resources to corporations and ask in particular the defeat of the senate Shields, Myers, and Phelan water power bills unless amended to provide for recapture by the people of water power concessions if it ever should be desirable to establish government ownership and operation," declared another resolution criticising the administration conservation policy.

President Wilson has indorsed the Shields and Myers bills and Secretary of the Interior Lane has approved the Phelan bill.

Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Vrooman attended the congress as the representative of President Wilson and Controller of the Currency Williams addressed the body today.

HOYNE TEARS INTO MAYOR IN SPEECHES TO GERMANS.

State's Attorney Maclay Hoyne continued his drive against the "Thompson maladministration" last night with addresses before two large gatherings on the west side. He spoke to German organizations affiliated with the United Societies in Schlitz hall, Division street and Ashland avenue, and at Hoyne hall, Hoyne and Grand avenues.

"Our esteemed mayor," said Mr. Hoyne, "has sought to discredit the importance of the revelations being made in Judge Olson's court by vociferously crying 'Politics!' For once the mayor is truthful, but he omits to say it was certain of his political intimates who played politics and that 'black belt' politics was the kind they played."

CLUB WOMEN'S POLL FOR G. O. P.

Hughes Leads in Test Votes Taken in Nonpartisan Societies.

Illinois club women will vote in large numbers for Hughes, according to reports which have come in to Miss Harriet E. Vittum at the western Republican headquarters.

Test votes have been taken in women's clubs all through the state, all the clubs being allied either with the state or general federations, and considered as nonpartisan in every sense.

Thirteen reports were received by Miss Vittum yesterday. Only one gave a majority for Wilson, and the vote there was: Wilson, 11; Hughes, 10. Another reported: Hughes, 20; Wilson, 1. Another gave Hughes, 24; Wilson, 9. The total vote of the thirteen clubs reported was: Hughes, 339; Wilson, 112. Three votes went to the Socialist and Prohibition candidates.

The woman's campaign party for Hughes, which will tour McHenry county today, will not be deterred by the bad weather. Ten different towns are to be covered by automobile and the day will wind up with a meeting at a barn dance.

James R. Garfield will speak this afternoon before the Woman's Political Equality league in the Florentine room of the Congress hotel.

HOYNE-MILLER "SLAPSTICK" COMEDY CUNNEA TARGET.

Socialist Candidate Calls Row Between Rivals "Sham" Battle—Talks on Wet and Dry Issue.

"From my comfortable and gratifying position under the main tent, where I am playing nightly to capacity," said William A. Cunnea, Socialist candidate for state's attorney, at the Nakama hall, Oak Park, last night. "I cannot help but notice a couple of rival sideshows fiercely contending with each other for business and ignoring the fact that my greater show is on earth.

"In other words, both Hoyne and Miller are fighting a sham battle, each denouncing the other, when each knows I am the man he has to beat.

"In line with this slapstick comedy is the announcement of an afternoon paper that the Hoyne-Miller fight is to be shifted to the wet and dry issue.

"I am not afraid voters will be shifted at this late date to that issue. The people who are trying to raise it do not understand that in trying to force such a campaign they are playing into my hands."

WAR'S END STILL FAR OFF.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 20.—The United States ambassador to France, William G. Sharp, who is on the eve of returning to his post at Paris, addressed the Boston City club today. After reciting events of the war during his two years at the French capital, the ambassador said that the duration of the conflict was still a matter of conjecture.

"The opposing forces in this great war," he said, "seem to be about equally massed—on the western front, at least—and to be able to hold ground about equally."

DEMOCRATS LAY "CATCH" PLANS

War Scare to Be Dangled Over Women and T .R.'s Speech at Germans.

A drive for both the women and German vote of Chicago was discussed yesterday by both national and local Democratic managers.

They hit upon the scheme of playing up the war scare to line up the women for Wilson and of sending hundreds of thousands of circulars out to Germans with the representation to them that Theodore Roosevelt is to be made secretary of war if Hughes wins and that he and Hughes are going to make it hot for Germany.

They have decided to print at least 100,000 copies of Roosevelt's "skin 'em alive" speech at Battle Creek to be distributed among the Germans of Chicago. Only that portion of the speech dealing with the Lusitania is to be played up in black type. This will, just at the close of the campaign, be placed in the hands of every voter of German extraction in districts where the Germans are strong.

Carnage Scene on Cards.

The appeal to the women is even more sensational. They already have had printed thousands of cards, on one side of which is a battle scene in the European war, labeled "An actual scene," and on the other an appeal to women's love of their children, intended to carry the idea that if Hughes is elected their sons will be torn from firesides and hastened off to Europe.

Where the million are coming from is not explained, or why the million are to be sent is not set forth. They are not only going to be sent to the trenches, according to this card, but they are going to die there.

One of the "warnings" printed on the card is this:

"There are a million maimed and blinded boys today in Europe. There are millions of homes to which loved ones will never return. There would be a million mourning homes in America today had the United States entered the European war."

Keep Wilson in Washington.

The final appeal on the card is this:

"Do not gamble with your good fortune. Keep Wilson in Washington."

The cards have not yet been placed in the mails, but are being circulated from hand to hand in the districts where this appeal, the managers believe, will frighten many women.

While the plan to land the German vote is being worked in Chicago and some other western cities where there is a large German population eastern states will be circularized with just the opposite appeal, representing Hughes as being pro-German and against the allies. This plan is to be worked in all New England states, and particularly New York, where it is thought the pro-ally sentiment is particularly strong.

Search for Mrs. Bertha Yates.

While search is being made for Mrs. Bertha Yates, who has offices in the Republic building, warrants were served on Dr. Margaret Otis, George Hockhaus, a druggist, both in the Republic building, and Dr. N. La Dell Johnson of 3225 West Adams street, all accused of traffic in narcotic drugs. Dr. Johnson is accused of giving prescriptions for "excessive amounts" to Mrs. Yates. The cases were postponed until Nov. 20 by Judge Sullivan.

SEVEN 'SITTING JUDGES' VICTORS AT BAR PRIMARY

Caverly Loses on Lawyers' Vote on Municipal Bench—Hopkins and Hebel Win.

For the Circuit court vacancy, Municipal Judge Jacob H. Hopkins led Robert E. Crowe, Republican nominee, by a majority of 237. For the Superior court vacancy Oscar Hebel, Republican, had a lead over Judge Joseph Sabath, Gov. Dunne's appointee to the Burke vacancy, of 213. Bernard P. Barasa, Republican, led George V. 1,265 Ballots Cast.

There were 1,265 ballots cast, of which nineteen were defective under the rules of the voting. One of the rules made it compulsory that members of the bar association vote for ten candidates for Municipal court judges. All sitting judges were grouped alphabetically at the head of the Australian ballot. Other candidates, not sitting judges, followed in alphabetical order.

DENEEN TURNS GUNS ON DUNNE APPROPRIATIONS.

Charges Governor's Budgets Are to Blame for Vast Increase in State's Expenses.

Former Gov. Charles S. Deneen added a few contributions last night to Gov. Dunne's campaign pamphlet entitled "The Truth About the Appropriations Under Gov. Dunne." Mr. Deneen made his first speech of the campaign in Cook county, speaking at Lipman hall, Sixty-fourth street and Ashland avenue.

"I will supply a few extra facts," said Mr. Deneen, "so that we will have the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth.

"First, it is charged that the Republicans and Progressives controlled the legislature in 1913 and the Republicans alone in 1915. Now, it will be remembered, Gov. Dunne and the Democratic state treasurer and auditor fixed a tax rate in 1913, which raised $12,000,000 more than was called for by the appropriations of $36,000,000.

"Notwithstanding this it appears that Gov. Dunne in 1915 presented a budget to the general assembly calling for appropriations of $45,000,000, or 80 per cent more than had been appropriated by the Republican general assembly of which he complained during his campaign and for all of which he held me responsible.

"The Democratic state convention furthermore adopted a platform which, after making excuses for large appropriations made by the Democratic administration, states:

"'We demand that the law be changed to give the responsible executive head of the state government greater latitude to veto expenditures which he deems unwise.'"

HERE'S RED HOT TIP FOR ELECTION BETTORS.

Don't Wager Dunne or Lowden Will Get as Many Votes as Wilson or Hughes.

Ordinarily it is not of much avail to counsel those who feel a keen longing to lay a wager on a presidential election. But here is what may be termed a hot tip:

Do not wager that either Hughes or Wilson will not get more votes in Illinois than either Dunne or Lowden.

Why?

Well, we'll tell you.

In Illinois women will vote for president, but they will not vote for governor, and, inasmuch as in Chicago alone there are some 350,000 women registered, it is practically a safe bet that you'll lose.

You're welcome.

ROOSEVELT ENJOYS SCENERY OF WEST; HAS DAY OF REST.

Colonel Makes No Speeches from Special Train—Landscape of New Mexico Captivates Him.

Aboard Roosevelt Special Train, Gallup, N. M., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—leaving Kansas last night Col. Roosevelt has made no speeches and talked no serious politics. Crossing New Mexico he has reveled in the flying landscape of red and purple mesas, deep arroyos, and sage brush. The colonel is never happier than when he returns to the real west. From the window while breakfasting he saw a conformation that reminded him of the bad lands of his Dakota ranching days, now thirty-three years agone.

"By George, this makes me homesick," he said, dropping his napkin. "Do you know what I should do if it were possible? I should build a shack out there. I'd like to have a board floor and a bathtub, but otherwise just a shack. I'd like to have a couple of horses and end my days here. This, gentlemen, is the real America."

PRIVATE BANKS ASK NEW LAW

Willing to Have State Regulation with Capital Limit of $25,000.

AGAINST CITY RULE.

The bankers conference at the Hotel La Salle yesterday, called by the private bankers' association of Cook county, laid plans to make substantial concessions to the down-staters, who are threatening to make war in the next session of the legislature unless the proposed bill is trimmed down. A dozen representatives of the legislature and the private institutions in Chicago and in the hamlets attended the three hour meeting.

Ballots called by Raymond G. Kimball of 3538 Fullerton avenue, following a speech by Representative W. G. Thon, who is leading a fight for a state-wide measure, resulted in passing three resolutions putting the association on record as opposed to city council regulation in favor of state regulation and supervision, and in favor of providing for a minimum capitalization of $25,000 for private banks in Cook county outside the loop district.

Difference of Opinion.

Wide differences of opinion developed when attempts were made to discuss further details involving the incorporation of banks and the changing of the present state banking laws. The draft proposed by Representative Thon provided for a minimum capital of $50,000 for private bankers in Chicago and $25,000 in smaller communities.

"My advice is that the law be made to affect Cook county only," said U. G. Swearingen, St. Joseph, spokesman for the downstate bankers.

Representative Thon denied there were enough private bankers in the legislature to block a state-wide bill. He cited figures showing the failures of private banks since 1912 have averaged two in Chicago to one downstate.

BANK SEEKS STATE CHARTER.

Affairs of the A. Olszewski private bank of 3252 South Halsted street were brought before Judge Landis yesterday with the filing of an involuntary petition in bankruptcy aimed at the institution. The bank is owned by Anton Olszewski. Judge Landis gave the respondents ten days in which to complete plans to make the institution a state bank.

Attorneys representing the banker said he and some associates, among them Julius F. Smietanka, collector of internal revenue, already had applied for a state charter. The state institution, they said, would have a cash paid in capital of $200,000 with a surplus of $25,000.

With the consent of counel representing both sides, Judge Landis gave the bankers until Oct. 30 to complete their arrangements. Until that time the bank is to set aside in a separate account all deposits received and assets and liabilities are to be kept in status quo.

Olszewski gave the assets as $784,000 and liabilities $660,000.

WILSON GREETED BY LARGE CROWDS ON JOURNEY EAST

Armed Stranger Jumps on His Auto to "Talk About Foreign Policies."

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 20.—President Wilson, returning to Long Branch today from Chicago, participated in campaign demonstrations arranged in his honor along the route by Democrats in Ohio and Pennsylvania. Large crowds gathered at every stop. Mr. Wilson will arrive at Shadow Lawn before dawn.

At Harrisburg just as the train got under way the coach ahead of Mr. Wilson's car jumped the track, bringing the train to a stop with a bump.

Man Leaps Onto Auto.

During an automobile ride through the Pittsburgh parks the president lost his hat, and the automobile was stopped while a secret service man recovered it. A man jumped on the running board of the automobile, but was knocked off by a secret service man. The man chased the president's conveyance for a block before he was arrested.

The prisoner gave the name of Richard Cullen, aged 22, a machinist of Pittsburgh. He was examined by physicians and ordered sent to the city home at Mayview for further observation regarding his sanity. Cullen denied that he intended harming the president, saying he was not satisfied with the administration's foreign policies and just wanted to talk to him.

A bottle of liquid in a bag carried by Cullen was found to contain medicine, according to the police. A knife with a blade five inches long and several wood chisels also were in the bag.

Bryan in Hopeful Mood.

W. J. Bryan, who resigned as secretary of state because of differences with the president over foreign affairs, met the president at Pittsburgh and rode with him for more than an hour afterwards on his train.

Mr. Bryan, after talking with the president, said he had become convinced that Mr. Wilson would be reelected.

"I want to put it as strongly as possible that Mr. Wilson will win," said Mr. Bryan.

WILSON ANNOYER INSANE.

Michael J. Mackin, who was arrested by the police after he had sent a letter to President Wilson's suite in the Blackstone hotel, urging the executive to install dental clinics throughout the country for the poor, is of unsound mind and is laboring under the delusion that the rich are persecuting the poorer class, according to City Physician M. J. Purcell.

Mackin was sent to the psychiepathic hospital after Dr. Purcell examined him yesterday.

ROUMANIANS WIN IN TRANSYLVANIA LOSE IN DOBRUDJA

Drive Invaders Back to Northern Frontier—Serbs Take Another Macedonian Town.

BUCHAREST, Oct. 20.—Roumanians in the Transylvania theater of the war have pressed the Teutonic forces back, but have been forced to withdraw their left wing on Dobrudja.

These features of the day's fighting are chronicled in the war office report.

The Roumanians took the offensive in the Oituz valley, through which the Austro-German forces invaded Roumania, and drove back the invaders to the frontier.

The report says Von Mackensen's troops in Dobrudja have taken the offensive along the whole front. He was repulsed on the Roumanian right flank and in the center, but was successful on the left.

Roumanian War Report.

The text of the official statement follows:

On the northern and northwestern fronts the enemy has attacked Gonoasa, in the Trotus valley, and has been repulsed. In the Uzul valley there have been violent artillery actions and enemy infantry has been dispersed. Our troops have taken the offensive in the Oituz valley and have driven back the enemy to the frontier, where fighting continues.

On the left bank of the Alt we have repulsed five enemy attacks in the region of Mount Robul, where the enemy suffered heavy loss.s.

There has been an artillery bombardment at Orsova, in the Jiul valley.

The enemy has assumed the offensive over the whole front in Dobrudja. He has been repulsed on our right flank and in the center. Our left wing has been withdrawn slightly toward Lingrd.

Russian War Report.

PETROGRAD, Oct. 20.—The war office today gave out the following report on eastern Roumanian operations:

On the left bank of the Cerna the Serbians, continuing their advance north of Brod, achieved a brilliant success against the Bulgarians. The plateau and the village of Velyeselo were carried by assault by our allies, who routed large enemy forces. The losses sustained by the Bulgarians were heavy.

Serb Success Perils Monastir.

In describing the Serbian success a dispatch from the front says:

"The advance made by Serbians on Tuesday is of the greatest importance to the whole plan of operations against Monastir. They crossed the Cerna river and drove the Bulgarians out of Brodgradilove and Velyeselo and chased them out of sight across the hills.

"Geographically speaking, the Kenali line of intrenchments has now been turned and the Serbians on the Bulgar left flank are behind the main alignment of the Bulgarian front.

"Tuesday's offensive surpassed even the Serbians' expectations. Bulgarian columns could be seen streaming back across the hills, men, wagons, and guns being mixed up in the thoroughgoing rapid rout."

Bulgarian War Report.

Berlin Reports Greater Part of Ground Lost on Wednesday Has Been Recovered.

The statement adds that three British "tanks" were destroyed by artillery in the latest attack. The statement follows:

DUTCH URGE U. S. TO STOP U-BOAT ACTION ON COAST

Appeal to This Country to Lead Neutrals in Effort to Curb Attacks.

[Special Cable Service from the London Times.]

Amsterdam, Oct. 20.—The Telegraaf publishes an article headed "An Appeal to America," in which the circumstances of the torpedoing of the Blomersdijk and Stephano are recalled and the question asked, "What would the Dutch people have done if what happened at Newport on the American coast had happened at Ymuiden on the Dutch coast?" The article proceeds:

"Would the Dutch people have tolerated a ship of the royal Netherlands navy to perform tender service in order to make the U-boat remain within the technical limits of the government's note by repeatedly picking up passengers and crews when the submarine sent ships to the bottom?

"Does the great American nation tolerate something like that? Does it allow the government to raise objections against the cruising of British warships along the coasts but to keep silence when the German submarines practice their sinister business immediately in front of the coasts? It is incredible, yet it appears so.

German Pledge Not Kept.

"Berlin promised in the Sussex note that the submarines would torpedo no passenger vesels. The Stephano was a passenger vessel. President Wilson has demanded that no passengers be left to their fate in small boats. Germany answers, 'Look after their safety with your navy. We will come to torpedo, under your coast, neutral ships again.'

"What figure America will cut in the eyes of its contemporaries and posterity if it allows itself to be laughed at in scorn by Berlin and Hamburg is ultimately a matter for itself to decide, but an American warship has been an interested witness of how the great Dutch cargo ship Bloomersdijk, belonging to the Hollan-Amerika line, which cannot be less valued on the other side than on this, has been sunk close to the lighthouse on the sand bank of Nantucket.

"We are a nation of little power, but if that had occurred the other way about we should have had an unpleasant sensation, therefore we permit ourselves to ask America a question.

America Has Not Acted.

"Ten days have elapsed since the latest crime in the series which the German submarine captains have committed against us and other small neutrals. In these ten days America has had the opportunity to let us and the whole world know that it is in a position to guard against a repetition of these blows if it intends to do so, but it has so far left the opportunity to do so unutilized. Must we, indeed, assume that America will calmly allow our ships to be torpedoed close by its coasts and restrict itself to saving the crews?

"We speak frankly and at the same time sincerely. We admire America, and this friendship demands that we say to America that this submarine warfare cannot go on any longer. We have had enough of seeing repeatedly our fine ships destroyed, and thereafter being obliged to hear either excuses or lies, or, at the best, apologies.

Germany Must Know Error.

"Norway has also just as unequivocally declared that it has had more than enough and that German must be made to know that such mistakes—which naturally are no mistakes—any child can understand that—shall no longer be permitted.

"To this end common action of the neutral seafaring powers is necessary. What we ask is that America, bound by the memories of her best sons, take the initiative and leadership in that step America is the greatest of the neutral states. After America follows, according to population, the Netherlands. America has 100,000,000 inhabitants and the Netherlands 50,000,000, but of these 43,000,000 live in the East Indies and carry no weapons, being uncivilized Asiatics.

"So the Netherlands, a small military force, has yet the great interest in seeing an end put to the assassination in the ocean of peaceable merchant ships by submarines. Therefore it is for us to make an appeal to the better feelings of the American people."

ITALIANS REPEL MASSED ATTACK BY AUSTRIANS

Violent Battle for Possession of Tooth of Pasubio, in the Trentino, Continues.

ROME, Oct. 20.—Violent fighting for possession of the Tooth of Pasubio, in the Trentino, is continuing. The war office announced today that four attacks in force by the Austrians resulted in their sustaining extremely severe losses and that most of the position remained ni Italian hands. The official statement reads:

At Concei in the Ledro valley during the night of Oct. 18, some enemy detachments attacked our advanced lines northeast of Lenzuno, but were promptly driven off.

Repel Massed Attacks.

Yesterday on Mount Pasubio sharp fighting continued for possession of the Tooth. The enemy, regardless of loss, launched four massed attacks with Kaiserjaeger troops, who were repeatedly mowed down by our concentrated fire.

After severe fighting this position remained for the greater part in our hands. We inflicted serious losses on the enemy and made 107 prisoners, including ten officers.

Along the rest of the front there were only artillery actions, these being more intense in the region east of Goritz and on the Carso.

"Our Country! In her intercourse with foreign nations may she always be in the right; but our country, right or wrong."
—Stephen Decatur.

YELLOW—THE COLOR FOR NOVEMBER, 1916.

The process of turning the American people into a yellow race may be profitable to politics for the time being, but the decorators' bill will be costly. It will be enormous, staggering, disastrous.

The Democratic party, for Mr. Wilson, invites the women of the nation to raise anaemic sons and hide them in the cellar if trouble threatens. It invites them to cover their husbands with their petticoats.

It invites the sons to think that all is gained if they can fox trot under the protection of a few muscular servants and the husbands to think life is complete if they can grunt comfortably after a heavy dinner.

Thank God for Wilson! He has spread the protecting petticoat before the threatened youth and manhood of a nation, and behind this Chinese wall they are secure. Thus will live a nation whose belly is its god and whose dollars are its graven images.

Mr. Wilson himself is inexplicable. Some of his political supporters are simple vultures. They will feed upon any carrion, even if it be the remains of what was once a confident and resolute nation. They do not care if they have to break down the moral character and physical vitality of a people to get the remains. But Mr. Wilson must be in an ecstasy of political ambition.

He must know that a people cannot be exposed in the shameless fashion the Democratic party tries to expose this nation and remain either secure or self-respecting. He knows that we are advertising our yellowness to every other nation. He knows that if this campaign be brought to its close upon one issue and that "He kept us out of war," the United States has announced that it is so scared as to be incapable of manly action, no matter what the need.

Mr. Wilson in his Chicago speech said that other nations could not understand the United States because they could not realize that the United States was different from other nations, being disinterested. Mr. Wilson, as a man who has been a historian, knows this is not true. It has not even sufficient truth in it to be used for sentimental and rhetorical purposes in a campaign. The United States is not disinterested. It is interested in the United States because the people of the United States live in the United States and because they are interested in themselves. They do not care what happens so long as it does not happen to them.

For Mr. Wilson to say that the United States is a nation of disinterested people would be ludicrous if the people, conscious of their own shrinking from discomfort, were not only too glad to have some one tell them that they are idealistic. The Wilson campaign not only aims at the moral and spiritual character and the physical vigor of the people, but it seeks to offer an anodyne to any pains of conscience they might have.

They are distinterested, noble, and wish all men well. They will not profit to the disadvantage of others. Tell that to the munition makers and the husbands of war brides. Tell that to any person who is making twice as much this year as he was two years ago and making it simply because people in Europe are going through hell on earth.

Mr. Wilson's prosperity is war made, by the sacrifices of manly people doing what they think must be done for something higher than themselves—their nation. Mr. Wilson will take the political advantage of that prosperity. It rescued his administration from a panic and flooded it with dollars. But we are disinterested. Tell that to the people who are getting prosperity won by the sufferings of manly nations, and tell it to them in order that if their own moral natures, their consciences, start into action, if they begin to think they are cowardly in spirit and flabby in soul, they may have the poultice of a noble thought applied for relief.

Thus the corruption of a people proceeds by stimulating cowardice and by offering the conscience a safe harbor in complacency. We shall not only be yellow. We shall be content in self-righteousness. We shall be utterly obnoxious.

We are different from other nations only in having more money and less spunk; in having more conceit and less courage. That is what the Democratic campaigners are really telling the nation.

If any man or woman who intends to vote for Mr. Wilson for the one reason now being advanced by Democratic pleaders were to find a nurse giving the children this paregoric of terror he or she would be for having the nurse sent to the penitentiary for life.

Men and women in their family life know too much to permit control by terror. But they are asked to accept political control by terror, and they do not see that the same degeneration of moral fortitude and physical courage will result in the case of the nation as is bound to result in the nursery.

The gospel of fear which is being preached to this nation is a destructive evangel which will destroy the soul of the nation.

NEGRO EMIGRATION FROM THE SOUTH.

The Negro emigration from the south to the north which Mr. Hyde predicted some months ago is a fact. At the Negro conference in Washington last week it was said that 500,000 of the race had already left the south and were employed in other parts of the country. The shortage of labor caused by immigration stoppage is one reason for the exodus. Another is the great number of strikes and other industrial disturbances in the north.

It is asserted that there is work now in the north for at least 2,000,000 Negroes if they can be induced to change their residence. That they are leaving their former homes in large numbers is shown by the news that the Montgomery, Ala., city council has passed an ordinance punishing by fine and imprisonment those who induce any laborer to leave the city.

Of course, this ordinance would not stand the test of a real court, but the fact that councilmen can be persuaded to pass such manifestly unjust legislation shows to what straits employers in the south have been reduced. Nor will it prevent the Negro from seeking better employment. The law of supply and demand transcends any such opposition. The southerners have always said that the black man was their curse. They have denied him industrial equality and the franchise and yet when he tries to relieve them of his presence they seek by law to prevent his going.

For good or ill the Negroes are changing the racial balance of population in the south and it is not likely, so long as their fortunes are bettered, that many will return there.

THE WILSONIANS WILL FIGHT.

Persons who believed that the enfranchisement of women would raise the standard of the whole mass suffered a shock on Thursday. A group of women, protesting against supporting for reelection a man who had signally opposed the national suffrage amendment, stood in the street with banners announcing their objection to Mr. Wilson. It cannot be pretended that they were exceeding their rights. It cannot be pretended they were boisterous even if they were offensive.

Yet against these silent women was directed a rowdy attack so violent that not only were the banners ripped to shreds but the women themselves were roughly handled.

In the days of gas house politics men were beaten. In these days of keeping out of war women are beaten. But the gentlemen who routed the women are devoutly thankful that "he kept us out of war." Everything is all right.

THREE YEARS LATE.

Farseeing Americans able to recognize that America's great trade development field is abroad note with satisfaction the statement that American interests have completed the arrangements whereby $60,000,000 American capital is obtained for railway development in China. The announcement is of special interest as it indicates American capital is again willing to go into the foreign field in spite of the obstacles which the administration at Washington has sought to place in the way of our foreign trade development.

The money is to be used toward the construction in the near future of 1,500 miles of railway in sections of China where there are great mineral resources and at present no good means of transportation. Roughly, the lines may be said to be projected from Canton toward the northwest, but there are other construction jobs in the more thoroughly developed seacoast far to the northeast. In addition to the contracts for 1,500 miles the builders, who also are American, have options on 1,500 miles more. The whole means an addition of nearly 50 per cent to China's present mileage. It is interesting to observe that the construction work is projected in territory which is under French and British rather than Japanese influence.

Years ago, under the Taft administration, American bankers were taking an active interest in China, and there was arranged the six power loan. To this Mr. Wilson took violent exception immediately on entering office. He held that it threatened the sovereignty of China, and he refused to guarantee protection to the bankers. A little later the bankers saw by the treatment accorded Americans living or holding property in Mexico that there was nothing better to expect from the administration and naturally withdrew from the loan.

That was Mr. Wilson's maiden voyage into the realm of foreign affairs. It was followed in due time by his complete abandonment of the open door policy which had been built up by careful and laborious work and was putting the United States in its proper place as a world power, and later by his meek surrender to Japan in the latter's China demands.

Last spring, however, it became apparent that the administration had suffered another of its changes of heart. Those whom Mr. Bryan had branded with the hot iron as the imps of Wall street became less obnoxious. The change of policy made two and three of them grow where none had grown before. Then a state department official was discovered in New York, in the very caverns of the Wall street interests, and it was confessed that he had gone there to plead with the bankers that they resume their China negotiations. Privately it became noised about that the bankers, who in the beginning were hurled out of hearing with many public denunciations of the evil interests which sought to "threaten the sovereignty" of China, now would get exactly what they sought.

And here is the news of the $60,000,000 loan. But there is no public recanting of the noble sentiments of three years ago, nor mention of the good the loan might have done meantime. Mr. Wilson's desire for a "pitiless publicity" does not extend as far as that.

Editorial of the Day

HIGH SCHOOL ENGLISH.

[From the Indianapolis News.]

The pageant of last week brought together for an hour or more each afternoon a number of business and professional men of the city—merchants, lawyers, doctors—and some two hundred high school lads. Probably many of the former had not for a good many years been thrown into close relationship with so large a group of boys as that with which they came into contact at the pageant grounds. It was only natural, therefore, that the men should observe their young co-players with a great deal of interest and not a little curiosity. They found them, for the most part, self-reliant young men, generally considerate, well behaved, and well mannered. They were quick of understanding, mentally alert.

But it was clear to the men—and similarly to the women who were associated with the high school girls—that these boys were woefully lacking in respect for the ordinary rules of English grammar. They were slovenly in their speech. Either they did not know how to speak correctly or, knowing, had fallen into the habit of incorrect speaking and unconsciously offended. Such expressions as "I seen," "I done," "them things" were common. Tenses were disastrously mixed, prepositions abused, and plural and singular confused. Their pioneer forefathers of 100 years ago, who came into a schoolless wilderness, could have scarcely spoken in their ignorance with less regard for the common, simple rules of grammar than these young men who had enjoyed from eight to eleven years of instruction under the most approved modern methods.

What this signifies it is for the educators to say. The men who observed the widespread addiction to incorrect speaking—and they were many—remarked it, commented upon it, and wondered where the root of the trouble was to be found. Some place, surely, in the school training of these young persons something is wrong. It ought to be set right. A young man or young woman may stand as an A-plus student, but habitual misuse of the English language will be, in the sight of most men and women in the business and professional world, a sign of ignorance.

I mourn not only for thy silent bow,
O kindly old musician, but am fain
To linger o'er old memories again,
Of youth and roses, and the mad glad flow
Of waltz-tunes, danced to in the long ago.
And hopes and fears, and early joy and pain.
These mingle somehow with the funeral strain,
And give grief's blackness old joy's afterglow.
And though it seems a foolish fancy, friend,
Yet as my thoughts, my dreams, are yours today,
I hope when I, too, reach my journey's end,
And Charon's ferry fee I needs must pay,
Your welcoming music may so still my fears
That "Danube," and not Styx, my spirit hears.

FOUR years ago, says English Walling, 73 per cent of the 900,000 Socialist voters hoped to see Wilson elected, and this year 99 per cent wish to see him elected. Mr. Walling is among the number.

WE are greatly obliged to Mr. Walling for resolving our doubts as a voter. The Progressive party having expired, the only other effective third party, it seemed to us, was the Socialist; but if the Socialists are not interested in maintaining themselves as a party, there is no reason why former Progressives should vote their ticket. Mr. Walling having decided to throw his vote away on Wilson, we may as well throw ours away on Hughes.

Not That We Care, Either.

PARALYSIS AFTER INFANTILE PARALYSIS.

A GOOD deal has been learned about infantile paralysis in recent years, though we are still far from knowing how to prevent the spread of the disease. One fact learned is that the mortality of the disease is not high. In most epidemics nine-tenths of the patients escape with their lives. Of those who escape with their lives about one-half have no permanent paralysis or wasting.

The degree of paralysis is worse soon after its onset than at any later time. There is always some gain in muscular power after the onset of the disease. Formerly it was held that improvement was not possible after two years. Whatever improvement there was to be would come in the first two years. Efforts to improve the condition of paralyzed muscles would be ineffective unless they were begun within two years of the onset of the disease. The teaching now is that there is no time limit beyond which improvement is impossible.

The dread of infantile paralysis is based more upon the paralysis and wasting of muscles than upon the death rate of the disease. In the great majority of cases of shrinking of muscles the condition exists because of neglect of after treatment. However, there is a considerable minority of cases in which there is too much after treatment.

After infantile paralysis the muscles are weak and easily fatigued. If an over-fatigued muscle is worked further it is liable to give out completely and permanently. Some signs of muscle weakness which should be looked for in mild cases of infantile paralysis are given by Thomas as follows:

1. Weakness of the back muscles when the child is sitting. A tendency of the spine to curve, the back to bow, or a shoulder to droop is often noticeable.

2. Drop foot. A tendency of the toes to drop and to turn in or out when sitting or lying.

3. Bending of the knee backward when standing.

4. Outward rotation of the thighs when lying down. A tendency of the toes and the knees to turn outward.

5. Weakness or dragging of the leg after play, or a long walk.

In a certain case of recovered infantile paralysis about the only sign left is a tendency to drag a foot and wear out the toe of the shoe, noticeable only after play.

Exercise and passive motion both of the paralyzed and the weakened muscles must be very carefully given. If the muscles are over used they are harmed more than they are helped. The authorities are agreed that electricity is of no service.

CIGARET CURE.

E. C. N. writes: "I have a boy of 13 years who is forming the cigaret habit. Will you please publish a good formula that will cure him of the habit?"

REPLY.

Mouth Wash—Six ounces silver nitrate solution, one-eighth to one-fourth of 1 per cent. Use as a mouth wash after each meal, not to exceed three days, then after breakfast only for not more than four days. Do not swallow any of the solution. Cost does not exceed 25 cents.

Gentian root (not the powder)—Chew a little whenever the desire for smoking appears. Gentian root is slightly tonic and an aid to digestion. It may be used for several weeks without injury. Costs 5 cents.

Diet—The diet for the first two weeks consists exclusively of fruits, well baked cereal foods, and milk. The best cereal foods are shredded wheat biscuits, corn flakes, puffed rice, puffed wheat, etc., used with cream or milk. Whole wheat or rye bread, etc., also may be used. The moderate use of nuts, well masticated, is of value. At the close of each meal use fresh subacid fruits, as peaches, pears, apples, pineapples, etc. Sweet milk, buttermilk, malted milk, or instant postum, etc., may be used in place of coffee, tea, or cocoa.

While irritating and stimulating foods and drinks intensify the craving for narcotics, a grain-milk-fruit diet lessens it. In some special cases an entire milk diet for a few days may be beneficial; especially if there exists an irritable stomach bordering on ulceration, with an excess of hydrochloric acid. Where the digestion is slow and there is a deficiency or absence of free hydrochloric acid, a diet composed entirely of fresh fruits for a day or two preceding the grain-fruit-milk diet may be of benefit.

Eliminative baths, preferably the Turkish bath, will assist in rapidly getting rid of the stored up nicotine. As a rule it takes from three to six weeks to eliminate entirely the desire for tobacco. The time required depends upon how closely the directions are followed.

During the first few days in the attempt to give up tobacco the struggle is naturally the most trying. The silver nitrate solution and the gentian root are valuable aids, both of which, as stated, create a distaste for tobacco smoke and make smoking undesirable. Being a metallic poison, the use of the silver nitrate solution should be continued only the first few days. By the end of the first week, by following closely the directions given in regard to diet and eliminative baths, it will be recognized that the desire for tobacco has materially lessened. The consciousness that the desire is becoming less naturally begets confidence in the ability to conquer. After confidence is restored the battle is practically an easy one.

LA MARQUISE DE FONTENOY

[Copyright: 1916: By the Brentwood Co.]

NINETY-NINE out of every hundred Englishmen have probably never heard of the existence of a peer of the name of Lord Rollo. Yet it has been familiar for centuries to everybody north of the Tweed, and the death the other day of the octogenarian lord and the succession of his eldest son, hitherto known as the master of Rollo, a lieutenant colonel of the Black Watch regiment, has aroused a good deal of interest in his native Scotland.

There are large estates in Perthshire and county Dumfries that go with the title, including Duncrub castle, near Dunning, and built on the site of a very ancient castle, and Dumcrieff house, near Moffat.

Duncrub castle has been in the family ever since the year 1380, when it was bestowed by King Robert II., by means of a charter bearing his sign manual, and still in existence, upon John Rollok, who was the faithful secretary and sagacious counselor of his, the king's son, Davie, Earl of Strathairn.

Duncrub was erected into a barony by another royal charter in 1511, and James VI. of Scotland, who was afterwards James I. of the United Kingdom, raised the Rollo of his day—the family name had meanwhile been transformed into Rollo—to the peerage as Andrew, Lord Rollo of Duncrub.

Most of the Lords of Rollo and the members of their family have been soldiers, like the new lord, who is the eleventh of his line. Queen Victoria held his father in very high regard as a fine type of a Scottish chieftain, and since his Scottish dignity carried with it no seat in the house of lords, save when he was elected to serve at Westminster as one of the sixteen representatives of the peerage of Scotland, she bestowed upon him the United Kingdom barony of Dunning, which entitled him to a place in the upper chamber of the imperial legislature.

The new Lord Rollo has no son, but only a daughter by his marriage to a member of the family of Lord Hotham, and his next heir is his brother, the Hon. Eric Rollo, an inspector of the department of agriculture. I may add that Lord Rollo, in addition to being an officer of the Black Watch, is a brigadier in King George's ancient and picturesque Royal Scottish bodyguard of archers, and also that the fifth Lord Rollo, as a general in the army, took an active part in the American war of independence.

While Lord Craven's heir and only son, Viscount Uffington, a lieutenant of the Hampshire regiment of infantry, is far too young to have married, being only 19 years of age, it seems somewhat strange that he should be so vigorously abused and charged with having rendered himself guilty of a terrible mesalliance by marrying Miss Mary George, the very pretty 18 year old daughter of the town clerk of Ivergordon, in the vicinity of which town the young subaltern was receiving his military training, for the girl is perfectly honest and her father eminently respectable, though unable to boast of any asure hue in his blood.

But, then, neither are the Cravens descended from any Norman knight or bold crusader; nor yet from any of those great nobles who ranked as such before the dawn of history. The fact of the matter is that the founder of the family, William Craven, like Dick Whittington, tramped from his native village of Craven, in Yorkshire, to London as a ragged beggar boy, became a tailor, organized the greatest tailoring establishment of his time in London, and became so rich and so prominent in civic affairs that he was elected, not like Whittington, to three terms, but for two successive years to the office of lord mayor of London, also receiving the honor of knighthood.

Sir William devoted a portion of his wealth to the purchase of Combe abbey, in Warwickshire, and it was there that his eldest son and heir, who was raised to the peerage, first as baron and then as Earl Craven, for his services as a soldier, entertained in her closing years Queen Elizabeth of Bohemia.

This lady was the daughter of James I., and the king, who held Sir William Craven in particularly high regard, intrusted the care of Elizabeth in her childhood to him, anxious to keep her aloof from the unwholesome air and the evil surroundings of life in London, especially at court. She was brought up at Combe abbey with Sir William's children, and in the trial of the gunpowder plot conspirators it developed that Guy Fawkes and his confederates had planned to abduct her from Combe abbey and to proclaim her as queen in the event of her father and brothers being blown into eternity along with the houses of parliament.

Elizabeth subsequently married Frederick V., elector palatine of the Rhine and king of Bohemia, and became mother of Prince Rupert, the cavalier leader of the forces of his uncle, Charles I., against Oliver Cromwell, his brother, Prince Maurice, who has been made the hero of many a buccaneering romance, being drowned at sea in a shipwreck.

Queen Elizabeth of Bohemia was the grandmother of George I. of England through her youngest daughter, Sophia, wife of the elector of Hanover, and is the ancestress, therefore, of King George V., who is indebted to her for his connection with the house of Stuart. After the restoration of her nephew, Charles II., to the throne of England, Queen Elizabeth of Bohemia returned to Great Britain and made her home at Combe abbey, where she had spent her youth.

She lived there as the guest of her childhood friend, Lord Craven, until her death and burial in Westminster abbey. It is claimed that she married Lord Craven after the demise of the king of Bohemia. Yet Samuel Pepys, who frequently refers to her in his diary, makes no mention of any such union, which, with his fondness for gossip, he would undoubtedly have done had there been any foundation for the story.

It was the widow of the sixth Lord Craven—namely: Lady Augusta Berkeley, daughter of the fourth Earl of Berkeley, who married as her second husband the sovereign margrave of Brandenburg-Anspach and Bayreuth.

The most extraordinary stories are extant to this day in Germany concerning her cruelty. Among others, one is recorded in print by her contemporaries which describes her as amusing herself by shooting tilers off the sloping roof of a church opposite the windows of her palace of Bayreuth and watching them roll off on to the street, some seventy feet below. She figures, it may be recalled, in an extremely evil light in Eugene Sue's sensational novel, "Les Mysteries de Paris," and she survived until 1828.

The second Lord Craven was lord palatine of the American province of Carolina.

The present Lord Craven was for a time captain of the yeomen of the guard, and is now lord lieutenant of Warwickshire. He is married to Miss Cornelia Martin, daughter of Mrs. Bradley Martin of New York. Consequently, his only son and heir, Lord Uffington, is half American and heir to the great wealth of his widowed grandmother and of his great-grandmother, the late Mrs. Isaac Sherman of New York.

SIDEWALKS AND SEWERS FOR SOUTH WINCHESTER AVENUE.

Chicago, Oct. 13.—[To the Friend of the People.]—When will sidewalks, sewers, and water mains be installed in Winchester avenue, between Seventy-ninth and Eighty-third streets?
A. P. B.

There are no proceedings under way at the present time for sewer or water main in Winchester avenue between Seventy-ninth and Eighty-third streets, but such proceedings will be started upon receipt by this board of a petition signed by owners of some of the property fronting on the proposed improvement or in accordance with an order of council entered by one of the aldermen of the ward. Blank petitions can be procured at this office. The assessment roll for cement sidewalk on Winchester avenue between Seventy-ninth and Eighty-third streets was filed in court Oct. 2 and the walks will be constructed in the spring of 1917. M. J. FAHERTY,

ASHES HAVE BEEN REMOVED.

Chicago, Oct. 17.—[To the Friend of the People.]—There is a twenty-four flat building on the northeast corner of Parkside avenue and Madison street and the janitor throws all of the ashes and some of the garbage in the alley. Can this practice be discontinued?
G. W. B.

Investigation shows that there was a large pile of ashes in this alley put there by the owner of a twenty-four flat building. The owner of same was notified frequently to have the ashes removed and tried to do so, but was unable to get a team. They have been taken away, and he has promised to do no further dumping.
W. J. GALLIGAN,
Assistant Superintendent of Streets.

Conway company June 14, and the work was completed Sept. 23. There are no proceedings under way for the construction of sidewalks in the vicinity of Eightieth and Carpenter streets, but such proceedings will be started by the board upon receipt of a petition or in accordance with an order of council entered by one of the aldermen of the ward. President Board of Local Improvements.

CHECKS AND BANK FAILURES.

Chicago, Oct. 12.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—I ordered some goods from a firm which advised me that on receipt of my check goods would be shipped. I sent check on Sunday night. Same was received by the firm on Monday, and goods came to me on Tuesday. On Friday my bank failed. Must I pay again for those goods, or will the firm accepting the check have to stand the loss?
W. J. K. L.

In the event a depositor in Chicago makes a check on a bank in Chicago and the same is held by the person to whom it is made payable beyond the next business day without presenting it for payment, and in the event the bank fails after such next business day has passed, the person to whom the check is payable must stand the loss occasioned by the said failure.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

ORDERED OUT OF THE CITY.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 18.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—It is rarely indeed that one is justified in accepting insufficient data as stimuli to action, and if the present writer errs in taking at face value the apparent evidence offered in the news item quoted below, he does so with infinite regret. The facts in the matter, however, seem clear.

NEGRO ATHLETE EXPELLED.

Iowa City, Ia., Oct. 14.—[Special.]—Fred Slater, Negro tackle of the Iowa university freshman eleven, confessed to stealing a watch and was expelled from the team and university. He also was ordered out of the city. He was a fraternity and scholarship man.

Ordered out of town like a trull or common tramp, beyond the gates of the City Righteous, out into the open where the "fraternity and scholarship" man may cease to be a source of contamination and continue, in tradition, as an ugly memory. One wonders what is to become of the years of patient training that produced the scholar, the athlete, the fraternity brother, out there in open disgrace of No Man's Land. One wonders how much of mercy tempered the justice of university and of city. One wonders whether the taint of Africa in this poor young man's blood speeded the opening of the city gate. (Who in this American land ever heard of a white college boy's being ordered out of the city?) One wonders at Iowa City. One wonders at Iowa university.

I have been associated with university work for several years, and my imagination lies far in the rear of conceiving such iron punishment leveled at a university man born white. Ordered out of the city!

I extend my sympathy to Fred Slater and wish for him power and greatness enough to transcend the injustice of his whiter and more righteous brothers. But when I hope for his renaissance I sorrow in the knowledge that such power and greatness are denied his judges.
WARNER TAYLOR.

RESULT OF THE FIGHT.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I am a lifelong Republican. I have never voted for a Socialist, but Nov. 7 I shall vote for the Socialistic candidate for state's attorney. I predict that Messrs. Hoyne and Miller will suffer political extermination and the public will be a decided gainer.
PAUL W. JOHNSON, 700 Barry avenue.

TIRED OF WILSON'S INACTIVITY.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I am a Democrat and have been one for fifty years, but I am beginning to lose faith in the party on account of its inactivity. If Wilson can't appoint a postmaster and settle a little matter like that, how does he thing Democrats will feel when greater questions are to be settled, or does he think they are overlooking that? Postmaster Campsell says he has had his grip packed and ready to move out six months ago.
JOHN TERENCE MULLEN.

WAS AN INNOCENT MAN LYNCHED?

Mound City, Ill., Oct. 18.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I was rather interested in the news article in yesterday's paper with reference to the lynching of one Brack Kinley in Paducah for an assault on a white woman.

A little over a year ago this same Brack Kinley burglarized a house in Mound City, was arrested the same day, indicted by our grand jury, and sentenced to the penitentiary. He had been paroled and had been back here for a short time, and was seen in Mound City by Deputy Sheriff James Wilson and others on Friday evening, the 13th, the same day the offense was committed in Paducah, and several hours after the offense was committed.

From what these witnesses tell me it was impossible for him to have been in Paducah and committed the assault, so that his statement to the mob that he was being made to suffer from some one else's crime must have been absolutely true.

The description of the person committing the offense fitted his description in almost every detail except that he walked with a decided limp, which would have been the best method of identification if he had been the guilty party and if the mob in their frenzy had considered this it should have convinced them that he was not the one.
C. S. MILLER,
State's Attorney Pulaski County.

JEWISH CHARITIES AND TAG DAY.

Chicago, Oct. 20.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—The correspondent who feels the Jewish Charities have been wronged by not obtaining some of the proceeds of tag day evidently lacks information about tag day and the Children's Benefit league. Any charity, irrespective of creed, can obtain membership in the league if they care for little children in Chicago, have been organized two years, and have the indorsement of the Association of Commerce. Catholic, Protestant, and nonsectarian charities all have membership, but the Jewish charities do not seem to apply for membership, which is due to their most excellent, well organized system of caring for all their dependents.

So efficient is this system that they do not need to appeal to the general public for money. Every charity in the league would heartily welcome the day when they likewise had a system so complete that not only could they take care of their own charity but give to the others as liberally as the Jewish people do.

I am sure the correspondent will have all feelings set aside when she is told that the able president of the league for this year is Mrs. Charles Frankenthal.

GOSSIP OF BOOKS OF THE DAY

Negro Poet Writes His Autobiography.

BY ELIA W. PEATTIE.

"IN SPITE OF THE HANDICAP" is the title which James D. Corrothers, the colored poet, gives to his autobiography [George H. Doran company]. Corrothers was born in southern Michigan and he confronted the problems which are the rather heavy inheritance of the Negro in the north. That they differ from those of the Negro in the south makes them no lighter. Ray Stannard Baker—another Michigan man—says in his preface: "The book throws much light on conditions with which few writers on the race question have dealt: I mean the problems which confront the abler and more intelligent Negroes, the leaders of their race, in their contact with their own people. Mr. Corrothers recognizes that the color line is only part, however important, of the great human situation which the Negro must face. And finally it is a book singularly without rancor: the book of a man who in spite of difficulties has maintained a cheerful and helpful outlook toward life."

Mr. Corrothers certainly is entitled to this tribute. Bitter poverty, race prejudice, the handicap of insufficient education, the jealousy and littleness of his own people, the loss of his wife, the enmity of his bishop—for he became a clergyman—combine to make a story that would be tragic were it not for the many compensations that came to him. Men and women of distinction were good to him, the best magazines printed his poetry, and life itself wore an alluring face because of his appreciation of every opportunity that offered and the essential courage that made him push on to new adventures. This is a bona fide human document of peculiar pathos and interest.

Grant Showerman author of "A Country Chronicle." CENTURY CO.

Prof. Grant Showerman of the Latin department of the University of Wisconsin has written an unusual book in "A Country Chronicle." It is a sketch of farm life in New York state forty years ago, full of pathetic and humorous touches, and exceedingly human. To any who knew farm life at that time it will bring much pleasure.

Tastes Like an Autumn Apple.

You've lived things like it, but you haven't read anything like it. I refer to "A COUNTRY CHRONICLE," by Prof. Grant Showerman (the Century company). Nothing happens in this chronicle except life. No one does anything except what is plain, usual, and expected. People say precisely what they may be counted on to say. They make the inevitable gestures, as the critics in the new republic would phrase it. In other words, they are farmer folk, who go their simple way in a complaisant and rather heavy manner, who have no dreams that they mention, and care nothing for adventure. To read the book affects one much like eating a red autumn apple.

Even if you have not personally fed the chickens, milked the cow, drawn the sap, and visited Aunt Cathy, you will feel as if you had. The book will seem familiar, intimate, homely, and—again let me use the word—plain. If you can't afford to go home for Thanksgiving, or if there isn't anybody back in the old home place to visit, read "A Country Chronicle," and you will have all the sensations of turning in at the old gate and going up to the side porch and being helped down by Uncle Hiram and led into the sitting room. It will make you feel quite pleasant and befriended. Or it may make you glad you live in the city. That depends. Anyway, sample it.

A Family History.

"WATERMEADS" is the title of Archibald Marshall's latest novel. (Dodd, Mead & Co.) It is the story of an English family of fine ancestry and beautiful and extensive estate, but with empty pockets. Sidney Conway, the head of the house, is a gentle philosopher, who, having ruined his prospects by an ill advised marriage, consents to be bored hourly by the lady of his choice and to make no protest. His six children offer a variety of character; his wife entertains the reader even while she provokes sympathy with her husband's ennui.

There is no plot to the story and no remarkable characters, but the even flow of the family history has about it an indefinable charm. It is with some regret that one concludes the chronicle and lays it aside—some such regret as one feels when, after a journey, one parts with agreeable chance friends. It would be too much to say that "Watermeads" moved one deeply or stimulated one to any extraordinary act or point of view. But it is a good experience to read it.

Miss Wergeland's Studies.

Two papers by the late Agnes Mathilde Wergeland, professor of history in the University of Wyoming, which originally appeared in the Journal of Political Economy, have been put between covers by the University of Chicago Press. These are "SLAVERY IN GERMANIC SOCIETY DURING THE MIDDLE AGES" and a "HISTORY OF THE WORKING CLASSES IN FRANCE," the latter being a review of Le Vasseur's "HISTORY OF THE WORKING CLASSES AND OF INDUSTRY IN FRANCE BEFORE 1789."

The author, whose untimely death removed one of the most scholarly women of her time, in these little books reveals that passion for intensive research so characteristic of her race. The condition of her fellowbeings was her life study and she brought to it a positive genius. Brief as these books are they form valuable sources for any future student of the aspects of life they represent.

LITTLE ONES ON NOVELS

FOR a first novel Louis Dodge's "BONNIE MAY" (Scribners) will do very well indeed. Bonnie is a child of the theater, thrown by accident into the bosom of an aristocratic and rather straightlaced family. She is wonderfully wise for her years—too wise, some will think—and her viewpoint is absolutely that gained behind the footlights and in the green room. There are frequent clashings, for she resents the attempts to make her conform to puritanic usages. Forced to attend Sunday school, she pronounces it a bum performance and not worthy of a one-night stand. There is much shrewd wisdom in many of her observations. It is a very entertaining book.

It remained for Jesse Lynch Williams to point out the way to true happiness through the divorce court. Two couples unhappily married are legally separated, and after swapping partners are remated. The reader will be surprised to learn how many advantages result from this arrangement, or rather this rearrangement. They all live together, and when there are four sets of children to manage the situation becomes interesting, indeed. The humor of the book is delicious and there are flashes of shrewd philosophy. At one time the author observes: "The object of the law is not to bring together those who love each other but to keep together those who do not." ("REMATING TIME." Scribner's.)

"THE NIGHT COMETH," by Paul Bourget, translated from the French by Lees (Putnam), on the hospital angle. Of war inspiration, it deals questioningly with death and disaster as set forth in the lives of three—a woman and two men.

Three of Mary Ray Shipman Andrews' patriotic stories, "The Colors," "The Stranger Within the Gates," and "The Star Spangled Banner," are published together in a pretty little volume with the title "OLD GLORY" (Scribner's). Mrs. Andrews is a real artist at short story telling.

McCutcheon and Others Spread Out Their Wares.

BY GORDON SEAGROVE.

LONG ere this reached print, "FROM THE HOUSETOPS," by George Barr McCutcheon (Dodd, Mead & Co.), has ascended to the rank of best seller. This is precisely what might have been expected, for the man is a whirlwind on the literary bandsaw, and his output is as sure as the equinox, as dependable, as to appearance, as your last year's overcoat, and as salable as malt on a closed Sunday.

Turning to page 1 you discover with no vast thrill of surprise that young Braden Thorpe is in love with Anne Cressilyn. The fact that she is beautiful, ah, very beautiful, strikes you as reminiscent of "Graustark" and the other forty sheaves. Bearing this in mind, you assume without a quibble that his love will burn fiercely through 500 pages, barring accidents.

Somewhere along about page 179 you learn that Braden is heart broken—Anne has married his aged grandfather and millions! Through the succeeding pages of fairly complex plot his heart continues to bleed until page 442, when the clouds roll away, he is left standing in the eternal embrace of the surprising Anne, and you are left muttering with a goodly amount of honest admiration for his workmanship and application. "McCutcheon has done it again!"

A Kyne Classic.

Quite of another pattern is "CAPPY RICKS, OR THE SUBJUGATION OF MATT PEASLEY," by Peter B. Kyne (H. K. Fly company), a tale on which the sea salt glistens and the Pacific swells spatter their spume. It can scarcely be considered a novel, for it is a collection of short stories written around the extraordinary Matt, as belligerent and independent a "sea lawyer" as ever trod the quarter deck. In the unwinding of the tales is much exciting incident, character and real humor, together with a sharp picture of Pacific coast shipping, which Peter Kyne knows first hand.

True enough the plot, which ought to stay for'ard, gets up on the forbidden poop once in a while and creaks loudly before being marlin-spiked into retreat, but the warmth and humor of Kyne's treatment makes one overlook this fault.

Pathos and a Bear.

Somewhat less wide in its appeal perhaps, nevertheless a cracking good story, is "THE GRIZZLY," by James Oliver Curwood (Doubleday, Page & Co.), which as an animal story ranks with some of the best of London's. Nothing more than the tale of a giant grizzly and his adopted bear cub trying to solve their riddle of existence, it is full of suspense, real pathos and humor, without the stigma of being "nature faky." Moreover, it is an entertainingly written handbook of mountain and plain lore.

A Sedative.

A genuine union made garment is Agnes Gwynne's "THE BATHING MAN" (John Lane company), fresh off the loom labeled "OUTCAST SON MAKING GOOD." Thoroughly ordinary in plot and incident, it rambles on to its foregone conclusion, which in Jack Saxonham's case is that he will live down the false accusation of theft, take a brace, marry the girl, win the job along with parental forgiveness and (unless the author is struck a dastardly blow from behind) live happily ever after. At best a fair picture of the superficial life in Italian watering places, it may serve as a sedative when you feel wakeful.

Killed by Elevated Train.

Michael Gureszeski of 1425 Cleaver street was fatally injured yesterday by a Logan Square train of the Metropolitan Elevated at the West Madison street station. He was wedged between a car and the platform.

Query: What Book for Our Girl or Boy?

QUAINT and charming book of rhymes for children is the work of Fairmont Snyder, with accompanying pictures and decorations by John B. Gruelle. F. F. Volland & Co. issue "RHYMES FOR KINDLY CHILDREN," which cannot fail to evoke praise from all who examine the pretty volume. A few examples of Mr. Snyder's rhymes will show the character of the work:

A QUESTION.

When you go to get a drink,
Do you ever stop to think,
That dogs and cats and squirrels, too,
Get just as thirsty, dear, as you?
They cannot turn a faucet—so—
All parched and thirsty they must go
O did you never stop to think,
They cannot ASK you for a drink?

THE TIRED GIRL.

Jessie May could play all day,
From morning until night,
At tag, I spy, or run-sheep run,
She raced with all her might,
But when the dishes were not done,
And mother vainly calling,
Sly Jessie May would fade away,
With weariness appalling.

THE NEW BONNET.

"When I grow up," said Geraldine,
"And buy a brand new bonnet,
I will be most particular
To have no feathers on it.
I like the birdies best alive,
I shouldn't like to wear them."
When they light on our window sill
I never even scare them."

Cunning as are all the verses, the great charm of the book is in Mr. Gruelle's colored illustrations, which must be seen to be appreciated.

To Please Wee Ones.

Some volumes for the very small are "TOLD BY THE SANDMAN" [Harper's], in which Abbie Phillips Walker recounts a number of stories to be read at bed time, simple but taking tales; "NURSERY RHYMES FROM MOTHER GOOSE" carries the pictures by Grace G. Drayton [Scribner's]. For about the same age may be recommended two books by Georgene Faulkner, "THE STORY TODAY; CHRISTMAS STORIES" and "OLD ENGLISH TALES," all told with that genius for which the author is noted. [Daughaday & Co.]

The ever new "CHILD'S GARDEN OF VERSES" appears this year illustrated by Florence Edith Stores with eight color plates and nine pictures in black and white [Scribner's].

Gelett Burgess, the creator of the Goops, puts out a "GOOP ENCYCLOPEDIA" [Stokes]. It is rather a "GOOP WHO'S WHO," for each page has rhymes describing a particular goop drawing a picture of him in his goopishness and in rhyme exposing his gooposity.

For those a few years older try Lucy Barber's "NURSERY HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES," which in brief paragraphs tells simply some of the chief events of our history.

"THE DOT MYSTERY," by Clifford Leon Sherman [Houghton-Mifflin Co.] is an ingenious game for children, consisting of dots on a page. By drawing lines connecting these a complete design is realized. A book of another sort is "WHEN MOTHER LETS US DRAW," by E. R. Lee Thayer [Moffat, Yard & Co.], a simple little treatise by which any child whose fingers are not all thumbs can soon learn to copy simple objects.

For the More Mature.

For older children may be mentioned Louise Hasbrouck's "ISRAEL PUTNAM," the romance of the picturesque patriot [Appleton]; Irving Crump's "BOY'S BOOK OF FIREMEN," thrilling descriptions of their heroic work in large cities, illustrated by spirited pictures [Dodd, Mead & Co.]; "THE GOLDEN BOOK OF DUTCH NAVIGATORS," by Hendrik Willem Van Loon [Century Co.], being vivid tales of the great men who helped to make Holland the mistress of exploration and colonization. Herein is told the adventurous voyage to India, how Van Noort sailed around the world, the sailings of Boutekos, Ichoutan, Le Maire, Van Linschoten, and others. No better work for boys. Seventy old prints are included.

The prying and inquisitive boy will pounce upon A. F. Collins' "BOOK OF ELECTRICITY" [Appleton's], and there learn the elements of this mysterious servant of electricity. He will also delight in "THE BOYS' BOOK OF MECHANICAL MODELS," by William B. Stout, not unknown to readers of THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE [Little, Brown & Co.]. If the lad likes history, "THE YOUNG PEOPLE'S STORY OF MASSACHUSETTS" will charm him. Herschel Williams has written here some of the most interesting tales of the men who made the Bay state famous [Dodd, Mead & Co.].

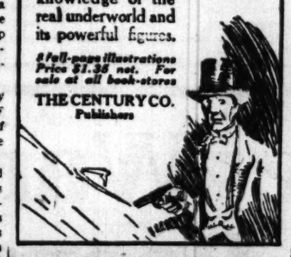

And what boy or girl does not like to read of Indians? James Willard Schultz, who knows all about the Blackfeet and other tribes, has in "APAUK," caller of buffalo, told some wonderful tales of adventure which no one can begin to read without finishing to the last word [Houghton, Mifflin & Co.].

Woman Sues Contractors.

Mrs. Sophia Marley of Paris, Ill., a widow, filed the precipe in the Circuit court yesterday in a suit for $25,000 damages against A. E. Anderson and Albert L. Mulkay, building contractors of Chicago, and A. P. Forcum, a real estate agent of Paris, Ill., charging fraud and conspiracy.

ELLA FLAGG YOUNG
And a Half-Century of the Chicago Public Schools.
By JOHN T. McMANIS

"JUST what this great woman did for her city during the fifty years she served it; just what she signified when she forsook the home of her girlhood in order that she might continue to be useful to her people," is the story which Mr. McManis attempts to tell. It is an inspiring chronicle, the narrative of a simple girl, the child of a poor family, who by virtue of her own strange power rose to leadership and to renown.

MR. OWEN JOHNSON'S latest novel, "The Woman Gives," is sure to be a widely prevalent phenomenon in the land. It challenges and satisfies a goodly share of interest in its author's development as a novelist, for it reveals in him a sympathetic knowledge of varied human types, a considerable share of persuasive skill in realism, and a certain power in sustaining, with warmth and strength, the story of a mature and highly idealized love.

Chief Healey's order regarding music in cabarets.

"This order," said Capt. Westbrook, "was promulgated on Oct. 3 and instructed captains neither to grant nor deny permission to saloon owners to have music in cabarets, but to refer all such matters directly to Chief Healey."

"Was not this an abuse of power?"

"It was not as much of an abuse to deny these cabaret privileges as to sell them."

This statement was apparently a thoughtless inadvertence. Mr. Johnston snapped at it like a hungry trout at a grasshopper.

AN EMBARRASING MOMENT.

"What do you mean?" he said.

"Well," said the embarrassed captain, suddenly conscious he had put his foot in it, "there was a rumor the privilege was being sold by some captains. The chief's order that we must communicate with him before shutting off the music was intended to put a stop to this practice of selling the privilege."

"Ah," said Mr. Johnston, "so the power of selling these privileges was taken from the captains and given exclusively to Chief Healey himself?"

"I don't mean that."

The Usual Procedure.

"If a saloonkeeper asked for the privilege of having music in his cabaret, what would be the procedure in the police department?"

"The captain would communicate with the chief in writing."

"The chief alone would determine whether the privilege was to be granted."

"Yes."

"Did you hear of any sales of such privileges engineered by the chief?"

"Not a rumor of any."

Capt. Westbrook caused a laugh when asked how long the rumor of the sale of cabaret privileges had persisted by answering: "Nineteen years and eight months to my personal knowledge—the exact period of my police service."

No Discrimination Order.

"Did you ever have a conversation with Chief Healey about discrimination in connection with friends of Mayor Thompson's administration?" asked Mr. Johnston.

"Yes," replied Capt. Westbrook. "The chief called me in and told me he had heard I had been discriminating against friends of the administration—'persecuting friends of the administration,' I believe he said. He told me he did not want any discrimination for or against any one. He told me to treat every one alike."

"Didn't the chief intimate you should discriminate in favor of the friends of the administration?"

"Absolutely not."

Mr. Healy on cross examination referred to the order attributed to Chief Healey by Capt. W. P. O'Brien, instructing captains to "get by" with anything they wanted to in their districts and assuring them their actions would not be investigated. Capt. Westbrook had been present at the captains' meeting.

"That was a misinterpretation of Chief Healey's language," said the captain. "What the chief said was, 'You captains are sending people down here to bother me on trifling matters that you could just as well get by with yourselves.' He meant such trivial business, for instance, as the granting of permission to a man to speak on a corner."

Warned of Trial Board.

"You did not understand the chief to mean the captains were to let a violator of the law 'get by' with anything?"

"He repeatedly told me if I let anything of the kind 'get by' me he would have me before the trial board."

"He said no stool pigeons were watching the captains?"

"Yes. I understood him to mean he replied on our honor to do our work honestly and well."

"Did he say anything about reformers?"

"He said he understood some of us were running to reform organizations and making reports. He told us he wanted that stopped. He ordered us to report only to him."

When Mr. Thoney, the Citizens' association investigator, took the stand, he said a saloonkeeper at Sixty-third street and Cottage Grove avenue had told him Charles Essig, secretary of the Sportsmen's Club of America, and a man named Cohen owned all the slot machines in Englewood and Woodlawn.

"I remember the case of Louis Thums of 1638 Belmont avenue, particularly, because of the peculiar story he told me," Thoney said. "He said his license had been revoked and he had a hard time getting it back. He finally said he got it restored by political influence, and fifteen minutes after he had reopened a policeman brought in a slot machine and set it on the bar.

A Case of Pull.

"In a saloon at 5124 Halsted street," Mr. Thoney continued, "the proprietor told me a man named Meyers owned the machine in his place and was said to own fifty others. An ex-policeman had asked this saloonkeeper to install one of his machines and throw Meyers' machine out. But the saloonkeeper wouldn't do it. He said Meyers had as strong a political pull as the ex-policeman.

"In this same place the proprietor told me he split fifty-fifty with the owner of the machine. He said the machine paid his rent after he had held out the graft money he had to pay the police."

Mr. Thoney said he knew a man named Apslund of whom Mr. Johnston inquired as the owner of 150 machines in the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth wards. He said he never had heard of any connection between Apslund and Sergt. William Sullivan of the chief's office. He was asked if he had heard of Tom Costello. He said he had, but not in connection with slot machines.

A Mysterious Visitor.

"After the slot machines were taken out by Chief Healey's orders," Mr. Thoney resumed, "I knew where a large number were stored in West Jackson boulevard. No machines were confiscated. All were removed by their owners."

Peter Gaynor's session on the witness stand was a "scream," viewed as continuous vaudeville. But in spite of the fun he injected into the proceedings and the gales of laughter he caused, Gaynor may be prosecuted for perjury and lose the license of his saloon at 4001 West Twenty-sixth street, which he said he paid $250 to have restored.

A rough translation of Gaynor's English ran something like this:

"My license was revoked on Sept. 5. My place was closed eight days. A man named John came to see me and I told him of my trouble. He said he would see what he could do. I never had seen this man before. A few days after I had talked with him my license was restored. Then John came around again."

"Did you pay John any money?" asked Mr. Johnston.

"O, yes."

"How much?"

Gaynor's reply remains a profound mystery. Attorney Healy thought he said "A couple of dollars." Judge Olson was sure he said "Two dollars." Mr. Johnston hardly believed his ears—having Gaynor's affidavit in his pocket—when he caught it as "two dollars."

Assistant State's Attorney Berger arose and said: "He means $200."

"How much did you pay John?" asked Judge Olson.

"Two hundred and fifty dollars," said Gaynor, and stuck to this figure to the end.

He said after he had paid the money "John" went away and he never saw him again. Every effort was made by the attorneys to learn who "John" was, but Gaynor threw no light on his identity. He said he never had heard his surname and had no idea where he lived.

Mr. Johnston read an affidavit made by Gaynor in State's Attorney Hoyne's office the night before. It recited he had paid $250 to "John Feldman."

"I thought you said you did not know what John's other name was?" snapped Judge Olson.

"I don't," replied the imperturbable Gaynor.

He explained the name "John Feldman" in the affidavit by saying he had told a "little feller" at the state's attorney's office that John's other name might be "Felkman" or "Feller" or "something like that." Then he said the "little feller," who turned out to be Assistant State's Attorney A. E. Arkin, had suggested "John" all by itself would not look well in an affidavit and had suggested he add "Feldman."

Then Comes a Surprise.

The files in the case taken from Chief Healey's office as a result of the state's attorney's raid were sent for. They showed a petition signed by 200 of Gaynor's neighbors for the restoration of his license. Gaynor denied he ever had seen the petition or heard of it, despite the fact the name of the porter in his saloon, a man who lives over his bar, and his next doorneighbor appeared upon it.

At the afternoon session Attorney Healy sprang a surprise by confronting Gaynor with Charles Vaverik, deputy smoke inspector. He asked Gaynor if he had not visited Mr. Vaverik in the city hall. Gaynor said he never had seen the man before. Chief Clerk Abraham Merinbaum of the mayor's office stood up. Gaynor turned blank eyes upon him. He never had seen him, he said, and never had called at the mayor's office.

Attorney Healy tolled off the names on the petition. Gaynor recognized not more than three. In desperation, Mr. Healy asked the name of his bartender.

He Can't Remember.

Gaynor puckered his brow in hard thought. "I believe it's Bill," he said. Mr. Healy threw up his hands. "Is there anybody on earth whose name you know?" he asked.

Gaynor laughed as heartily at this sally as any one in the courtroom.

"We will show," said Mr. Healy after adjournment, that Gaynor called at the mayor's office once and talked with Mr. Merinbaum and at he smoke inspector's office twice and talked with Mr. Vaverik. They advised him to get up a petition among his neighbors. Gaynor did this. We think we shall be able to prove he never paid a cent to any one for the restoration of his license."

The grand jury devoted the entire day to consideration of the evidence against Chief Healey and Mr. Luthardt. It adjourned until Monday. The witnesses were Capt. W. P. O'Brien, the Rev. Myron E. Adams, Peter Gaynor, and nine others, mostly saloonkeepers.

HEALY STARTS INQUIRY BASED ON GAYNOR'S STORY

There May Be a Flareback, Attorney for the Chief Intimates.

Former State's Attorney Healy yesterday continued to deride the "evidence" presented before Chief Justice Olson by State's Attorney Maclay Hoyne.

"For five and a half court days," he said, "we have listened to gossip, rumor, and hearsay, and not a scintilla of evidence has been presented by the state. There is dawning upon our consciousness slowly that this is not an application for warrants but a political demonstration."

"Gaynor Tale Mythical."

Attorney Healy called the story of Gaynor, the saloonkeeper, "a very mythical tale."

"I don't believe it at all," he said. "When he was asked whether he ever had seen Mr. Vavrik, the man who presented the petition for the restoration of the license, he grew red, he bit his lip, his hands twitched.

"Although this petition contained the names of three persons at his own address, the names of his neighbors on each side and across the street, he said he never had heard a word about it until it was shown him in court. We are investigating this part of the testimony thoroughly."

Westbrook Praise Cited.

Mr. Healy said Capt. Wesley Westbrook had told the story of the ousting of Detective Sergt. Lawrence Howe from the force "with the greatest credit to Chief Healey."

"When Capt. Westbrook told him about the Howe affair," Healy said, "Chief Healey directed him to file charges against Howe at once. It was Capt. Westbrook who argued against that procedure in the belief that it would simply create a scandal without the establishment of a conclusive case. In that situation Chief Healey declared Howe must get off the force, and he was allowed to resign.

"The rule prohibiting subordinates of the chief from stopping the music in cafés was promulgated years ago in order to prevent members of the department from selling privileges of that sort."

Submarine Warfare at Our Doors

"Never before in history have three miles seemed so short," epigrammatically remarks the New York SUN in reflecting the thought in the minds of thousands of Americans since the German submarine U-53 commenced its commerce-destroying exploits off Nantucket.

It is true that all witnesses agree that the initial operations of this new submarine campaign were conducted with a scrupulous regard for the promises made by the German government, but ominous possibilities loom large.

The "Deadly Parallel" as a Censor of War News

There is no surer check upon misstatement or exaggeration on the part of a periodical than the "deadly parallel," the comparison of a statement made today with one made yesterday, or of the same occurrence as reported by two journals of widely differing views. As a censor of the news that filters through to us from the various fronts this method is unrivaled. The composite story of a battle as set down for us by half a dozen correspondents, all working independently, must come very near to the truth. THE LITERARY DIGEST gives you each week the latest news of the war by citing the reports of the leading periodicals of both sides, without bias or partisanship, leaving you to judge from the evidence what the facts really are. This new feature places THE DIGEST'S war-news in a class by itself.

WOMAN'S PARTY SCOPE AND AIMS TOLD BY LEADER

Not a Suffrage but a Political Body—Backs Up Its Demands with Votes.

This is the third of a series of articles on the issues of the presidential campaign especially prepared for "The Tribune" by various leaders of American Life. The fourth, to appear tomorrow, will be by Theodore Burton, former United States senator from Ohio.

BY ANNE MARTIN.

[Chairman of National Woman's Party.]

Magazine writers and journalists are hailing the Congressional union and its daughter, the National Woman's party, as that organization which has lifted the suffrage issue out of the academic realm and placed it in the field of practical politics.

The Woman's party is not a suffrage organization. It is a political party. Its rôle is not that of the teacher. It has no part in demonstrating that suffrage for women is right or in pleading with the populace to give suffrage to women. It believes that the truth concerning woman suffrage has already been demonstrated. It believes that the federal government and not the states should settle the question of United States citizenship. The members are women voters from the twelve equal suffrage states.

Traced to Susan B. Anthony.

The idea of a woman's party is only an outgrowth of Susan B. Anthony's plan of many years ago. Miss Anthony had not worked long with congress before she saw that all argument about the righteousness of [illegible]ing women the vote through a federal amendment to the constitution was of no avail unless there was political power back of the demand.

It takes no demonstration to see that this political power could not be found among men. Men had had the suffrage so long that they no longer had the psychology of the unenfranchised class. They could not put suffrage first. They put party first.

State by State Start.

Miss Anthony, therefore, turned to the west, where suffrage was hopeful, and began her state suffrage work, not that the state by state method might be established as the only way woman suffrage would be obtained, but that enough women might obtain the vote through this state method to become a political force back of the federal amendment demand.

As time passed on, women fell into the habit of state campaigns. The federal amendment was forgotten. Women seemed to think that their only salvation lay in the hopeless state by state method of securing suffrage, and this in spite of the recently digested fact that at least twenty sta[illegible]s make it next to impossible, by the requirements of their constitutions, for women to obtain the ballot.

Doubled in Four Years.

When the Congressional Union for Woman Suffrage came into the field under Alice Paul's wise leadership, forward looking women saw at once that not only had Miss Anthony been right in seeking political power to back the amendment, but that this power had already been won. Women's political power has more than doubled since the last presidential election. In 1912 there were only six suffrage states, with about 2,000,000 women qualified to vote. These six suffrage states elected only thirty-seven members of the electoral college. Today there are twelve suffrage states, controlling ninety-one electoral votes, with over 4,000,000 women qualified to vote for president.

The fact that these states control one-fifth of the electoral college and cast one-third of the votes necessary to elect a president gives women voters the power to be a determining factor in the election.

As time wore on the Congressional union saw the need of an actual organization on the part of women voters which would work directly and exclusively for the suffrage amendment, irrespective of the interests of any national political party.

A Political Lesson.

This was made necessary for many reasons. In the first place, in the Sixty-fourth congress the amendment was blocked in the judiciary committee of the house. After the subcommittee which had it in charge reported the amendment to the judiciary committee, that astute body proceeded to bury it by a trick.

On the day when there were present enough members of the committee who were friends of the amendment to report it to the house for action, enemies of suffrage in the committee hit upon the plan of moving that the consideration of all constitutional amendments be indefinitely postponed. The chairman of the committee, Mr. Webb, declared this motion in order in spite of the unanimous consent agreement to consider the national suffrage amendment as the pending order of business, adopted at a previous meeting of the committee.

Some friends of suffrage in that committee were opposed to the national prohibition amendment and some of the friends of the prohibition amendment were opposed to the suffrage amendment. This motion to postpone all amendments indefinitely was therefore an easy way for the enemies of both measures to get out of a predicament.

Then there was the president's continued opposition. Deputation after deputation had visited him in the course of his administration and to all of them the president had replied that suffrage was a matter for the states to decide and that he could not speak for his party.

In September, 1915, the first political convention of women was held in San Francisco, called by the Congressional union to consider the national suffrage situation. The convention went on record in a nonpartisan resolution to put suffrage before the interests of any national political party and to hold the party in power, whatever its name, responsible for its record on the national suffrage amendment. This convention sent envoys—two Democratic women—across the country to tell congress and the president of this "suffrage first" stand on the part of women voters.

For the first time voting women had come to the president. He was plainly influenced by this fact. He told these envoys that although he had always advocated suffrage by way of the states, he was "a man who could change his mind" and would consider doing so, but there was no change of mind on the part of the president.

Call Chicago Meeting.

Something more definite than a woman voter's convention was needed. Therefore in June a call went out to all voting women to assemble in Chicago to form a national woman's party.

The convention meetings were marked by a directness and simplicity and lack of self seeking that raised all sessions to a high level. Government by party was explained. The chan[ge] which has been given to the Democratic administration was fully reviewed. The president's record was examined. The party was formed without candidates and without offices to dispens[e]. It had but one plank in its platform—national suffrage. It went on record not only as standing for the suffrage amendment first, but as opposing any party which having the power to further this amendment, failed in its duty.

Invoicing the C[a]nd[i]d[at]es.

The party members went home, but not to rest. Weeks passed. Nothing was heard from congress. The president sat on the throne of state's rights. The autumn campaigns were rapidly approaching.

Therefore in early August a conference of all officers of the Woman's party, together with all congressional district and county chairmen, was called to shape definitely the party policy. Meanwhile Mr. Hughes had come out as personally favoring the federal amendment. Both the Prohibitionist and Socialist parties had indorsed it. President Wilson was the only presidential candidate who opposed it. Every other party, either by its platform or its candidate, supported it. Some of the members of that conference came hoping that the Woman's party might adopt a policy of indorsing Gov. Hughes. Most of the members favored an anti-Democratic stand. The latter won.

At the time of this writing the campaign is in full swing, more than fifty organizers and speakers are in the suffrage states.

NUTSHELL POLITICS

Jottings on National, State and Local Candidates and Events.

Editor of The Tribune.—How is it James Hamilton Lewis, United States senator from Illinois, never registers any more, so he can support his party. He was here on last registration day, Oct. 17, and failed to get his name on the register? He was not on the register when he was made United States senator. MICHAEL J. SHEA.

Clerk, Fifty-third precinct, Twenty-first ward.

Answer.—THE TRIBUNE does not know.

James A. White, chairman of the Jackson county Republican committee, advised Republican national headquarters yesterday that a Mobile and Ohio railroad Hughes and Fairbanks club was organized Wednesday night at Murphysboro, a division point, with 143 signed members. The president is E. J. Hendricksen, an engineer, and Leroy Kelly, a machinist, is secretary. Three engineers, a foreman, and a brakeman are on the executive committee.

National Committeeman William H. Crocker of California at Republican headquarters said: "A united Republican party will sweep California. Gov. Hiram Johnson's election as United States senator is assured and Hughes will carry the state by a big majority."

Walter W. (Pudge) Heffelfinger, famous Yale football player, now a Minneapolis business man, was at western Republican headquarters. "Minnesota will give Hughes one of the largest Republican majorities ever given to a presidential candidate," he said. "Of course I am for Hughes. Every man with red blood in his veins admires his courage and his clear cut stand on public questions. He is one of these straight-from-the-shoulder Americans who will be president of all the people all the time."

Randall J. Le Boeuf of Albany, N. Y., former legal associate of Charles E. Hughes, will speak at the Hamilton club's noonday meeting today on "Hughes as I Know Him."

James R. Garfield, former Gov. Charles S. Deneen, Henry R Rathbone, Harry B. Miller, and Edward R. Litzinger will speak tonight at the Yale theater, Sixty-third street and Yale avenue. Mayor Thompson will speak at the Harriet Beecher Stowe school in the Thirty-fifth ward.

Gifford Pinchot, on his way west to speak for Hughes, at Republican national headquarters said: "Talk of any semblance of strength among Democrats of Pennsylvania is absolutely groundless. Mr. Hughes will have Pennsylvania's customary big Republican majority."

Alvin T. Hert, western Republican manager, directed that Edward H. Green, former state representative, whose name has been mentioned in connection with allegations of proposed election frauds at East St. Louis, remove the scene of his activities from Republican national headquarters. Green has maintained an office at the Conway building during the campaign.

Former Congressman Gerrit J. Diekema of Michigan, director of the Republican national speakers' bureau, said: "Of course Michigan is safely Republican. Not even the most sanguine Democrats claim otherwise. The indications now are that we will carry Maryland."

ROSENWALD PINS FAITH TO HUGHES ON HIS RECORD

"Fearless and Able," Business Man's View of the Republican Candidate.

Declaring his faith in Charles E. Hughes to be implicit, Julius Rosenwald entered the campaign for the Republican presidential candidate last night. He spoke at the schoolhouse meetings held by the Hughes Business Men's league. Last night's sessions were on the west side, at the Harrison Technical High school, in the Twelfth ward, and at the Lawson school, in the Thirty-fourth ward.

Mr. Rosenwald said that Mr. Hughes' creditable record as governor of New York and as counsel for the Armstrong insurance committee was the basis of his belief in the Republican nominee.

"No governor of any state ever left his office with more notable achievements to his credit," Mr. Rosenwald said. "He recognized no obligation for his election except to the people of his state as a whole. He would enter the presidency to serve the people of the entire country, unhampered by promises. He would surround himself with able advisers and take counsel with them.

"Because I believe Mr. Hughes has demonstrated that he is a fearless, conscientious, able executive I ardently advocate his election."

Charles W. Folds of Hathaway, Smith, Folds & Co. in his speech asserted the nation is facing a grave situation as a result of Europe's war. At its end, he said, with the present Democratic tariff in effect, Europe will flood America with its products and "bring all our factories to a standstill."

POLITICAL NOTES BY WIRE.

BENTON, Ill.—Gov. E. F. Dunne, attacking the connections of Frank O. Lowden with the Pullman company, said the labor record of that concern disqualified his opponent for the duties of governor.

ELGIN, Ill.—Col. Frank O. Lowden made a bitter attack on the administrative record of Gov. Dunne, saying that he failed to carry out the pledges in the platform on which he was elected and is claiming credit for legislation passed by Republicans.

PITTSBURGH, Pa.—J. Frank Hanly, prohibition candidate for president, said neither Hughes nor Wilson attempted to defeat the "invisible government of liquor," which he fought while governor of Indiana.

On October 21st—thirty-seven years ago—Thos. A. Edison invented the incandescent Electric Lamp.

Many important changes have been made since then, but none more important from the user's standpoint than the steady improvement of the old carbon lamp down to the present high efficiency Nitrogen Mazda Lamp—which gives three times as much light from the same amount of Electricity consumed.

Electric Light Rates Reduced by Commonwealth Edison Company 70% in Past 20 Years

While the Electric Lamp has been improved so as to give more light, and of more daylight quality, the cost of Electricity in Chicago has steadily decreased—70% during the past decade—so that today our patrons obtain five times as much Electric Light for a dollar as they received ten years ago.

Better Lighting—Better Business

The first step toward increasing trade is to improve the store lighting. Our new Semi-direct Lighting Fixtures, equipped with high efficiency Nitrogen Mazda Lamps, make the store more brilliant, thereby attracting more customers.

On Time Payments

$5 at time of purchase and $1 a month for eleven months secures the fixture—complete, ready to hang. Gives a generous, even, illumination—no harsh glare—no shadows.

RED SOX FACE PENALTY FOR DARING RULE

Johnson Says Others Also Will Be Punished for Barnstorming.

BY I. E. SANBORN.

For violation of the national commission's rule forbidding them to engage in exhibition games after the world's series, many of the Boston Red Sox will be deprived of the emblems usually presented by the commission to world's champions and otherwise punished. In addition, sixty or seventy major league players who have indulged in barnstorming without the consent of the commission will suffer various penalties before they draw their next pay checks.

From Boston came the report the Red Sox were in bad for their barnstorming trip to New Haven last Sunday, and President Johnson of the American league, a member of the national commission, corroborated the report yesterday, besides including a lot of other ball players in the disciplinary class.

Violated Ironclad Rule.

"Yes, it's all true," said President Johnson. "The commission has a hard and fast rule that championship teams must disband at the end of the world's series and not engage in exhibition games either as teams or individuals. It also forbids players of other major leagues from doing so without the consent of the commission.

"In defiance of that rule the Red Sox played at New Haven Sunday and the first step the commission has decided on is to withhold the championship emblems from the players who took part in the New Haven game or shared in its receipts. They will be punished more severely, but in just what degree has not been determined.

No Permission from Lannin.

"President Lannin of the Boston club, in a letter received today, said he did not give his permission to play the game. They simply went ahead and knowingly defied the rule.

"The commission has the list of players implicated and also a list of the members of other major league teams who have violated the rule this fall, and they are all going to be disciplined, by fines or otherwise. Just what form or how severe the penalty will be will be decided by vote of the commissioners, but it is our intention to make it severe enough to deter players from breaking the regulation again."

This rule against barnstorming was adopted several years ago, after the members of the champion teams of both major leagues had gone barnstorming, after breaking all training rules, and got themselves licked plentifully in exhibition games with semipro and small town teams. The purpose of the rule was to keep the heroes of the diamond from dragging their laurels out onto the prairies and letting them drag in the mud for the sake of a few extra dollars.

Owners Pass the Buck.

At the request of the club owners, the commission also forbade all players to go barnstorming without the consent of the commission. The owners themselves did not want to get in bad with their athletes by refusing permission, so saddled the goat stuff on the commissioners. Objection was made by the club owners because players frequently were injured in barnstorming games so severely as to weaken the team the following season.

The resolution to deprive the Red Sox of their 1916 emblems will not only reduce the size of their halos to some extent but will withhold from them jewelry of considerable value, as the world's series emblems cost in the neighborhood of $85 wholesale.

Some Trouble in Association.

President Chivington of the American association said his circuit had been having much trouble with athletes playing with cheap teams after the season and was considering action to prevent it.

President Comiskey of the White Sox is expected to return today with his guests from their two weeks' outing at Mercer, Wis., and begin planning for the 1917 campaign on the south side.

'TRIB' FIND IN CUP CONTEST.

Charley Pechous, THE TRIBUNE find, who caused the throwing out of Sunday's Merrimac-Garden City game and who was declared ineligible to play in remaining Litzinger cup contests, will be back with the Merrimacs against the Mortons at Schorling park tomorrow. The winner of this game will play the Jake Stahls later in the afternoon. Other Litzinger games are Braves at South Chicago and Magnets at Beloit.

BOONE BEST GOLFING SCRIBE

Perley Boone of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and the Calumet Country club won the Chatfield-Taylor trophy, emblematic of the championship of the Chicago Press Golf club, by defeating Oscar Lundberg of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE yesterday, 3 and 2, in the final at the Beverly Country club.

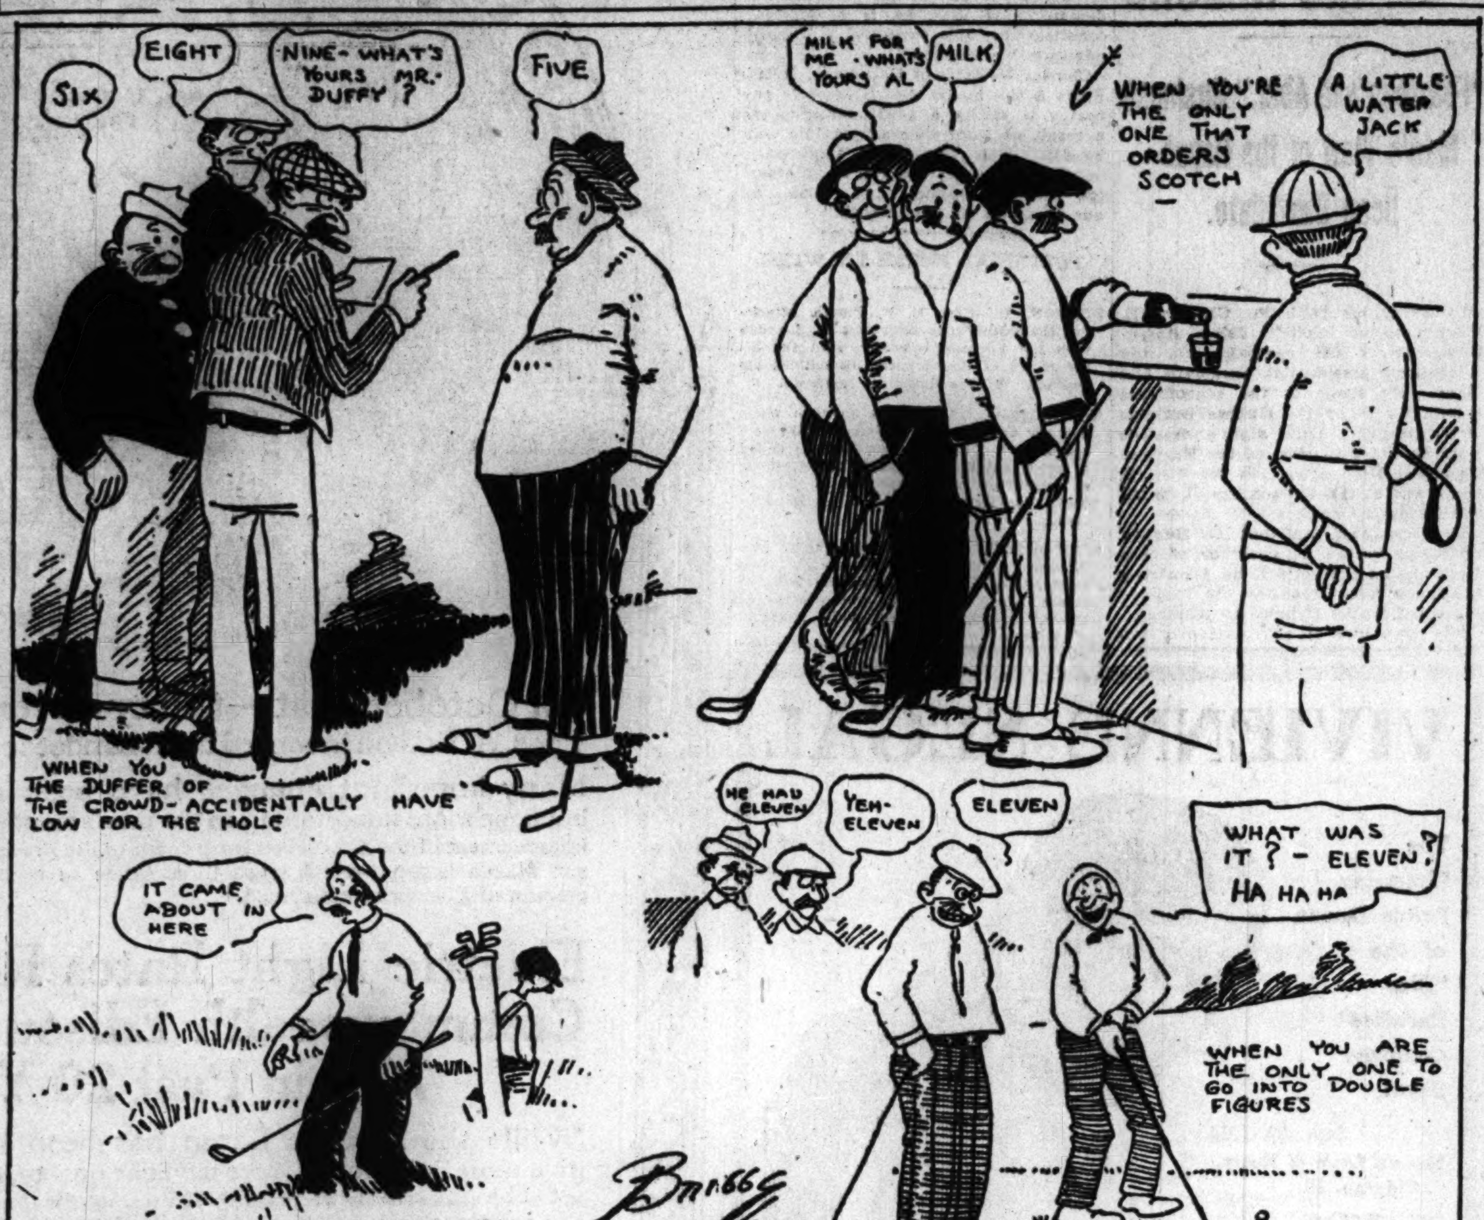

Aside from sleet flurries, zipping breezes full of air pockets, and a wet course, it was a perfect day. Boone, who shot an 89, had a lead of 1 up at the turn after losing a ball on the seventh hole. He took the tenth and twelfth and was three up. At the fifteenth hole Boone holed from just off the green and for a four, but Lundberg halved the hole by sinking a thirty foot putt. Boone won the next hole.

The Ridge Country club will hold its annual meeting Oct. 28, the regular ticket being as follows: President, William S. Kline; vice president, S. E. Thomason; secretary, Arthur D. White; treasurer, J. H. Green; directors for two years, S. E. Thomason, P. S. Graver, E. R. Goble.

SOME WELL KNOWN GUILTY FEELINGS IN GOLF

STORM PUTS END TO CONTEST FOR DRIVERS' TITLE

BY J. C. BURTON.

Peoria, Ill., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—According to Marc Antony, "ambition is a grievous fault," and grievously have six members of the Chicago Automobile club answered it. Like the "ghost of a troupe," which Eddie Foy once sang about, "they are stranded in Peoria." Their aspirations to be known as the master drivers of the Chicago Automobile club and to wear the Oldfield medal as a token of such supremacy is dead. Their mud caked automobiles are marooned in a local garage, awaiting shipment by train back to Chicago.

The master drivers' run, which started from Chicago in the downpour of Thursday morning, has been declared off by the officials.

Four Start Second Leg.

Four of the six contenders, Al Shillo, John Kercher, William Robbins, and E. A. Turner, who fought mud and water all day yesterday in an arduous twelve hour splash of 185 miles, left here this morning on the second leg of the trip, headed for Clinton, but doubting whether they would ever get there. They were called back an hour after they started. Referee L. A. Hillman and Joseph Callendar, chairman of the C. A. C. contest board, deciding it would be dangerous to continue the tour under the existing wretched road conditions.

Snow started to fall soon after the four intrepid drivers left the morning control. The white flakes relieved the monotony of the rain, but the relief was only temporary. Soon it commenced to rain once more, and the highways soon were hub deep in slush and mud.

Gelderman and Ayers Stranded.

"Somewhere in mud" are W. M. Gelderman and B. B. Ayers, whose cars cracked under the awful strain of yesterday. At last reports the stranded tourists were playing checkers and talking politics in a corner grocery store while patiently waiting for small town mechanics to repair their machines.

Al Schillo probably will be awarded the master driver's medal. The officials are of the opinion that his remarkable feat of yesterday, when he made a perfect score under the most exacting conditions and by tempting fate and accidents in piloting his Mercer over impassable roads, entitles him to such a decoration.

TABERSKI RETAINS CUE POCKET BILLIARDS TITLE.

New York, Oct. 20.—Frank Taberski of Schenectady, N. Y., successfully defended his pocket billiards title tonight, defeating Ralph Greenleaf of Monmouth, Ill., by a total score of 450 to 407. In tonight's block Taberski scored 186 and made a high run of 35, and his youthful challenger pocketed 107, including a high run of 28. At the start of the final block Greenleaf had a lead of 36, but the champion overcame this easily early in the game by scoring 114 while the westerner could get only 13.

COOK WINS PISTOL MATCH.

Jacksonville, Fla., Oct. 20.—The individual pistol match, the concluding event on the National association's program, was won today at the shooting tournament by George E. Cook of Washington, D. C., who scored 385 in 420 points. N. R. Wilcox, Nevada civilian team, with 379 points, was second, and W. M. Spencer of St. Louis third with the same score. There were 305 competitors.

George W. Chesley of New Haven, Conn., was declared the winner of the grand aggregate match, as he chalked up 809 in 835 points in the Members' Rapid Fire, Marine Corps, Leech cup, Wimbledon cup, and President's matches.

ATLANTA EVENT TO MABEL TRASK IN THREE HEATS

Takes Great Race from St. Frisco by Winning Each Mile by a Neck.

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 20.—Mabel Trask, the speedy little chestnut mare owned by Barton Pardee of New York and driven by Walter R. Cox, added to her beats over her harness rival, St. Frisco, today when in straight heats in the grand circuit races she won the Georgia Railway and Power company cup and the big end of a $2,500 purse. Her best time was 2:07¼ in the third heat.

The two favorites trotted consistently. St. Frisco, with Geers driving, finished each heat in second place, and in neither more than a neck behind. The race was for the 2:08 class trotting, with a field of five.

Mary Coburn Victor.

The Real Lady, driven by Murphy, and Mary Coburn, White behind, were the only starters in the 2 year old class trotting event and Mary Coburn won.

Lee Axworthy, the world's champion trotting stallion, came out between events with B. F. White at the reins and started to lower the Georgia track record of 2:05. He reeled off the mile in 1:59¾.

Peter Mac also came out as a special event and gave an exhibition mile performance, piloted by M. McDevitt. He made his mile in 2:04¼, thus himself beating the Georgia record as it stood before Lee Axworthy lowered it.

PUGILISTIC POINTERS

BY RAY C. PEARSON.

BRYAN DOWNEY, the Columbus lightweight, accompanied by his daddy, arrived in Chicago yesterday. Downey from all accounts is a regular fistic guy and his rise in the game has been rapid. His career as a prelim scrapper lasted something like forty-seven minutes, which gives him a chance to boast. Emil Thiry, who piloted Packey McFarland in the palmy days, has taken charge of Downey and expects to match him for contests at Racine, Kenosha, or Milwaukee.

Kid Howard, otherwise known as Howard Carr, manager of Ever Hammer, who was stopped in twelve rounds by Benny Leonard at Kansas City Wednesday night, returned yesterday. The Kid says he pulled a boner by asking the referee to stop the contest when Hammer had been knocked down for a count of three, and shoulders all blame for the defeat of the Swede. Hammer is resting at the farm of an uncle at Ethel, Mo.

John Wagner, the Racine promoter, has arranged a card of bouts for Oct. 27. The windup will be between Matty Smith of Racine and Freddie Andrews of Milwaukee over the ten round route.

CHARLEY ELLIS WINS GREAT CUE CONTEST

BY J. O. DAVIS.

Charley Ellis, former national champion, won the three cushion tournament at Flenner's by defeating Pierre Maupome, 50 to 45, in forty-five innings last night. Seldom does it fall to the lot of a player to average over one, and then lose, yet this was the lot of the former Mexican champion.

From every angle it was one of the best exhibitions of the three cushion game ever staged here. Both men played beautiful billiards, and the number of poor shots could have been counted on one's fingers.

AT THE BILLIARD ROOMS.

In the single line tournament at Foley's Jones [100] defeated Cooper [150], 100 to 147.

At Burdick's room Hosick defeated Henderson, 40 to 18, in the class A event.

Lauben gave another excellent display in the class A tournament at Mussey's, getting his second victory by defeating Roberts [44], 44 to 36 in sixty-eight innings. Lauben scored twenty-three points in his first twenty-seven innings and had high run of 5. In class B Rickard [36] defeated Peedan [40], 36 to 31.

After several mediocre exhibitions, Welker Cochran gathered an average of 30 against Bob Lord in their 18-2 match at Mussey's last night, winning, 300 to 7. Cochran, after getting four ciphers and a two in five innings, made a run of 202 in masterful fashion. He followed with runs of 40, 0, 27, and 29. Lord's high run was 25.

RUBINI BOWLERS TRIM EL RECTORS THREE STRAIGHT

Collier's Men Land Average of 923 2-3, Thoma Getting 631 Pins.

Rubinis swamped the El Rectors in the Randolph league last night in their attempt to overhaul the leading Little Bohemias, Charley Collier's club winning three straight games with an average of 923 2-3. Collier stamped out a 617 series and Fred Thoma showed 631 for the distance. The Hotel Planters won the odd game from the Andrews Lumbers with Paul Wilson leading the club in the place of Capt. Roy Davis, who sat on the side lines with an injured foot. The Little Bohemias won three straight games from the El Roi Tans in easy fashion. Eddie Medene's 631 series with the Howard Majors was another feature of the Randolph.

Otto Meyers sprang a tall series of 698 for the Cicero Clothiers in the Central league and he had Fliger stepping with him for 598, the team rolling up three victories at the expense of the Centrals. Bob Lauer put the Wholesale Grocers on the map with a 607 series for the Richelieus, and Brasch kept pace with him for 625, and the club won three straight from the Lupmores.

Mattie Fesl's 650 and Otto Engelhardt's 627 were features of the North Avenue shooting, while George Strey picked up a 256 game in the Lawrence Avenue league.

MAROONS MEET PURPLE ON STAGG FIELD TODAY

Best Chance in Years for Northwestern Victory, Evanston Believes.

ILLINI TACKLE OHIO.

BY WALTER H ECKERSALL.

With the rain of the last few days throughout the country, upsets may mark today's football games, which will be featured by three conference games in the west, the clash between Pittsburgh and Syracuse, and Dartmouth and Georgetown in the east, and Nebraska and the Oregon Aggies at Portland in the far west.

The gridirons have become thoroughly soaked, and the heavier aggregations will have a decided advantage over their lighter opponents. Teams which have been depending upon a fast open attack featured by forward passes will be placed at a disadvantage, while the element of luck is almost sure to enter the hard fought battles.

Interest in Local Game.

To local fans the annual struggle between Chicago and Northwestern at Stagg field will attract most attention. Both have yet to be beaten by a conference eleven, although the Maroons bowed to Carleton in the opening combat. The Purple has played only one game, and that with Lake Forest. The Evanstonians showed good early season form, but since that time they have not engaged in a game, but have confined their work to preparing for today's contest.

Along the north shore the populace is pulling for Northwestern to win. Supporters of the purple are certain this is their year, and as a result will journey to the Chicago lair prepared to back their eleven with the hard kale. If their team is defeated they are sure it will not leave the field in disgrace.

Chicago's Line Stronger.

A careful study of the two teams shows that Chicago's forward wall is stronger and heavier than that of Northwestern. There is little to choose between the quarter backs, while Northwestern must be given a slight advantage in the back field if the field is heavy, but if the turf is firm the Purple will have a decided advantage. The ends are nearly equal, but if a shade were given it would be in favor of Chicago.

In Cigrand, the former East Aurora player; Kohler of Wendell Phillips, and Capt. Driscoll the Purple has a trio of backs who are certain to make ground. They are players of known ability and if any one gets loose in the open he will be hard to stop. Each is fast and clever, and if given the proper support by the forwards should cause Chicago a lot of trouble.

May Put Parker at End.

If Coach Stagg starts the same back field as he did against Indiana the Maroons should gain ground consistently if the line does its work. Setzer, Agar, and Hanisch appear to be the best set of first string backs in the squad. If the field is soft and slow Parker, the big lineman who has been shifted from a guard position to right end, may be used a great deal on line plunges and off tackle drives.

A kicking duel may result. Driscoll, the Purple booter, is a consistent punter of the forty yard variety, while Agar can lift the oval for about the same distance. Just what teams will win the advantage on the exchanges depends upon the way the catchers run the kicks back. As the weather man has forecasted an ideal football day, the teams, which not only will struggle to remain in the conference race but which will fight for the city title, should show their wares before at least 20,000 enthusiasts.

Maroons Lead in Victories.

Since Chicago and Northwestern opened football relations in 1892 they have played twenty-seven games. Of this number the Maroons have won nineteen contests, Northwestern five, while three battles have resulted in ties. The Midway team won last year's contest by a 7 to 0 score.

At Urbana, Illinois will attempt to retrieve its lost laurels by beating Ohio State, the team which held it to a 3 to 3 score last year at Columbus. The downstaters' defeat last Saturday by Colgate showed Coach Zuppke some glaring faults of his players, and the tow-headed mentor has worked like a trojan all week trying to rectify them.

Iowa and Purdue will clash at Iowa City in the other game of conference importance. In other games in which Big Nine teams will play are Minnesota and South Dakota at Minneapolis and Wisconsin and the Haskell Indians at Madison. Indiana has no game scheduled.

Michigan to Play M. A. C.

Although not a member of the conference, a fact regretted by every true lover of football, especially in the west, Michigan will meet its old foes, the Michigan Aggies, at Ann Arbor. The Wolverines should win this game, as they have showed improvement with the playing of every game this year.

In the east there are no games scheduled which have important bearing on the championship. Yale won its game yesterday from Virginia Poly; Harvard should be the victor over the Massachusetts Aggies; Princeton, although meeting a worthy foe in Lafayette, should win; and Cornell should beat Bucknell.

After winning from the Navy a week ago, Pittsburgh, the eleven under the guidance of Glen Warner, formerly coach at the Carlisle Indians school, will meet Syracuse on the latter's gridiron. Dartmouth and Georgetown should play a good game, but the Hanover eleven looks like the winner.

SNOW STOPS "GRID" GAME.

PURPLE FANS STAKE HOPES OF VICTORY ON SPEED OF BACKS

BY EVAN STONE.

Realizing they will be badly handicapped in weight, Northwestern's football warriors will tackle the Maroons today full of fight and ginger. Capt. Driscoll will lead on to Stagg field a squad confident that gameness and agility will balance the weight scale. For victory the Purple will depend upon a fast, concerted offense of the backfield.

The heavy rain yesterday caused considerable gloom at Northwestern, for rooters fear their backfield stars will be unable to shine on a slippery field, while at the same time the heavy Maroon linemen will have less trouble in holding the welterweight Purple forwards. Trainer McGill took the precaution to have extra cleats put on the shoes of his men, so that if Stagg field is soft the athletes may get the best possible grip on the turf.

No Prediction by Murphy.

Coach Murphy last night said his men were in fair shape, but refused to express an opinion on the outcome of the game. The Purple mentor has been putting in long hours perfecting the teamwork of the players, and believes they will go through their formations in smooth action.

Only three veterans will start the game, Capt. Driscoll at left half, Ulrich at left guard, and Norman at right end. The midget Brightmire will play quarter. Behind him will be Driscoll, Cigrand, and Kohler, with Underhill, Ellingwood, and Williams held in reserve.

Randolph May Play Center.

Jesse Randolph, brother of Bob, last year's star stackle, probably will start at center, although Coach Murphy may decide to put in Baby Smith, his only real heavyweight.

The Northwestern squad, coaches, and trainers will go to the Del Prado hotel this morning and rest there until game time.

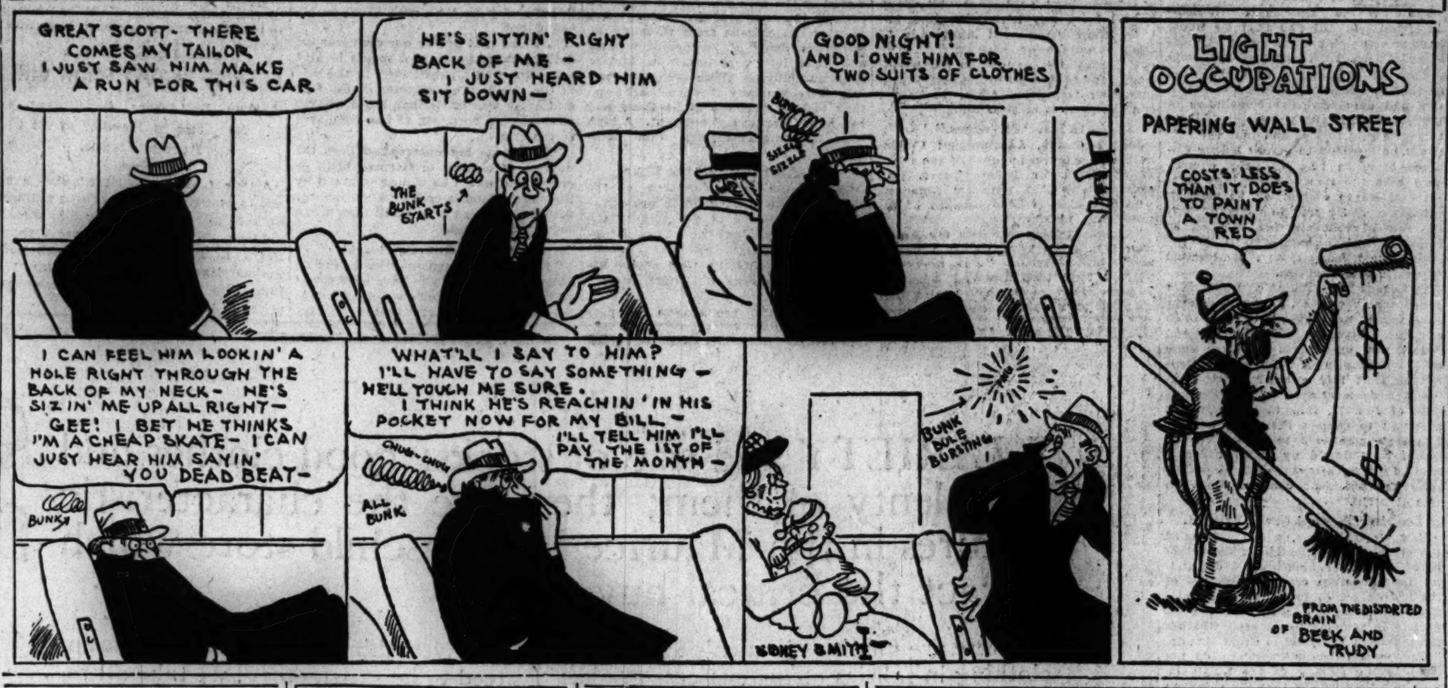

DE PAUL U. PICKS CAPTAIN.

Hal (Smaltz) Keegan was chosen captain of the De Paul university eleven yesterday at a meeting of the team. The north side collegians will play their first game against Northwestern college at Naperville today. Keegan won the captaincy after a toss of the coin with Tommy Breen. Each had tied in the vote. Father Gorman, athletic director, will be in charge of the squad. Coach Paupa will direct matters for the academy players in their game this afternoon on the north side.

NEBRASKA MEN IN PORTLAND

Portland, Ore., Oct. 20.—The Nebraska yell reverberating through the union station today startled the dusky porters and announced the arrival of the University of Nebraska football team for its game with the Oregon Aggies here tomorrow. Twenty-seven husky youths and seventy-three rooters with 100 horsepower lungs tumbled from a special train and marched up the streets.

BY MAROON.

When Maroons and Purple clash this afternoon it is not going to be a practice game for Stagg's men or a contest in which Northwestern is beaten before it goes on the field, as has been the case in other seasons, when Stagg's team was a topheavy favorite.

Nevertheless, every factor seems to favor the Maroons. Chicago is heavier in every position except full back, and has an average advantage of seventeen pounds. The Maroons will have at least five veterans in the game at the start, while only three men from last year's Evanston crew will be on the field when the whistle blows.

Third Game for Maroons.

The Maroons also have the advantage of playing on their own field, and are competing in their third game, while it will be the second appearance of Murphy's men. Unless a strong wind dries out the field, the weight of the Maroons will give them a big advantage if a gummy gridiron necessitates the straight game.

There is considerable betting on the game, but Maroon students are not putting up big quantities, for Purple enthusiasts are asking 2 to 1 and even 3 to 1. A freak bet at Evanston yesterday was a $10 wager against $100 that Northwestern would win by ten points.

Stagg Withholds Lineup.

Coach Stagg did not announce his lineup last night, but it will be similar to the front that faced Indiana last week. Gorgas may displace Bondzinski at guard and Schafer is picked for the left half berth for the first quarter. Center Fisher probably will be held on the side lines unless needed badly. Gordon, Cahn, and Norgren, crippled backs, all were in suits last night, but are not in condition to play.

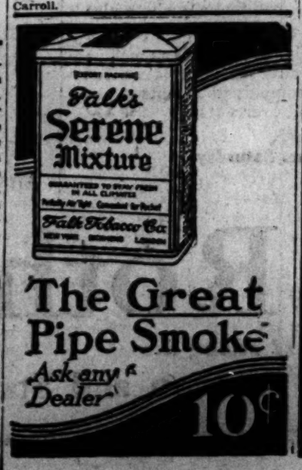

NOTES OF THE GRIDIRON.

Iggorotas will play their third game of the season tomorrow against the Stewart A. C. at De Paul university field.

Mike McDermott, champion breast stroke swimmer, will make his debut as a football player tomorrow, playing with the Cornell-Hamburgs against the Melrose A. C. at Beutner playgrounds, Thirty-third street and Wentworth avenue. McDermott will play full back. The Wallace A. C.-Blue Bell A. C. game of the Chicago Independent Football league will be the curtain raiser.

Perez vs. Carroll Today.

Father Perez council nine will compete for the championship of the Knights of Columbus league, playing Charles Carroll today at Garden City park, Forty-seventh avenue and Lake street. Batteries will be Ormsby and Dixon for Perez and Ryan and Doyle for Carroll.

ZUPPKE'S MEN FEAR TILT WITH BUCKEYES; RUNDQUIST MISSING

Urbana, Ill., Oct. 20.—With "Swede" Rundquist, Illinois' best lineman, the latest addition to the hospital list, the local gloom is complete. Rundquist tore a ligament and it is said he will be a side line ornament for two or three weeks.

Rundquist is only one of Zuppke's regulars announced to be out of it for tomorrow. The list includes Halas, back; Kraft, end; Potter, guard; Charpier, center; and Christensen, end.

It is not strange that the Illini are scared to death on the eve of the Ohio game even if the Buckeyes themselves are not boasting. The fact that a special train and band and rooters come tomorrow to "help beat Illinois on its own field" is taken to mean Coach Wilce expects to slip one over.

Ohio players arrived this forenoon and took an afternoon workout. Snow fell all day and the field may be heavy. Lineups:

Oakland, Cal., Oct. 20.—Two American swimming records and one Pacific coast record were made here today by Miss Francis Cowells, a San Francisco girl. She set new marks in the 440, 500, and 220 yard distances. Miss Cowell's time in the 440 yard swim, which is a new American record, was 6:59 1-5. YALE TROUNCES VIRGINIA POLY BY 19-0 COUNT

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 20.—Yale's eleven defeated Virginia Polytechnic institute on a rain soaked gridiron today, 19 to 0. Yale scored three touchdowns and kicked one goal, while the southerners never seriously threatened to score.

A fog swept in over the rim of the bowl, a fine drizzle fell during most of the game, and the sultry weather handicapped the players. The slippery field slowed up the Eli attack, and the backs frequently stumbled and fell.

Yale started off by marching up and down the field twice in the first period for touchdowns. The plays were mostly short line plunges. After this Yale faltered, and the remainder of the game was ragged. The Virginia line charged quickly and, on many occasions, attacked the Yale runner before the offense had actually started.

The prettiest play occurred in the third period, when Legore threw a forward pass to Gates, who scored a touchdown with not an opposing player near. The pass was a fifteen yard heave over the goal line.

At "Justice" Thursday night a lady behind us was moved to extreme mirth by Mr. Barrymore's gait as he walked from the prisoners' dock at the end of Act. 2. A lady in front of us laughed her head off when he pounded on his cell door in Act. 3. But neither lady was heard even to chuckle when they brought him in with his neck broken in the last act, which piece of business was, to our notion, the most comical thing in the entire farce.

BILLY NIEL OF PENN A PRO.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 20.—Pennsylvania's football eleven took a smash in the face today when it learned that Billy Niel, husky right guard, has been disqualified for professionalism. This is the second guard lost by Folwell and, coming on the eve of the important contest with Pennsylvania State, is particularly disconcerting.

BY OTTO A. ENGEL.

Second round contests in the Chicago High School Football league were cut almost in half by the continuous downpour of yesterday. Four games scheduled at Weeghman park for this morning and afternoon were canceled when the northwest side centralized football committee decided that $300 asked for the rental of the National league ball park was exorbitant.

President Weeghman charged the youngsters $200 for playing those four games last Saturday but stipulated that in the event of rain or a heavy field the charge would be $100 more. The situation is this: Weeghman doesn't care to have the field cut up, while the high schoolers haven't another available inclosed field on the north side.

May Move to Tigers' Park.

Tigers' park at Forty-seventh avenue and Lake street has been used in recent years for football, but baseball still occupies the stage there and probably will continue for another week. After that the committee hopes to play most of its November games there, despite the fact that facilities aren't the best in the world.

As a result of the postponement all north side contests will be advanced a week. As Nov. 18 was left open by the football committee, the final sectional combats will be played on that day and no doubling up will be necessary, unless weather interferes.

Title in Balance Today.

Paradoxical as it may seem, Englewood and Hyde Park heavyweights will hook up in a game which may settle the southern title during the second week of play. Coach Baradell of Englewood has drilled his team to the limit for this combat and realizes that Hyde Park must be beaten before he can claim the second championship. Arrangements were made at a massmeeting yesterday to bring 1,200 Englewood students to the contest, which will be the feature of a four act drama at the Normal ball park, Seventy-first and Racine.

"Centralized" football will be given its first test on the south side, and it looks as if the entire seating capacity will be taxed. Hyde Park is expected to attract around 1,500 students for the two games in which its teams will participate.

University High, last year's Suburban league champion, will met its first real opposition by playing Evanston High at Stagg field in a morning tilt.

GERMANS UNITED IN CINCINNATI AGAINST WILSON

War Partisanship Disgusts Old Time Teuton-American Families.

This is the third of a series of dispatches from Mr. Henning outlining the present political situation as he finds it in the various midwestern states.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—Spend a day in Cincinnati and you will understand why Americans of Teutonic extraction intend to vote for Mr. Hughes for president; why they are doing all they can to compass the defeat of Woodrow Wilson.

In Cincinnati every other person you meet is of German ancestry. They are the descendants of Germans who have emigrated to this country in ever increasing numbers since colonial days. Their forbears by the thousands fought to free the colonies from England and fought to preserve the union. There are no more patriotic Americans than these Cincinnati men and women of German descent.

Throughout Ohio the voters of German and Hungarian extraction are against Wilson. Even those of Democratic affiliation in the northern and western counties join with their Republican brethren of Cincinnati in condemning the president.

Sympathy with Kindred.

They are against Wilson because they regard him unneutral, a partisan of Great Britain and her allies. They are for Hughes not because they want a pro-German president, which they have no reason to think he would be, but because they believe he would preserve an unimpeachable neutrality and treat all the belligerents alike.

The Americans of German birth and ancestry with whom I talked here evinced the same natural sympathy with their kindred that is manifested by the Americans of English birth and ancestry. They condemned the unneutral attitude of the president in terms no stronger than those employed by thousands of Americans of no particular sympathies whose patriotism has been outraged by the spectacle of the United States, the most powerful neutral in the world and the greatest republic in history, being made the handmaiden of Great Britain in this world war.

Object to Inconsistency.

The average Cincinnati German-American will tell you that he would have no complaint of the action of President Wilson in demanding the compliance of submarines with the rules of visit and search provided the executive had demanded the compliance of British cruisers with the rules of blockade. He said to England that the rule might be modified to permit a long distance blockade because strict compliance with the rule would expose British cruisers to destruction by German submarines. He said to Germany that the rule of visit and search must be complied with although it would expose German submarines to destruction by armed merchantmen.

Americans of Teutonic sympathies hoped that the president would declare submarines not subject to the rules established before their development and follow this up by keeping Americans off merchantmen of belligerent nationality. That this was not unreasonable was demonstrated by the Lansing note of Jan. 18, 1916, in which it was proposed to change the rules, and by Lansing's admission that such change would be followed by warning Americans to shun armed ships. A month later the president changed front on this question.

Leaning Toward Great Britain.

Now Great Britain, which applauded the president's application of the established rules to submarines, is demanding that undersea craft be deprived of the immunities conferred by those rules upon belligerent warships in neutral ports. It remains to be seen whether the president will yield to Great Britain.

Cincinnati German-Americans do not condone the sinking of the Lusitania, although they believe that the president should have been as ready to sanction changes of the rules for the benefit of Germany as for the benefit of England and therefore should have withdrawn the protection afforded by neutral passengers to the merchant vessels carrying arms and ammunition to the allies.

They also believe that the president could have compelled Great Britain to cease hed depredations upon American trade, censorship and confiscation of American mails, invasion of American sovereignty and blacklisting of American firms had he not been secretly partial to the allies.

Hughes' Statement Accepted.

"What Mr. Hughes said the other day about the course he would have followed when he was questioned concerning the Lusitania tragedy I do not think has cost him the friendship of any Americans of German sympathies," said Max Bergheim, editor of the Cincinnati Freie Presse. He said he would have had so strong a policy, so American a policy, in his state department, if he had been president, that such an incident would never have happened. That is the kind of policy we want to see in our foreign affairs.

"I don't know any German-Americans, though I know a lot of Americans of German birth or descent. Similarly, I don't know any Irish-Americans, but I do know some good Americans of Irish parentage or Irish birth. I do not permit the expression 'German-American' to be used in the newspapers published from this office, because I contend there is no such thing."

Are Not "Perjurers."

John Schwaab, a prominent Cincinnati lawyer and a member of the board of education for twenty years, proclaimed himself a patriotic American who is against Wilson because of the president's unneutrality.

"The man who questions my American loyalty or who doubts it insults me," he asserted. "For thirty-one years I have been a voting American citizen. Do these slanderers think that when we grown men, capable of reasoning and discriminating, hold up our right hands and swore allegiance to the United States and repudiated all allegiance to any foreign power, we did not mean what we said? Do they think we are perjurers and traitors or that we didn't know what we were doing?

"I should rather be dead than vote for President Wilson. I cannot and don't see how any other citizen of German origin can indorse the hypocritical record of the man who said it would be beneath the dignity of the United States to warn its citizens from traveling on passenger ships of belligerent nations and then left unprotected in Mexico American citizens whose lives and property were at stake there, telling them they had no business to be there and had better get out and stay out. A high ideal of national dignity that indicates!"

Pro-American All the Time.

One of the great financiers of the country is Jacob G. Schmidlapp, chairman of the board of directors of the Union Savings Bank and Trust Company of Cincinnati. He gave me an extremely enlightening view of the attitude of Americans of German parentage.

"I am neither pro-German nor pro-English," he said. "I am pro-American all the time. There are no more independent voters than those of German stock.

Vindicated by History.

"Whenever the question is brought up to me concerning the position the German would take in case of a controversy with his native country I always say that history here alone will answer it.

"Washington thought so much of their loyalty that he used them as his bodyguard.

"I recall that during our civil war we did not think much of a man's loyalty who furnished a substitute. In the war of the rebellion one-quarter of the federal army was of German blood, 200,000 were foreign born, six to one compared to the English.

"As far as my observation goes the number of citizens of German birth or origin who would be willing to stand by their fatherland in case of a controversy with this country is so small that it can hardly be counted.

Ammunition Killings.

"For the Germans marooned here on account of the war who have been found guilty of abusing their neutrality I cannot hold the Germans in the country responsible, but we learn, as Lloyd-George said the other day, that those working in the ammunition factories are just as much entitled to credit for the killing of the enemy, which means the killing of the Germans, as are those in the trenches, and computed in this way we have furnished the allies approximately from one-half to three-quarters of a million men.

"Is it therefore surprising that the brothers of those who are being killed by this ammunition and who are forced to remain here sometimes lose their temper and their judgment?"

VETO BY WOMEN FOR AMENDMENT DEMANDING VOTE

This Action and Politics Split Convention—Plan to Aid Illegitimate Child.

BILL PROVIDES IT PARENTS.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—Politics nearly disrupted the state suffrage convention today and policy caused a split in the state association. Both questions were brought into the discussion in spite of efforts to prevent it.

Mrs. Catherine Waugh McCulloch made a strong appeal for the introduction of a suffrage amendment to the constitution in the state legislature this winter. Mrs. Grace Wilbur Trout, who is to be the new president and who controls the convention, said the introduction of the amendment or even the passage of it by the legislature would be suicidal. Its ratification by the people would be impossible, she said.

Will Organize State Alliance.

After the meeting Mrs. McCulloch announced she would organize a new state suffrage association. It is to be called the Suffrage Amendment alliance, and its only object will be the passage of the state suffrage amendment. The alliance will conduct a strenuous campaign in Springfield when the legislature meets, Mrs. McCulloch said.

Mrs. McCulloch did not give an amendment resolution to the resolutions committee. In past conventions she has done so, and the association has turned it down. Noon today was the last hour for presenting resolutions to the committee. Mrs. McCulloch left tonight for Chicago.

A hasty adjournment prevented the association from going on record as to how it wants to work for full suffrage. Mrs. Trout is anxious to have the matter left to the new state board.

If any policy is established it will be for either a constitutional convention or an amendment to the amending clause of the constitution. Mrs. Trout favors the former, but several of the women are for the amendment to the amending clause.

Urges an Amendment.

"The quickest way," Mrs. McCulloch said, "is by a suffrage amendment. Many of the pioneers will not live for full suffrage if they have to wait for those other methods. Whatever you do, do not throw a stone in the way of us who are working for the constitutional amendment."

"It would be absolutely impossible to pass this amendment in the legislature," Mrs. Trout replied. "Many of our loyal friends there would hesitate before letting the question go to the people at this time, when we would have to secure a majority of the votes cast at the election. No state ever has won suffrage with such a handicap. A defeat would be a humiliating blow."

There was an indication of the strength of Mrs. Trout by the vote of 91 to 15 to adjourn the meeting and stop the debate.

Dispute Over Politics.

It was a eulogy of Gov. Dunne in a speech written by Lewis G. Stevenson, secretary of state, that started the political discussion. At the close of the speech Mrs. McCulloch, who is a Democratic candidate for presidential elector, moved that the speech be printed and distributed in the suffrage campaign states. Mrs. Lucina Irish, representing the Republicans, made an amendment providing that if the motion passed the speech to follow, by W. A. Northcott, a Republican, be printed also.

"I suggest you wait until you have heard the next speech," said Mrs. George Bass, member of the national Democratic campaign committee.

There was an attempt to prevent a vote on the whole question until both speeches had been heard, but that lost. Then the amendment of Mrs. Irish lost and Mrs. McCulloch's motion to print the speech carried.

Dunne Champion of Women.

Mr. Stevenson said that great pressure had been brought upon the governor to get him to veto the suffrage bill. He said that the women owed much to Gov. Dunne for signing the bill.

Then former Lieut. Gov. Northcott made an out and out political speech.

"The title looked harmless," Mrs. Bass said. "Mr. Stevenson made no party allusions and his remarks about Gov. Dunne would not seem to me to call for a party speech."

Several Republican women arose to defend the speaker. Dr. Lucy Waite asked that the part of Mrs. McCulloch's motion about not printing the speech be withdrawn.

"It doesn't sound courteous to me," she said.

By a vote of the convention it was withdrawn. Then a motion to stop the debate was passed and the motion of thanks was carried.

Would Aid Illegitimate Child.

The association will back a bill which will wipe out the laws on illegitimacy in Illinois by declaring the parents of a child born out of wedlock to be legally husband and wife at the time the child was born.

Dr. Lucy Waite announced she would introduce the measure at the next session of the legislature. Her action was approved by a vote of the delegates.

Support National Suffrage.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 20.—The National American Woman Suffrage association announced tonight that 370 candidates for congress had declared for a federal suffrage amendment on the responses to a query addressed to the nominees and of all parties in the 435 congressional districts. Thirty-six said they would oppose such an amendment and the remainder either made noncommittal answers or have not replied.

HELP ARMENIANS

Charles G. Dawes Issues Appeal on Behalf of Starving Christians.

BY CHARLES G. DAWES.

TODAY and tomorrow are the days set aside by the president of the United States and the mayor of Chicago as subscription days for the relief of the Armenians and Syrians.

The oldest Christian nation in the world is being exterminated. The Syrians are dying of starvation.

Ambassador Morgenthau says $5,000,000 will be necessary to relieve and rehabilitate these people.

The United States has set aside a naval collier to carry supplies direct to Beirut, there to be distributed by the American Red Cross.

Will Chicago do its share in this national obligation?

In Persia $5 will keep 400 people alive a day or thirteen people a month.

In Turkey $5 will keep eighty-three people alive a day or three people a month.

All contributions should be sent to Harry A. Wheeler, Union Trust company.

A mass meeting will be held today by the Assyrians at Bush temple, Clark street and Chicago avenue. Resolutions of appreciation will be passed and sent to the president of the United States and to the mayor of Chicago for their aid.

IF THE 'OLD MAN' READS THIS--BAM!

And Mrs. Ernst Figures on That 295 Acres and the $800 in the Bank.

Mary Ernst is a candid woman even if she lacks some of the other admirable qualities. Her shortcomings are taken on her own valuation.

In other times, before her husband, Edward O. Ernst of Oak Park, sought the divorce court, perhaps it would not have been well even to make the unchivalrous suggestion that Mary was not good. But yesterday Mary Ernst's own written sentiments came to view before Judge Gridley. And the judge gave Mary the benefit of her undoubted frankness. Edward gets a divorce.

Mary has been living at 1012 East Washington street, in Springfield. It was from there she penned her sentiments that caused the court to all but blush.

Light and Chatty.

"I received your kind welcome letter [there is a light and chatty mood as she begins her revelation to her husband] and was glad to hear from you.

"I am going to tell right now that I am not a good woman and you may do just as you please. You may have Edna any time you want her. [Edna is their daughter.] But Edna has never seen me do anything wrong, so don't worry about her. I am not going back to Chicago again, because I have found another man I love better than you. I am telling you just what I mean.

Never True to Him.

"Freda is going to tell you everything about me, even though I have given her all the money I have made and she is out of debt, so of course she doesn't care. Thus you and I can call it quits, and you may have the baby any time.

"Well, Edna is growing sleepy. I hope you will forgive me, but I never have been true to you. So, good-by, with love, from Edna. Write if you wish. Your once wife, MAE ERNST."

Lands an Old One.

There was still more frankness when Mary Ernst broke the news that she was planning another marriage, this time with an old man with a good farm and small prospects of a long life. Listen:

"My Dear Husband: I received your card and was very glad to hear from you. I am very sorry to hear you have been ill.

"Well, Ed, I have fallen into something very good, but the old man is certainly old. He has 295 acres of land, another farm, and $800 in the bank. He wants me to marry him, and I think I shall. I will get all he has, and then I will square all your debts. I will make you and our baby happy yet.

"The old man is 66 years old, and you know he isn't going to live very long, for he is about to be operated upon and may never come out of it. But I want his name first, for I want what he leaves. Love to you and the baby. Kisses for both."

And the only impending disaster might be that of the "old man" reading about it in the papers.

BAKERS TO INAUGURATE FIGHT

Bread is now selling in Chicago for one-half a cent per ounce. A year ago bread sold for less than one-third of a cent per ounce. In short, Chicago is paying 8 cents for the same loaf it formerly bought for 5 cents.

These startling facts were revealed last night by Mrs. J. C. Bley, president of the Housewives' league, and are founded on her personal investigation.

"Some days ago," said Mrs. Bley, "a representative of one of the big baking companies who appeared before our league talked of the advantage of buying the 10 cent loaf. He made the claim it weighed 24 ounces, although 10 cents' worth of bread heretofore was supposed to be 32 ounces.

She Makes Inquiry.

"After his speech I made an inquiry. I bought some of the bread his company makes and sells for 10 cents a loaf. Instead of the loaf weighing even twenty-four ounces as he had said, which would have been a big advance in price, I found that it weighed but twenty ounces.

"In other words we are paying one-half of a cent an ounce for our bread. The queer part of it was that the label on that loaf read "one pound" while the loaf weighed twenty ounces."

No Steps for Embargo.

Mrs. Bley said the Housewives' league does not intend at present to join the bakers in the move for an embargo on wheat shipments. She felt, she said, that with the advancing price of flour, sugar, and other necessities bakers are entitled to advance prices so long as they do so under proper labels.

Organized bakers of Chicago continued to plan for their fight on the leaping prices of flour and wheat. The next move will be taken at a meeting of the Chicago Master Bakers' association Monday, when appeals will be made to Chicago congressmen to start the movement for an embargo.

Acting on the report by President E. F. Ladd of the North Dakota Agricultural college showing losses to the farmers and to consumers by the system of grading wheat, Miss Florence King of the Woman's Association of Commerce has announced the intention of that organization to send a committee today to the United States district attorney to protest in the name of the women of Chicago.

"A PERFECT STRANGER," BUT SHE SEEMED TO LIKE HIM.

Anyway She Wrote Him Heaps of Letters and Now They Figure in the Divorce Suit That's Pending.

That old chiffonier contained just bundles of letters from "the other woman" and they may prove the best witness in the divorce suit brought by Mrs. Clara M. Siegert against her husband, Henry M. Siegert, of 4204 Moody avenue in Judge Denis E. Sullivan's court. The "other woman" was Marie Block, who lives in Hawthorne. Excerpts from the letters follow:

"I will come out Sunday to meet you. I don't think I will go into the house because I don't like the idea of that. You know I am a girl and it is up to me to look out for myself. Not that I mistrust you in any way though, after all you've said. You are only a perfect stranger to me.

"I don't delight in leading any one on like most girls do, but tell just exactly how I feel about things. Well, dear Henry, you are very complimentary. You like to tell me the nice things and I like to hear them. But remember, I was born on the Fourth of July and am very independent. Sorry you were peeved because I didn't kiss you good night. I never do anything like that. I never show my love for any one unless I am absolutely sure they like me. I think when a girl is engaged to a fellow then is the time to show her love. Still, don't be discouraged, for I can be just as affectionate as the next one."

Cleveland, O., Oct. 20.—Fourteen men faced death today in Lake Erie when the lumber steamer, Marshall F. Butters, foundered off southeast shoals in a sixty mile gale. Three of the crew, picked up by the steamer Billings, were brought to this port. It is believed the rest of the crew were rescued by the steamer F. G. Hartwell, bound for Fairport.

Mrs. Wales Reweds Eloper F. J. Scott After Dual Divorce

That Crown Point 2 A. M. Affair Turns New Angle.

IT ALL ENDS WELL

There probably is still in existence a saying that "if at first you don't succeed, try again." However, it doesn't matter, for Mrs. Harriet Wales and Fred J. Scott were married yesterday in Indiana. It being the second time, they hope it will stick.

The point is Mr. Scott and Mrs. Wales have been married before in Indiana. But on the other occasion Mrs. Wales had another husband. This is a thing that requires consideration—this marrying two husbands.

The First Effort.

Until Oct. 18 Harry Wales was the other husband. Since Oct. 18 he has been a bachelor. But while Mrs. Wales was his wife she was accused of indiscretions, the last of which was to meet Mr. Scott, who is a pit trader for Lamson Bros. & Co., in the Green Mill gardens.

Disregarding the fact that Mrs. Wales had a husband, he being out of town, Scott proposed, and at 2 o'clock in the morning a gay and festive party routed out the clerks of courts and justice of the peace in Crown Point, Ind., and Mrs. Wales became Mrs. Scott, or Scott became Mr. Wales II., or something.

Pair of Divorces, Then—

The whole business got into the divorce courts when Wales met his wife coming home as he was going to business. She said she'd been visiting her sister. But that failed. Wales brought up a statutory charge. Scott also sued for divorce. There was a bungle of names calculated to mislead the feeble minded reporters, but the bungle came out in print all right, and there were two divorces.

So—

Yesterday Mrs. Wales and Scott, with the slate clear, went to Valparaiso, Ind., and tried it again. She is now Mrs. Scott. And whom Indiana has put together, let no man, etc.

CHICAGO HAS "EVERGLADES," LAMARIE AVENUE FOLK SAY.

Call "Boggy" Thoroughfare Likely Fate of Many Missing Persons—But Hear Them Tell It.

Seeing America first might be a crystallized journey right in Chicago, according to residents of Laramie avenue, who declare the Florida everglades have nothing on their boggy thoroughfare between Harrison and Madison streets.

"I shouldn't be surprised if upon an examination after the lakes, sloughs, bogs, and marshes are drained," said a citizen of the neighborhood, "all the lost persons of Chicago are found imbedded in the tenacious clayholes.

"The other day a furniture van almost sank out of sight before wrecking apparatus could be obtained. And then we had a dickens of a time keeping the wrecking machine from going out of sight. A good swimmer had to take out the lifeline to the driver of the van. It was a wonder the alligators didn't get him."

Residents say they would like to have something done. The sidewalks are somewhat incoherent, in a manner of speaking, inasmuch as they occur only now and then. It is difficult to get along without hip boots and waterwings.

It is felt if the city inspectors would only take a boat before navigation closes and look the street over they might agree on some repairs. Of course, when winter sets in the citizens can skate home.

RAIN WATER BACKS UP INTO LOOP BASEMENT.

Engine Room of Manhattan Building Flooded—Snow Flurries in the Late Afternoon.

In the rainstorm yesterday a sewer "backed up," flooding the engine room in the basement of the Manhattan building at 431 South Dearborn street. Fires in the boilers were extinguished, and for a time the power became so weak the elevator service was threatened.

In the afternoon the rain formed into light sleet and occasional snow flurries. The expected "mantle of snow," however, failed to mantle.

A foretaste of winter was given midwestern states from the Canadian border to Texas yesterday. The coldest spot on the domestic map was at Devils Lake, N. D., where the mercury registered 6 degrees.

Snow blanketed northern Minnesota. It fell in Illinois, Iowa, and Indiana. At Springfield, Ill., the snow was said to be the earliest on record.

The entire southwest was in the grip of a storm wave, with considerable snow.

LABOR MAN FOUND GUILTY.

Reinholt Lamment of Lithographers' Union Convicted of Shooting Adolph Boetcher.

Reinholt Lamment, a member of the lithographers' union, was found guilty of assault with intent to murder last night by a jury in Judge Pam's court. The punishment is fixed by statute at from one to fourteen years. Lamment shot and seriously wounded Adolph Boetcher, former president of the labor organization, at a meeting at 18 West Adams street.

FIND GAS LEAK WITH MATCH.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Weber, 3096 North Halsted street, smelled gas last night. They looked for it with a match. Found it. Hospital.

MARVELOUS VISION OF NIAGARA FALLS AT NIGHT

Illuminated Picture Taken with Aid of Scheme Invented by Will J. Davis Jr., of Chicago.

The picture shows Niagara falls in all its beauty illuminated at night. The picture is considered a remarkable photographic achievement. About fifty feet behind the position of the camera are a bank of thirty arc lights, and to the right of the picture, directly at the foot of the falls, there are two banks of light with about fifteen arcs in each bank. In the distance is shown a line of lights of the upper steel arch bridge, also a portion of Prospect park. To the extreme right of the photo is the city of Niagara Falls.

The illumination, invented by Will J. Davis Jr. of Chicago, illustrates the tremendous force of electricity generated by the falls. It is said that there is more electric power supplied by the falls than all the other electric generating plants in the country combined. In taking the picture there was a total exposure of four minutes, one minute before the lights were switched on and three minutes after.

SEX PROBLEM WORRIES CITY

Anonymous Letter Raises Questions with the Merit Board of Vacancies.

Pity the poor city civil service commission! It has a real sex problem on its hands.

As the result of an anonymous letter sent THE TRIBUNE yesterday, President Percy B. Coffin will ask for legal advice on the question whether a department head can designate whether he wishes a man or a woman certified to a vacancy in his office.

"It always has been done," he said. "There is a space on the requisition blank in which the appointed officer has the right to designate whether he wants a man or a woman. It's been done during all the nineteen years that I know about civil service matters. But now we'll have to have it looked up to determine whether it is legal."

Makes Many Charges.

The anonymous letter made a long list of charges in connection with an examination held on Wednesday for "senior bookkeepers, female." Among the charges were these:

"That the examination was thrown open to all comers, although it should have been promotional from the ranks of junior bookkeepers.

"That it was thrown open in this way to permit two women favorites of the administration to take it.

"That at least one of the women had been given advance information concerning the questions to be asked.

"That it was a 'frameup' and that the results will show the two women at the head of the list."

Names the "Favorites."

A part of the letter read:

"The favorites are Ruth Lindstrom, friend of Fred Lundin, who has held a sixty day job as secretary to President Faherty of the board of local improvements ever since 'Big Bill' took office, and Gertie Carrington, sister-in-law of A. Sheldon Clark, whom 'Big Bill' tried to place on the board of education. Mr. Clark is said to have contributed $5,000 to 'Big Bill's' campaign fund, and as a reward therefor Miss Carrington must be taken care of. Miss Carrington, like Miss Lindstrom, has been a sixty day appointee ever since 'Big Bill' took office, now working in the office of the head accountant of the local board."

President Coffin explained that there were no women junior bookkeepers eligible to take a promotional examination because none had served her two years in that lower grade.

YESSIR, HILL'S IN BAD AGAIN.

Son of Banker Once More Gets Into Trouble Over Bogus Checks and Dad Again Stands Aloof.

Harvey Hill, son of Alonzo H. Hill, banker, again is in trouble with bogus checks and again his father has refused to intercede.

Yesterday young Hill was arraigned before Judge Beckwith on charges preferred by Martin Grosse, 80 South Dearborn street. This charge was continued until Nov. 2 on agreement with the Milwaukee police, who have a warrant for Hill on a bogus check charge. In company with a policeman, Hill started for Milwaukee late in the afternoon.

FEAR AIR RAID AT HALIFAX?

All Lights, Except a Few Shaded Ones, Ordered Turned Off, but No Reason Is Given for the Move.

HALIFAX, N. S., Oct. 20.—All lights, except a few shaded ones in the west and north ends, have again been ordered turned off in the streets of this city at night and all blinds must be drawn, according to orders just sent out from military headquarters.

"The lights will be turned out because the naval and military authorities feel that it is necessary," is the only statement made by headquarters.

CHURCH DROPS SENIORITY RULE

Presiding Bishop Hereafter to Be Elected—Clergy Pension Wins.

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—Radical action was taken today by the house of bishops of the Protestant Episcopal convention in deciding on the election hereafter of the presiding bishop of the church, instead of allowing the position to be bestowed by seniority, as has hitherto been the case.

The Right Rev. Daniel S. Tuttle, bishop of Missouri, is now the presiding bishop. He is 80 years of age. When he dies the new rule will go into effect.

Bishop Tuttle has been given distinguished honors at this convention and on next Monday will be given a public reception by the joint houses of the bishops and deputies.

Next Meeting at Detroit.

Detroit has been decided on by the bishops as the place for the next general convention. Philadelphia was the only other contestant. The house of deputies is expected to ratify the decision tomorrow.

Bishop Arthur S. Lloyd was elected today president of the board of missions with headquarters in New York. He was nominated yesterday by the committee before the house of deputies. His reelection after a term of six years of service was deemed significant, inasmuch as he had been made the subject of criticism at the time of the holding of the interdenominational conference at Panama.

At the time it was decided to send representatives to the Panama conference several bishops and certain prominent clergymen, including the Rev. Dr. Manning of New York, withdrew from the board.

It was regarded as another feature of significance that the house of bishops recommended the election of a missionary bishop to the Canal Zone.

Clergy Pension Plan Carries.

The entire scheme of clergy pensions was adopted by the house of deputies by a standing vote, there being only one who dissented. He was said to have been the deputy from Cuba.

When the subject was brought up early in the day there was considerable opposition manifested and the plan was adopted by a count vote of 275 to 175. Because of the criticisms on plan to take the restriction off from the maximum salary, allowing it under certain conditions to rise above the $2,000 mark, while the minimum pension was fixed at $600, permission was granted to reopen the question in the afternoon session. Bishop William Lawrence, head of the fund, was given a demonstration, all standing and applauding him.

Baptist Association Officers.

Bloomington, Ill., Oct. 20.—The Illinois state Baptist convention at Alton elected the following officers: President, E. L. Chapin, Springfield; vice presidents, S. J. Skevington, Chicago; F. E. R. Miller, Elgin; J. M. Stifler, Evanston; Virgil V. Johnson, Rockford; secretary, E. K. Masterson, Normal; assistant secretary, N. J. Hilton, Lincoln; treasurer, L. K. Evans, El Paso.

N. W. WANTS TO ELEVATE.

Seeks Permission to Raise Tracks in Maywood, Melrose and Bellwood.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 20.—The Chicago and Northwestern Railroad company today, on its own initiative, filed with the Illinois public utilities commission a petition asking permission to elevate its tracks in order to eliminate dangerous grade crossings through the township of Proviso and the villages of Maywood, Bellwood, and Melrose, all in Cook county. The petition also affects the Chicago Telephone company, the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, and the West Town Railway company.

HE WON'T TAKE BOYS' AID FUND

Here's the Reason: Somebody Got Some Checks and It's a Mystery.

At 8:30 last evening Joseph J. Topper, manager of the "Russian Juvenile Concert band" of Toronto, called up THE TRIBUNE and said:

"There's an imposter collecting money ostensibly for the benefit of my forty-two boys, who have been stranded at the Grand Pacific hotel since the Chicago men who brought them here closed their engagement at the Strand theater ten days ago. He says his name is James Hanby and he's got two of the boys to go with him on a round of some of the downtown offices and tell a hard luck story.

"He's got about $100, I understand, but no one has been authorized to collect money for us. We're to have a benefit Sunday at the Douglas park auditorium and I don't want these people victimized."

Wants Checks Sent Back.

At 11:30 at night Mr. Topper hurried into THE TRIBUNE office with an envelope containing checks for $105, signed by Mandel Brothers, Hillman's, S. W. Straus & Co., A. A. Sprague II., and half a dozen others.

"Here," he said. "I want THE TRIBUNE to take these and return them. A messenger boy has just brought them to me at the Grand Pacific. He says a young woman at the Palmer house sent him, but he doesn't know who she is.

"I don't know whether this mysterious Mr. Hanby relaly wants to help us or whether he expected to get cash and decided the checks were of no use to him. But he wasn't authorized to make any collections and I don't want to keep the checks. No, I don't want to send them back. I want THE TRIBUNE to do that.

Schiff Their Financier.

"Jacob L. Schiff of 728 West Twelfth street is the only one authorized to handle our finances and if any one wants to make contributions I'd rather they'd make them through him.

"I wish you'd make it clear how I stand in this matter. Will you?"

Topper said he has a contract, signed by three Chicagoans, which guarantees the boys' band $1,000 for two weeks' performances. This, he declares, was ignored by his Chicago sponsors after they had brought the organization to town.

CITY'S Y. M. C. A. IN THE VAN

Chicago Organization's Membership Raised to 23,707 by Ten Days' Campaign.

Chicago has the largest Young Men's Christian association of any city in the world, it was announced last night at the banquet of workers in the ten days-5,000 members campaign. Final reports showed that 5,071 new members were enrolled in the ten days of the campaign just ended. This brought the total membership in Chicago to 23,707. The next city in membership is New York with 22,500 members. T. W. Brophy, a member of the board of trade, obtained 151 new members during the ten days of the campaign. Some 400 workers attended the banquet. W. F. Hypes, sales manager for Marshall Field & Co., was toastmaster.

CANAL BANKS FOR PARKS.

Land along the drainage canal to be used for park purposes has been placed under the direction of the Wilmette park board by trustees of the sanitary district of Chicago. A $100,000 water works plant to supply water for Wilmette is under consideration by the board.

MAYOR'S RULING PUTS PARK BOND ISSUE IN DOUBT

Finance Committee Members to Withhold Support Unless the Situation Clears.

CALL FOR A SPECIAL MEETING.

The proposed $2,450,000 bond issue for playgrounds and bathing beaches is "up in the air," according to the view of the city council committee on finance, because Mayor Thompson holds that the special parks committee cannot legally control expenditures. Members of the finance committee who had intended to do some campaigning for the bond issue declared yesterday they would withhold their support unless the present situation is cleared up.

The committee decided to hold a special meeting at 2 o'clock this afternoon with a view to reaching a working agreement with the administration. It was suggested that an effort be made to have Mayor Thompson present, but this was regarded as a rather forlorn hope.

Another Forlorn Hope.

Some of the aldermen privately expressed the view that the corporation counsel's office might be induced to reverse its opinion on the legality of the special parks committee. Other aldermen regarded this as another forlorn hope, and Ald. John Richert, chairman of the committee, said he was working on a plan which might solve the difficulties.

"Something must be done or the bond issue is likely to be defeated," said Ald. Richert. "The people are asking what they are to do about the question, when it appears that nobody knows who is going to spend this money. Frankly, I don't feel like going out to boost the bond issue unless this matter is cleared up."

Say Mayor Seeks Control.

It has been charged by the mayor's opponents that he is simply seeking to take over the control of expenditures for parks and playgrounds. A similar move, it is declared, is being made by the administration with reference to the waste disposal bureau, and the status of this bureau will also be considered this afternoon.

In an interview given during the day the mayor took a rap at the finance subcommittee for inviting him to sit in with the aldermen in considering important matters.

Same Old Story.

"It's the same old story," said the mayor—"the council wants to trespass on the executive branch of the government and they expect me to trespass on the legislative branch. They want me to allow Ald. Block to assume an executive position as head of the special parks committee and in turn they want me to come down and help with the budget. I don't believe such proceedings are proper."

MOTHER CHEERS UP GIRL WHO SHOT HER FATHER.

Fern Roberts More Cheerful, but She Fears Facing of Assault Charge in Court.

Fern Roberts was less gloomy in the bridewell yesterday. Her mother, Mrs. Fern Espy of New Orleans, was there to cheer up the 16 year old girl who shot her father, Dr. Grant J. Roberts, a dentist.

Mrs. Espey, wearing a heavy veil and a mysterious manner, entered the hospital with her sister, Miss Ella England of 3137 Osgood street. She was directed to the bedside of her daughter.

"O, Honey! Mothers here, and everything will be all right," she said with a kiss and a smile. "I'm going to take you south, and you're going to school and learn everything, Honey. Father will have to pay for it too. If he doesn't"—there was emphasis in her tones—"well, we'll see. I have a great deal to tell."

The girl told a reporter she "made a mess of the job, and it would have been better if father and I were both dead."

"They tell me I must go into court and face a charge," said she, "but I'm under age. Father says he doesn't want to prosecute me, and why should I answer charges?"

Mrs. Espy denied she had said she was glad Fern had shot her father.

The father, who was seen in the hospital, announced he didn't wish to prosecute his daughter. He was willing to accede to his former wife's wishes to place the daughter in an institution—whether this would be state or private has not yet been determined.

SWINDLED TO HELP HER SICK MOTHER, WOMAN ASSERTS.

Mrs. Betta Halse Draws 60 Days in Bridewell for Defrauding Store When Other Offenses Are Cited.

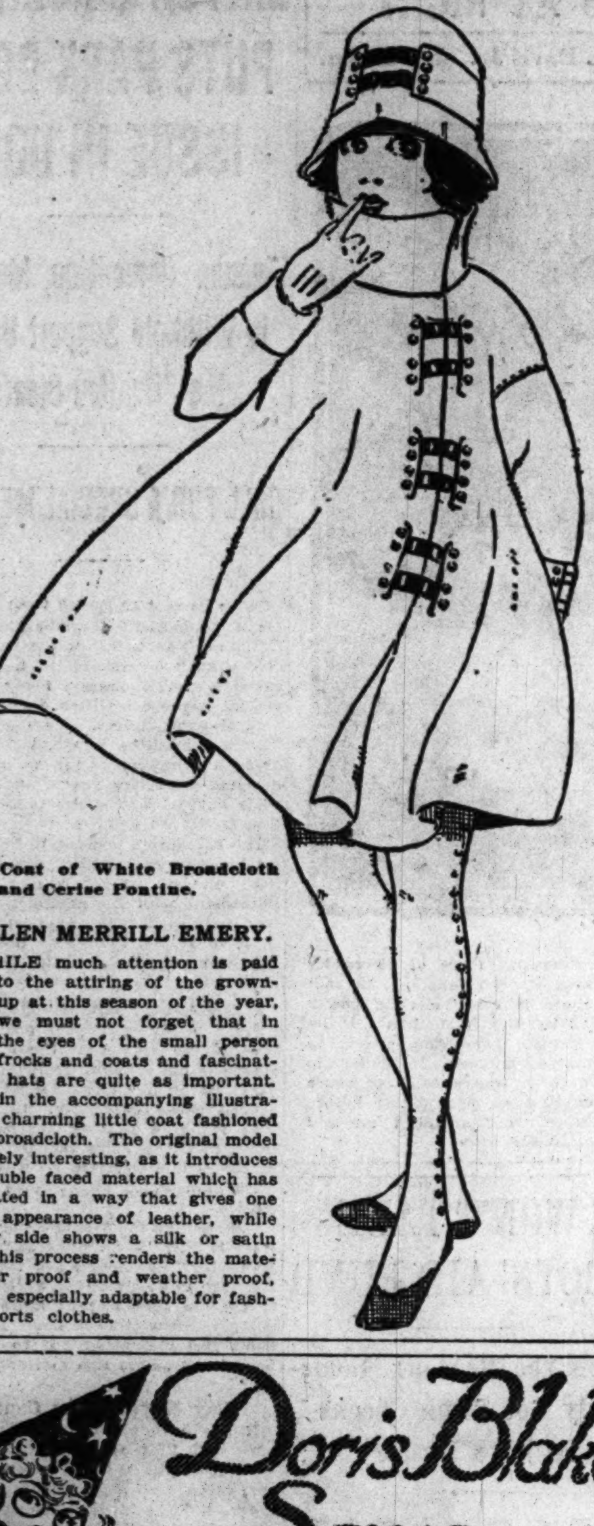

"I'm guilty of obtaining money by false pretenses, but I did it for my poor mother's sake. She is ill and I wanted to get money to send her to a sanitarium," pleaded Mrs. Retta M. Halse, who says her home is in Milwaukee, when she was arraigned before Judge Beckwith yesterday. She was sentenced to sixty days in the bridewell.

"She was arrested twice before for the same kind of an affair," testified E. S. McGuire, a detective for Marshall Field & Co. "She was paroled in December, 1912, and again in December, 1914. She would come into the store and buy an article for 15 or 25 cents, raise her receipt check to $15 or $25, present this check, and demand her money back on an exchange."

FASHION'S BLUE BOOK

Child's Coat of White Broadcloth and Cerise Pontine.

BY HELEN MERRILL EMERY.

WHILE much attention is paid to the attiring of the grown-up at this season of the year, we must not forget that in the eyes of the small person her tiny frocks and coats and fascinating little hats are quite as important.

Shown in the accompanying illustration is a charming little coat fashioned of white broadcloth. The original model is extremely interesting, as it introduces a new double faced material which has been treated in a way that gives one side the appearance of leather, while the other side shows a silk or satin finish. This process renders the material water proof and weather proof, making it especially adaptable for fashioning sports clothes.

Real Love Stories

A Sentimental Journey.

EIGHT years ago my uncle, tired of being the "black sheep" of a rigidly pious family, sold his horses and went to a large city, where he soon worked up through the offices of a well known firm to the position of city salesman.

In a store one day he saw a girl back of the "notion counter" weeping. She was younger than the girls who were collected at the end of the counter to giggle at what the floor walker was telling them about her. He went up to her and asked her to wait on him. The important part of that purchase was that before the change had come back she had stopped sobbing and said she would meet him in H——'s at noon to "talk about the city and things." When he met her, in the noon rush, they were too late for a quiet table in a corner.

She had been in a convent until she went to live with her grandparents on a farm in Wisconsin. There she had no companions. She was never allowed to exchange visits with the girls she had known, and the only spending money she had was what she could get by making cheese for the village store, four miles away.

The day before she decided that she couldn't stand the monotony another minute, so she walked to town, bought a ticket to the city and had 60 cents left when she arrived. The woman in the station washroom had told her how to go to the store and ask for work. It had taken her all morning to find the right man. Finally he handed her a slip of paper saying that she was to be "taken on."

When the floor walker read it he tried to hold her hand, the girls had said catty things, and she just hated the old place.

"Know where you are going tonight?"

"Well, I do," he said. "You're going home."

Then she excitedly tried to explain that she hadn't any money, and that even if she had that she couldn't possibly go back to face them and that monotony all over again. He was arguing with her, when he suddenly realized that they were in the middle of the large room, with a million eyes staring at them. He hustled her out and into a cab that took them to the station.

"You're going home and you're going right now," he said as he bought her ticket. While they waited for the train he told her about how he had left home for the same reasons, how homesick he had been, and how different it had been for a man than it would be for a girl. He put her on the train, asked the porter to take care of her and then telegraphed the ticket agent in M——: "Please see that girl arriving on 9:15 gets home safely."

Two years later he went hunting. A storm came up and in running for shelter he lost his way in the Wisconsin woods. At last he came to a prosy little old farmhouse. An old lady let him, lit a fire to warm him, and called to her granddaughter to bring the quinine.

And the granddaughter was the same girl he had sent home, except that she was not tired, and frightened, and she was very pretty. He spent the rest of his vacation in that ugly farmhouse, that was suddenly the loveliest place on earth. At the end of the month they were married. Once more she came to the city, but she came in a different way to an extremely different place. XX.

Will Show Chicago Plan Film.

"A Tale of One City," a motion picture film of the plan of Chicago will be shown every night next week in the marigold room of the Bismarck garden. There has been a considerable demand for the reissue of these pictures since so many important Chicago plan projects are now occupying the attention of the city.

Chairman Charles H. Wacker of the Chicago plan commission said: "The city is acquiring property in the Twelfth street widening case, the Michigan avenue project is threading its way through court, the great south shore lake front plans are in the council committee on railway terminals, the west side postoffice site matter and forest preserves are being actively prosecuted —all subjects of vital interest, worth, and consequence to all the people of Chicago, rich or poor.

"The production of a city planning project movie has attracted widespread attention and these films have been shown in many civic organizations and theaters in other cities. The idea grew out of the educational work of the Chicago plan commission."

Every One's Got the Big Idea These Days.

BY CINDERELLA.

NEVER heard so much talk before in all my days about "big ideas." Wherever two or three women have their heads gathered together, one or another of them is sure to exclaim: "I have the big idea!"

The other day two such fertile minded geniuses met—it was on some fashionable hospital board—and each declared with passion she had the big idea of the century for a money making scheme for the benefit of the hospital, and that her big idea was necessarily much better than the other's big idea.

Finally they got to comparing notes, when they found that they both had the same idea in captivity, and it was a very good one and will be released upon the public later.

It's very amusing, too, about this allied bazaar, which is coming along in January. All the women who have taken booths are in search of three big ideas and also of women for their committees who will deliver the ideas instead of camping upon the project like a ton of bricks.

Many women are willing to lend their glorious names in a good cause, but when it comes down to actual physical labor and real head work they'd far rather play bridge.

Somebody asked a young woman renowned for her brilliant head work to be an assistant in a certain booth at the allied bazaar. She answered quite frankly that she'd much rather be a general executive at the bazaar.

That's all very well and natural enough, but it's got to be so nowadays that everybody, whether an able executive or not, expects to be the Great Noise and not a very laborious noise at that.

Everybody likes the strong little jobs and nobody wants to be getting all tired out rolling bandages, haranguing carpenters, laying down the law to printers and caterers and musicians; in short, nobody likes to be behind the scenes.

Everybody wants to be inside the little fence with the executives, hearing everything that goes on, and keeping gracefully in the limelight.

But someboyd nas to work, other wise many of our most popular local enterprises will fall flat.

Perhaps they were catting when they said it, but women have often said that Chicago women, having the greatest reputation for leadership and executive ability, were those best able to make others work for them.

There is arumor to the effect that the social service committee of the Children's Memorial hospital will not have its Lake Forest bridge party this fall.

Mrs. Mark Cummings, who lends her country house for this festal happening, will not be home until November, when this house is closed and the trip to Lake Forest rather drear anyway. Other plans are afoot, and the annual hat sale of this same committee, a stirring event of early spring, is to be abandoned this year and a novelty introduced in its place.

Bach and D'Indy in Orchestra's Second

BY FREDERICK DONAGHEY.

MR. STOCK'S second program contains Bach and D'Indy: the former in characteristic manifestation as a writer for instruments, and D'Indy in his only composition of which I am, as yet, aurally cognizant—my cognizance, in this respect, dating from as far back as yesterday afternoon's performance. The juxtaposition of the great old Lutheran and the zealously-Catholic modern is interesting because of something of Romain Rolland's concerning D'Indy which recurs from the fugitive reading of, perhaps, two years ago.

The brilliant author of "Jean-Christophe," D'Indy's most impressive and persuasive advocate, was writing in explanation of the latter's oft-asserted belief that all great art has its inspiration in the church—meaning, of course, HIS church. D'Indy had intolerantly dismissed the claim to greatness of all save one of the composers who were Protestant or Jew. He spared Bach, but not graciously: the cantor, said D'Indy, might be great, but, if so, he was great not because of his religious allegiance, but in spite of the dogmatic and shriveling spirit of the Reformation.

D'Indy's zealotism goes much farther than the amusingly-grudging nature of this tribute to Bach; so far, according to Rolland, as to insist, to give a flaring example, that the greater part of the vast body of folksongs came out of the Gregorian chants, although the evidence seems to indicate the exact contrary.

The fourth suite, which the orchestra has in revival, is, I am certain, among the excellent reasons why D'Indy, however reluctantly, excludes Bach from the condemnation visited upon all other unbelievers. Its ease, joy, beauty, freedom, and spirit might be accepted as the hallmarks of any pagan. Its pages have been sought and copied many times by composers for the theater: operetta has often been the better for virtually-unqualified quotations from the fourth of its five main divisions, containing, in the first of its two minuets, what is, I should say, the loveliest use of this dance-form in the entire literature of music.

The performance, especially from the beginning of the second movement, was exquisite. Mr. Stock and his men are of the definite belief that Bach is a matter of entertainment, and not of punishment: that, in Mr. Krehbiel's phrase, it is music when it is heard.

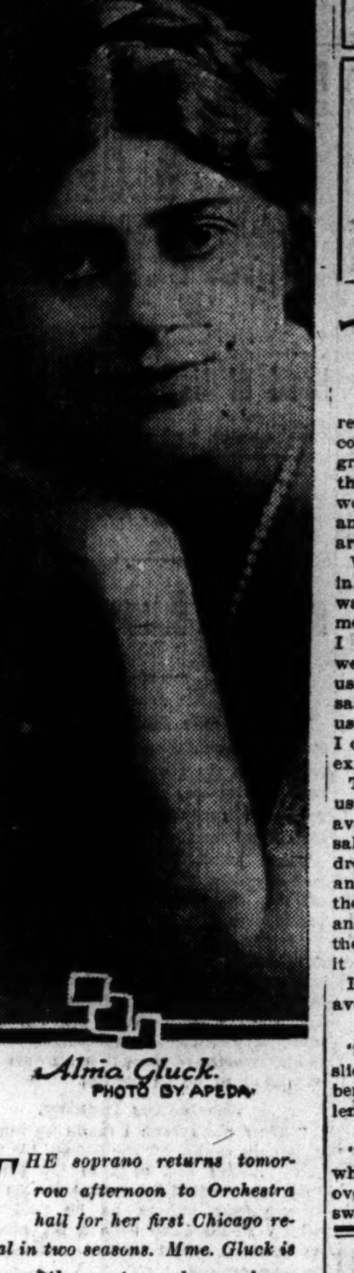

Exquisite is the best word, I think, for yesterday's performance of the week's symphony, also — Schumann's first, which the label-pasters like to call the Spring, although he gave out some views of his on the subject of signboards—something to the effect that he distrusted the composition which called for a title more elaborate than a catalogue-number. The Orchestra got a great deal of warmth and feeling out of the churchly second movement, and fairly danced through the stressed rhythms of the scherzo.

"Modified rapture!" exclaims Nanki-Poo on learning that, although Yum-Yum is to marry Ko-Ko, she does not love him. Modified rapture would seem to have been D'Indy's emotional note in "Jour d'Eté à la Montague"—a composition first made known in Chicago by Mr. Stock just nine years ago this week. It is lovely in coloring, and eloquent in its impartment of the spirit of the prose apostrophe to nature which serves as a program; but the emotional expression seems stifled, choked, held back—as if, perhaps, he had been warned in formal dogma that there might be sinful excess in giving credit to nature.

Doubtless, I should have thought nothing of the kind if what Rolland wrote had not come back to memory. That this idyl did not evoke unrestrained joy in yesterday's audience was not the fault of the Orchestra, which played it, I thought, with a rather precious regard for its many beauties.

A second novelty of the afternoon for this reporter was Enesco's first Roumanian rhapsody, although it figured in a former Orchestra program. It is a bit of shiny theatricalism, all on the surface, asking more from the players than it gives to them, and might have been written as a setting for one of the lush, dripping, specious orations with which the composer's fellow-citizen, Mr. Take Jonescu, successfully sought last June to impress the Roumanians with the manifold advantages of cutting in while the cutting-in was good.

Its rapture, I should say, was a matter of sheer urgency on the part of its young composer. It served yesterday to give a touch of dynamics by way of recompense for the monotonous brooding of the D'Indy idyl, and, so, took a fitting place in the structure of the season's second program—which will, of course, be repeated tonight.

THE TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

By JANE EDDINGTON

All recipes have been scientifically tested by Miss Eddington with current market materials and are indorsed by her.

There is a substance in the fat of butter which nourishes the nervous system, builds the blood, the marrow of bones, etc., say our best dietitians of today, very exact scientists, too. The great value of all fats in the diet is being more widely recognized.

Exploiting the Avocado.

THE pleasant thing about the fat or oil in a vegetable thing like avocado is that you do not taste it afterwards. It is mild, and there is 20 per cent of it, which means real food, fuel food. It is on this account that I am willing to help the growers in their campaign of exploiting this fruit. You get your money's worth. Placards for grocery windows and folders of recipes are ways they are using.

We do not make up great show pieces in the way of salads often nowadays, as was formerly the custom, but in experimenting with the avocado the other day I worked out something that would go well in such a piece, and also could be used on lettuce leaves for the individual salad. In these show pieces mayonnaise used to be put on as a garnish, and what I called avocado Thousand Island in my experiment could be used thus.

To make this dressing, which can be used also as a relish, I mashed sliced avocado and seasoned it to taste with salt, then mixed it with a little French dressing seasoned with garlic in one case and with onion in another, until it was the consistency of a thick mayonnaise and like it except for the green tinge, then I added chopped ripe tomato to thin it to an agreeable consistency.

In one of the booklets advertising avocado are the following salads:

Spanish Salad.

"Over rings of avocadoes scatter thin slices of ripe tomatoes and crisp cucumbers. Dress with salt, pepper, oil, and lemon juice."

Miami Salad.

"Pour a good French dressing, to which chopped onion has been added, over sliced avocadoes. Garnish with sweet peppers."

BY MAE TINEE.

"THE RAGGED PRINCESS" furnishes the not unusual but always delightful revelation that, with all the worldly wisdom of us, we're children after all. We may prate of refined humor and its exquisite subleties—I'm quoting somebody I don't know whom—but little Jane Lee, carefully arranging a pie tin over the spot on her anatomy where the spanking is due, is funny enough for most of us. Ibsen may wring our hearts. Just see, though, if "The Ragged Princess" doesn't evoke a surer sympathy. June Caprice, the star, aged 16, aided and abetted by Jane Lee, aged 6 years, furnished the proof of our eternal adolescence.

The ragged princess wasn't, you must understand, really a princess. No. She was a poor little drudge in an orphan asylum, matroned by the kind of woman somebody made when God had his eyes shut—the kind that shouldn't be but that reports of investigators prove there are. Mrs. Lang, brutal and incompetent, made of our heroine's life such a horrible thing, that she ran away. With tears she parted from little Jane, one of the tiny orphan children, and her especial pet, promising to send for her as soon as she could. Jane, who with all her little might has championed Betty, taking beatings galore like a soldier, bears up bravely and goes trudging back with her pathetic doll to get more of what seems to be coming to her because she will not tell what she knows of Betty's disappearance.

Betty spends the first night in a barn where she hides in the haymow. When morning dawns she discovers some articles of male raiment lying near, dons them and a convenient "hayseed hat" and departs in quest of work.

"Don't you want to hire a man?" she asks Old Man Higgins. He 'lows he does and tells one of his stalwart helpers to set her to work. This is Billy, played by Harry Hilliard, and Billy gives her a pail and tells her to milk one of the cows. He, already busily at the milking, suddenly becomes aware that the conventional is not happening. Peering around his screening animal he beholds the new hand standing patiently by the equally patient cow. The milkpail is set beneath the swelling udder. Catching Billy's eye the new man says:

"It doesn't come. I guess the faucet isn't turned on." (Does the audience laugh? The audience most certainly does.)

Of course it's only a matter of time until the discovery is made that the new hand is the girl who ran away from the orphan asylum. Old Man Higgins is going to send her back, but again she runs away and hiding in the bottom of an automobile into which she climbs when the chauffeur it not looking, having gone into the farm to buy some things, is carried straight to the home of a millionaire, who is a BAD MAN in capital letters.

Her youth and freshness attract him and he makes her his protégé, biding his time until opportunity shall fling her into his arms. Everything she wants she gets, including Jane, who is as cunning and winning in the new abode as she was in the orphan asylum. Before Betty's disgrace is accomplished, however, Billy appears and Betty and Billy and Jane fare happily forth into the world together.

Not much to the story, I admit. One of those Cinderella effects. The beauty lies in its cleanliness and in the really admirable acting of the two youngsters mentioned. Unless Jane Caprice is badly spoiled in the making, there's apt to be a Blanche Sweet No. 2 in our midst before long.

Jane Lee deserves a paragraph all to herself. She's an adorable, clever, appealing little monkey, chock full of tricks and wiles and baby wisdom. She seems to have not thought of the camera and certainly makes you forget that she is acting.

Harry Hilliard is pleasing. He's clean cut and unaffected. He may slur his s's but I doubt it. Proof of his excellence is that you feel so perfectly safe about Betty and Jane when they depart under his wing.

Some of the other parts might have been better cast—but the people playing them were not bad. It was the kiddies who made the picture, however. Take yours to see it. They'll love it!

Curtis had several times seen to see Jack, a 9 month old baby, and was so exuberant in his love for and enthusiasm over him we were anxious and curious to hear what he would say about Billy, then 10 days old. Unfortunately, his visit came when Billy was asleep, and Curtis solemnly eyed the motionless little mite way down in the crib. When his father asked that evening what he thought of Billy, Curtis said, "Well, I'm a little boy, Jack's a little baby, and Billy's just a name." V. B.

My little nephews were discussing one of their playmates. They wondered why his papa lived in one city and he and his mother in another. One of them thought he had solved the problem when he said: "O, they're departed." A. W.

Freddie was told by his father to find out the prices of seats for the circus. Freddie soon returned, breathless from haste, and announced: "Twenty-five cents for children and 50 cents for overgrown people." F. A.

One of my small pupils arrived at Sunday school much excited one morning over the gift of a new puppy. On asking him what kind of a dog it was, he said, "O, it is half fox terrier and half thoroughbred." M. W.

Sends Reading Matter.

"WILL you please let me have the address of H. A. T., the lonely homesteader? I have made it a rule to send a little reading matter regularly by mail. You sent me the name of a woman who was in need of baby clothes. I found her without a piece of anything. I have been able to supply nearly all the child's needs up to the present time. The mother is appreciative, and the baby is sweet. I eventually persuaded the family to get out of the close, dark rooms they were in and they are now comfortably settled in two rooms in a better neighborhood. "SUSIE H."

Unconsciously you have given us a pleasing sketch from life instead of the formal report you thought you were inditing. Not the least interesting part of the narrative is the concluding sentence. Yours is the best kind of personal service, a phrase much misused by some philanthropists. Your time and thoughts and best energies are yourself. In that one word we have the true inwardness of the pregnant phase.

Colored Doll Pictures.

"Will some reader of a magazine that publishes colored dolls be kind enough to send last year's to two little girls who greatly enjoy playing with them? "E. S. AND J. L."

Subscribers to the magazine referred to here will recognize the paper doll series and bear in mind the two little ones who would enjoy playing with them.

Just as a Loan.

"Kindly help my little girl to get a tricycle. She is 6 years old and her limbs are not strong. The doctor wants me to try to get one for her. I will gladly call for it and return it in good condition when requested. I. W."

The wee lassies press to the front of late, or rather tender and wistful mothers put forward their claims upon our compassion. We have not asked for a tricycle for an age. Is there an outgrown wheel for the 6 year old?

Received Large Package of Music.

"I wrote to Mr. D. and received a large package of music. But I lost unfortunately his full address, so am unable to send him the shortage in postage, which amounts to 7 cents. I hope he will see this note in your Corner. "B. M. P."

We join our earnest hope with yours that the Mr. D. of the liberal soul and glad hand may read this and know of your heartfelt gratitude. Will he let us know if he reads the letter of the woman he made happy by his gift of music?

OBITUARY.

SENATOR ALBERT J. OLSON OF WOODSTOCK DIES.

Senator Albert J. Olson of Woodstock, one of the leaders of the state senate and conspicuous in Republican state and local politics for many years, died yesterday at Augustana hotel. He was 51 years old.

He was born in Elgin in 1865. Moving to Chicago when a young man, he became active in politics and was elected to the Chicago city council in 1898, serving two terms from the old Twenty-third ward, the territory now comprising the Twenty-second ward on the north side. He moved to Woodstock in 1900 and entered extensively into the dairying industry. As head of the wholesale milk firm of A. J. Olson & Co. he occupied an important post in the dairying interests. He was serving his second term as mayor of Woodstock.

He served as a member of the Illinois house of representatives in the Thirty-ninth and Fortieth general assemblies. He was elected to the state senate from the Lake-McHenry-Boone district in 1908 and was reëlected in 1912. WHEAT ADVANCE IS CHECKED BY REALIZING SALES

New High Prices Established Early, However, and All of Upturn Is Not Lost.

Trade in wheat yesterday was of large proportions and new high marks again were established. There was a reaction of over 2c from the best prices, however, and closing figures were only ½c better than the previous resting spots for December and May and ⅛@⅜c lower for July. Profit taking was general in the latter part of the session, most of the longs figuring the advance was enough for the present and that it was advisable to turn paper profits into cash, bearing in mind that war and political news detrimental to their position was likely to be circulated at any time.

Rumors were current that the British government was doing everything possible to hold down prices, even to the extent of curbing speculative buying in American markets by subjects of Great Britain. Seaboard advices were to the effect that buyers for the allied nations had withdrawn from the export trade temporarily.

Outside Buying Is Heavy.

There was heavy buying for outside account, and the general public is displaying more interest in the market. Drought continues in Argentina, and private cables say the northern sections will raise only sufficient wheat for seed. Snow and cold weather have combined to halt the thrashing and movement of spring wheat, and the receipts at northwest and Winnipeg markets are running only about one-third of those a year ago. Rosario was 2½@5½c higher and Buenos Aires was 3½@4c higher.

Export sales of about 375,000 bu were reported, made to the Greek government. Local shipping business was 20,000 bu. Bradstreet's made the week's clearances of wheat and flour from North America 5,324,000 bu, against 11,113,000 bu a year ago. Primary receipts yesterday were 1,661,000 bu, against 2,772,000 bu a year ago.

Cash Corn at One Dollar.

Corn jumped 5c a bushel in the first few minutes of trading for December delivery, there being a general rush to buy and practically nothing for sale. Stop-loss orders were executed with difficulty, but the trade calmed down later and under heavy realizing sales prices had a sharp reaction. Closing figures were at net gains of 1½@2¼c. Cash corn in the sample market sold at $1.00 for No. 2 yellow, equaling the high price reached in 1892. Prices for cash corn were 1@3c higher, with only 52 cars received here.

Bad weather again prevailed over the belt and the movement of new corn is expected to be materially delayed, while the trade here is depending almost entirely on current receipts. Local shipping sales were 55,000 bu. Primary receipts were 331,000 bu, against 289,000 bu a year ago. Weekly clearances were lighter at 371,000 bu.

Oats Have Late Reaction.

General buying of oats at the outset caused substantial price advances, but the market reacted in the latter part of the session along with other grains. Resting spots were ⅜@⅝c better than previous closing figures. The heaviest buyers of late unloaded freely. Cash oats were ½@⅝c higher, with local shipping sales 160,000 bu. Primary receipts totaled 1,134,000 bu, compared with 1,168,000 bu a year ago. Clearances from the seaboard were 286,000 bu. Argentina shipped 1,550,000 bu oats this week, against 340,000 bu a year ago.

Provisions closed generally higher, with pressure noted on the nearby deliveries of lard. Commission houses and shorts were heavy buyers of product, but realizing sales also proved large. Hog prices at the yards were weak early, but rallied later. Trade in cash product is reported fairly good, with the southern demand picking up. Liverpool spot lard was 3d higher, with bacon and hams unchanged. Western markets received 75,450 hogs, against 47,570 a year ago. Local meat shipments were 3,072,000 lbs, compared with 2,944,000 lbs a year ago, while lard shipments were 501,000 lbs, against 1,260,000 lbs a year ago.

Rye and Barley Firm.

Rye was firm. No. 2 sold at $1.30; No. 3, $1.26@1.29; and No. 4, $1.25@1.29. Shipping sales were 5,000 bu. Receipts, 23 cars.

Barley ruled 1@2c higher. Malting was quoted 92c@$1.20 and sold 94c@$1.17; feed and mixing quotable 75@90c, with sales at 85@90c; screenings were quoted 45@72c and skimmings, 60@65c, former selling 62@73c. Receipts were 44 cars.

Timothy seed was quiet. March was offered at $5.75 and year at $5.35. Cash lots sold at $4.25. Cloverseed was unchanged, with cash lots quoted $12.00@16.00.

Duluth flax closed 3@4½c higher. Cash on track, $2.65½; October, $2.64; December, $2.59½, and May, $2.64½. Receipts, 76 cars. Minneapolis was 2½c higher, with cash on track, $2.60½@2.64½; receipts were 99 cars. Winnipeg closed 5½@7½c higher. October, $2.48, and December, $2.41½. Receipts, 9 cars.

SUGAR.

CHICAGO, Oct. 20. — SUGAR — Following prices were quoted by wholesale dealers per 100 lbs: Cut loaf, H. & E., $8.75; powdered, standard, $7.86; standard, cane granulated, $7.38; beet granulated, $7.48; extra C., $7.28; canary, $6.93.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—The raw sugar market was strong and prices advanced again on continued active buying by refiners, with closing prices at 5⅛c for Cubans cost and freight, equal to 6.52c for centrifugal and 5.64c for molasses. The day's business was estimated at between 75,00 and 85,000 bags of Cubas for prompt and November shipment at 5⅛c cost and freight, and at the close it was believed that further sales were under negotiation at the same level. The refined sugar market was higher again in sympathy with raws, prices being advanced 15 points to the basis of 7.50c for fine granulated. Trading was not particularly active, although it was said that refiners were very busy on old orders, and withdrawals were moderate. The continued strength in both raw and refined again had its effect in futures, and prices for the old crop positions were strong and active on heavy buying by trade interests and commission houses. New crop deliveries, however, were easier under scattered liquidation, with the list closing 19 points higher to 9 points net lower. November sold from 5.34c to 5.44c, closing 5.44c; December, 5.00c to 5.07c, closing 5.05c; January, 4.59c to 4.73c, closing 4.80c; March, 4.28c to 4.37c, closing 4.27c; May, 4.39c to 4.45c, closing 4.35c; July, 4.42c to 4.50c, closing 4.40c. Late in the day all grades of refined were advanced 15 points, making standard granulated 7.50c a pound.

NEWS AND GOSSIP OF BOARD OF TRADE

Reports that the English government had forbidden the speculative buying of American futures did not have a great deal of effect, as it was taken as evidence that foreign needs must be urgent. The English government, in line with its previous arrangements, has taken over the buying end of all existing contracts for the sale of Manitoba wheat to the United Kingdom. This means sellers of Manitoba wheat on this side will receive their pay in fulfillment of the contract from the British government.

French official estimates of the import wheat requirements show about 60,000,000 bu will be needed, but this is regarded as far too low by Broomhall, whose agent makes an estimate of 96,000,000 bu for the current season, of which 32,000,000 bu has been shipped already. The price now being paid in France is equal to $2.32⅝. A semi-official French report said the government had already purchased sufficient foreign grain to fulfill requirements up to the end of July, 1917.

Foreigners are beginning to take new corn for export in quite a liberal way. Baltimore sold 800,000 bu on Thursday and there was a good inquiry reported for more. Part of the corn sold was bought in Illinois territory on basis of 3¾c under Chicago December track, Springfield points. The local demand was fair, but there was little corn offered, sales being 53,000 bu. Prices followed the December. Oats prices were about 1c higher, and there were sales of 160,000 bu.

Cash wheat bids were out of line generally at the seaboard. Total sales of about 400,000 bu were reported, part of it to Greece. Omaha reported light offers. Local sales were 20,000 bu. Northwest cash markets were not much changed relatively. Other cash markets were about steady relative to the futures.

Receivers reported free sales of oats by the country again yesterday, the advance in prices here inducing more liberal selling. Cash men look for receipts to continue liberal for some time to come.

A Duluth wire said receivers looked for larger receipts of wheat as the result of the recent price advance.

Flax, bu	610,000	394,000	1,111,000

According to the Modern Miller, farm stocks of wheat in Kansas are from 25 to 33 per cent. Millers have bought freely of Kansas and Nebraska wheat and are allowing it to remain on the farms or in country elevators until they can secure cars to move it.

Argentine conditions are becoming more discouraging in the central section, with locusts reported spreading south. Corn and oats conditions are also unfavorable, and flax seed outlook is poor, Buenos Aires showing advance of 9⅝c for flax.

Argentine visible supply of wheat decreased 184,000 bu for the week to total of 11,040,000 bu, against 1,840,000 bu a year ago. Corn decreased 229,000 bu to total of 14,859,000 bu, against 10,166,000 bu a year ago.

No. 2 yellow corn at New York sold at $1.10. No. 4 mixed corn here sold at 97c. Offerings were light even at the big advances in price.

Receipts inspected yesterday: Wheat, 61 cars; corn, 52 cars; oats, 201 cars; rye, 23 cars, and barley, .. cars. Hogs estimated for today, 18,000 head.

The October Red Book of statistics, compiled by Howard, Bartels & Co., was issued yesterday.

Frank L. Hough has posted a board of trade membership for transfer.

Australian shipments of wheat for the week were 2,088,000 bu.

Minneapolis wheat stocks increased 650,000 bu for the week.

Hog prices at Chicago yesterday started steady to a shade easier, but closed strong and averaged 5@10c higher. Active buying by shippers was a factor contributing much to the show of strength, and local packers also took hold satisfactorily after the early period of dullness. Receipts were liberal at 25,000 head. Top sales were made at $10.40, with the bulk of transactions at $9.75@10.25. Pigs were 10@15c higher.

Only 3,000 cattle came in yesterday and the proportion of steers was small. Prices for latter ruled steady. Cows and heifers were slow and easier, and weakness was also shown in the market for bulls. Calves ruled firm, with a few prime lots selling at $11.85. Stock and feed cattle were weak.

Sheep and Lambs Steady.

Sheep and lambs were mainly steady. Best native ewes sold at $7.25. Lambs topped at $10.50, both native and range. Receipts were fair at 10,000 head.

NO-GRADE WHEAT LIFTED HIGH BY EXPERT ANALYSIS.

Dr. Ladd Reports No. 4 Goes Into Flour Which Is Only 5 Per Cent Short of Standard.

No 4 and "no grade" or "rejected" wheat has been ground into flour only 5 per cent below standard, which produced bread that in volume, color, and texture was far above standard, according to Dr. E. F. Ladd of the North Dakota Agricultural college, flour expert for the government.

No. 4 wheat produced in the model mill at the college flour milling 63.5 per cent, compared with 68 per cent standard, and "no grade" wheat milled 66.4 per cent.

Dr. Ladd's preliminary report, which has just been issued, sums up these results in his efforts to solve the problem of handling the low grade wheat produced this year in North Dakota and Minnesota, where the crop was hurt by rust, and in western Canada, where close grading automatically grades low a certain percentage in spite of record yields reported.

Dr. Ladd finds that through the grading system which makes low grade wheat sell much below the price of No. 1 the milling interests are forcing low grade wheat upon the market for No. 1 flour, with immense profit to themselves, and this on the pretext of having to import wheat from Canada to keep their mills running. He points out that milled wheat worth $1.80 was worth, on the same basis, to the farmer $1.50, allowing 30 cents for milling cost. But the farmer received only $1.39. "No grade" wheat, which millers consider worthless, was worth milled $1.75½ a bushel; the farmer received $1.18½. Allowing 30 cents for milling cost, he lost 27 cents on the bushel.

The finished product from a bushel of wheat graded No. 4 and milled at the college was actually worth 11 cents more than the value the consumer received.

Wabash.

J. C. T.—The Wabash railway is now making the largest earnings in its history. It was taken out of receivers' hands Nov. 1 last. In the next eight months it earned $2,903,501 over fixed charges, or at the rate of over 9 per cent a year on the $46,200,000 of preferred A stock The record up to Aug. 31 was still better. The bonded debt ahead of the A stock is about $65,000,000 Interest charges amount to approximately $3,150,000 a year, and rents to as much more. The preferred stocks are entitled to 5 per cent noncumulative dividends before the common receives any distribution. In view of the fact that the present great prosperity of railroads is not likely to continue indefinitely, and that the coming adjustment of wages is likely to decrease net earnings, the preferred A stock must be considered highly speculative.

Swift & Co.

T F. B., Keokuk, Ia.—Holders of Swift & Co. stock have the right to buy new shares at par to the amount of 33 1-3 per cent of their present holdings. The stock selling at 155 gives a total valuation of $116,250,000 to the 750,000 shares now outstanding. The issuing of 250,000 shares of new stock at par will evidently add $25,000,000 cash, making total value $141,250,000, or $141.25 for each of the 1,000,000 shares, and $47.08 for one-third of a share. The right to buy a third of a share for $33.33 evidently is worth the difference, or $13.75. Of course the value of the rights increases approximately 25 cents for every dollar the stock advances in the market and vice versa. The rights have been selling a little higher than their theoretical value.

Goodrich Company.

C C H., Portland, Ore.—The B. F. Goodrich company's shipments in the first eight months of 1916 were 40 per cent larger than in the corresponding period of 1915. This indicates gross sales for the year of over $70,000,000. In 1915 the company earned $12,265,680 net after depreciation, or about 22 per cent of total sales. Gossip is that net this year will not be at so high a rate, but that with the larger gross sales it will yield total profits about as large as last year. Directors have expressed the intention of holding earnings in the treasury to finance the rapid growth of the business and of making no increase in the 4 per cent dividend rate for some time.

Sandow Motor Truck.

N. N. T.—The Sandow Motor Truck company has been organized to take over the business of the Sandow Truck company. The latter has been in business five years and has been paying dividends for three. The amount of its earnings and dividends is not made public. The new company is issuing $300,000 of 7 per cent preferred stock with a bonus of common Present net tangible assets are given as $175,000. When the sale of stock is completed it is stated that the net current assets will equal 133 per cent of outstanding preferred.

Brief Answers.

G. W. C.—The Dubuque Electric company's bonds have a first mortgage on the property. Net earnings in the last year were more than twice the interest. The company was formed a few months ago to take over the old Union Electric The stated capitalization of the old company was substantially less than that of the new, but it had a floating debt of about $400,000, which had to be provided for. The bonds of the new company are not yet seasoned, of course, but they appear to be well secured.

W. W. H., Springfield, Ill.—Because the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railway is in the hands of receivers, its stock sells at a low price. The first mortgage 6s have a first lien on the best part of the system. Whatever happens to the company, these bonds are good, as the bondholders could take that part of the road and operate it independently.

P. S.—The Famous Motor Truck is purely speculative at present. The promotors promise to obtain a factory and build light auto trucks when the public has furnished them the needed capital.

M. M. M.—The Texas Power and Light company is conservatively capitalized and has efficient management It earns its first preferred dividend nearly three times.

C. C. F.—The stocks you ask about are highly speculative. Both have been discussed heretofore.

FORGAN EXPECTS PERIOD OF LOW INTEREST RATES

Chicago Banker Says Vast Influx of Gold Has Created Abnormal Situation.

In discussing the prevailing interest rates and the possibilities immediately ahead of the money market James B. Forgan, chairman of the First National bank board, said yesterday:

"The present rates, unusually low at the time of the year when the banks expect their highest interest, present an abnormal situation. It will not last always, but it is a condition that has been in effect for more than a year now and I cannot see any improvement immediately ahead.

"The market remains easy, despite the moving of crops, because of the influx of gold and the money being made from business activity. The country has absorbed an enormous volume of securities from abroad and floated large foreign loans in addition. Notwithstanding, gold continues to flow in, keeping the supply far ahead of the demand and putting the banks at the mercy of the borrowers. There is no prospect of a letup.

Foresees Lower Bank Earnings.

"The earnings of the banks will be affected by the conditions that have prevailed over a long period. We are making small profits on a large volume of business. But, despite the larger amount of business, which in our own institution represents a gain of $31,000,000 in deposits and $27,000,000 in loans over last year, our net returns will not be as large as in 1915. Last year was a poor year, too.

"I do not look for securities to come over so fast now that the British government is planning to use them as security for loans from us rather than borrowing from its own people and letting them sell their holdings to us for the money.

"The gold is coming from the trade balance that is piling up and that is the basis for the expansion of bank credit. It has come in such volume and so steadily that the business expansion has not kept up. I figure that $150,000,000 gold has been shipped in during the course of the year and it is evident there has been nowhere near the domestic business expansion to absorb this credit. Theoretically, we estimate that gold, on a conservative basis, provides for four times its value in credit."

New French Credit.

The Guaranty Trust company, the Bankers' Trust company, and William P. Bonbright & Co. are arranging a credit for French industrial concerns to cover the purchase of goods in this country. The full amount of the credit is not yet known, but it is expected to reach $100,000,000. From twenty-five to fifty French industrial and importing concerns will be represented in the credit.

Banks throughout this country will be allowed to participate in accepting bills of the French concern. These acceptances will run for ninety days and will carry the privilege of five renewals, making the full length of credit a year and a half. As additional security, to make the bills acceptable to banks which have not the facility to investigate the credit standing of the French concerns, there will be deposited with the Guaranty Trust company 120 per cent in French treasury bonds.

New York Banks Gain Cash.

Known movements of money this week indicate a gain in cash by the New York banks of over $10,000,000. They gained from the interior $25,000. Gold imports from Canada amounted to $10,500,000. Total exports of $1,100,000 in United States coin to Canada were made.

The loss on subtreasury operations proper was $3,204,000. During the week the Federal Reserve bank had a debit balance amounting to $19,114,000. Its credit balance during the week's period totaled $14,900,000, or a balance in favor of the New York banks of $4,214,000. This makes a net gain by the banks of $10,435,000.

Chicago Securities.

Swift & Co. shares had a further advance to 158¼. The buying was somewhat excited. The final quotation was 154. The stock is now up 13½ points since it became ex-dividend. The shares are enjoying a large measure of popularity.

United Paper Board common was active, but did not quite meet the expectation of its friends. It touched 31¼ points, but closed at 30¼.

There was little doing in Chicago City and Connecting Railways preferred. The price was fractionally higher at 34. There is a disposition to await official action by the directors, increasing the dividend rate.

Money and Exchange.

Money rates in Chicago steady at 4 per cent on collateral, 3½ per cent on commercial paper, and 4@5 per cent over the counter. New York exchange sold 5c discount. Chicago bank clearings were $79,837,845.

NEWS OF THE FINANCIAL WORLD

Further strength was shown in the market and eastern commission houses of a conservative tendency regarded the day's course of prices as suggestive of bull conditions. United States Steel common led in importance and upward movement and appeared to bear out the view that there is in reserve a large buying power which believes in higher quotations for important issues, of which United States Steel is the leader. The stock has worked back to where it was one week ago last Monday, when the operations of the German submarine caused much uneasiness and the quick drop in prices of most securities. Steel was followed upward by most issues and much confidence was generally expressed in the market.

The Standard Oil company of Kansas, at present a refining company, is making plans to enter the producing business. A special meeting of shareholders has been called for Oct. 30, in Neodesha, Kas., to vote on changes in the charter allowing the company to mine, equip, and maintain pipe lines and pipe line equipment. Shareholders of record Sept. 29 will be entitled to vote at the meeting.

The short interest in the motors stocks is reported large, as reflected by private borrowing. There is, however, a gradual retirement of the shorts on account of the bullish sentiment maintained among industrials. It is also reported there is an inclination to look on the motor shares as being seasoned and that many of them are considered worth the price at which they are selling.

The stockholders' committee of the American Hide and Leather company, of which Anderson Price is chairman, has sent to preferred shareholders a circular announcing it will not support the reorganization plan recently suggested by Swartwout & Appenzellar. The committee says it represents 10,000 shares of the preferred stock.

Cleveland dispatches are to the effect that the Pennsylvania railroad may have fines amounting to $1,000,000 levied against it in connection with charges made that the road has been granting rebates to the Cambria Steel company.

More dividend increases are confidently predicted for the railroads. Following the action of the Illinois Central, either extras or higher regular rates are regarded as certain for the New York Central, Norfolk and Western, Union Pacific, Atchison, and Louisville and Nashville.

It is reported earnings of the United States Smelting company for September ran about $100,000 ahead of July and August. Earnings in October are said to be at the rate of between $800,000 and $900,000, as compared with the low average this year of $400,000 in July and August.

It is officially reported that the new financing for the Chalmers Motor company has been arranged. The issue of $7,000,000 new preferred stock is said to have been underwritten and shortly will be offered the public.

The Gulf States Steel company reports net operating income for September at $256,178, being an increase of $195,615 over September, 1915. After depreciation, taxes, and reserves, the net income was $229,024.

It is intimated by interests close to the Wabash management that the preferred A stock has been steadily accumulated in anticipation of the shares being placed on the dividend list next December.

According to Wall street gossip, large interests are committeed to the conservative side of the market. Activity and breadth are anticipated until the latter part of December, at least.

The strength in the price of oil shares is leading New York financial authorities to suggest that further improvement is likely in the case of stocks listed on the New York exchange.

The quick rise in Loose-Wiles biscuit stocks is followed by reports that the shares are being bought in anticipation of an important advance in the price of the company's products.

There is steady buying of 1917 copper for the first quarter delivery. The price is from 27½ to 27¾ cents per pound. Second quarter prices are 27½ cents.

Again there is gossip that the Cuban Cane Sugar company will shortly declare an initial dividend on the common stock.

Bar silver, 32⅝d per ounce. Money, 4½ per cent. Discount rates, short bills, 5½@5⅝ per cent; three months, 5½@5⅝ per cent.

PARIS, Oct. 20.—Trading was quiet on the bourse today; rentes, 61f 30 c. Exchange on London, 27f 81½c. Five per cent loans, 90f.

The twenty stocks are: Anaconda Copper, American Car and Foundry, American Smelting, American Telephone, Atchison, Baltimore and Ohio, Brooklyn Rapid Transit, Chesapeake and Ohio, Erie, Great Northern preferred, New York Central, Northern Pacific, Pennsylvania, Reading, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, St. Paul, American Sugar, Union Pacific, and United States Steel.

Total sales of stocks, 1,350,000 shares.

Total sales of bonds (par value), $7,260,000.

U. S. STEEL LEADS MARKET.

New York, Oct. 20.—Trading in today's broad, strong, and active market was completely overshadowed by the prominence of United States Steel, that stock contributing over 25 per cent to the total turnover.

Steel's extreme advance of four points, to 119⅜, places the stock within 1¼ points of its record quotation, made in the latter part of September, and represents a gain of more than 11 points for the week, having fallen to 108 last Saturday.

Other active, though less strong features included Republic and Crucible Steels, Anaconda and Inspiration Coppers, American Smelting, such equipments as American and Baldwin Locomotives, General Electric and Westinghouse, Central Leather, and numerous low priced rails.

Foremost among the latter were Wabash issues, Rock Island, Missouri Pacific preferred, Chicago Great Western preferred, and Minneapolis and St. Louis, the last named being distinguished for its advance of almost seven points. Interest in these shares has grown appreciably by reason of the better earnings submitted from month to month.

Gains Made in Motors.

Motors also were restored to speculative favor, Studebaker and Maxwell recording substantial gains with some subsidiaries, and sugars were in renewed request, with new records for Cuban-American and Cuban Cane at 218 and 69⅛ respectively.

Dealings embraced the fertilizers, Harvester issues, United States Industrial Alcohol, American Woolen, leathers, and petroleums, all at variable advances. Paper issues reacted 3 to 5 points from top levels on realizing sales.

Investment rails were under moderate pressure, but regained their losses in the general improvement of the last half hour.

Bonds of minor railroads were responsive to the advance in shares, but international issues suffered from further offerings. United States bonds unchanged on call.

ADVERTISE IN THE TRIBUNE.

SOME BIG DEALS FEATURE DAY IN REALTY FIELD

Eighty Flat Building for Oak Park Planned—Four Lake Forest Acre Sales.

The proposed erection of an eighty apartment building in Oak Park to cost about $250,000, an important deal in Hammond manufacturing property, a series of acre transactions at Lake Forest, and a lease of downtown store space by the F. R. Otis estate were the most important features of yesterday's real estate.

The Oak Park apartment building will be erected by Harris, Kusel & Co., the builders, on 186x216 feet of ground at the northwest corner of Oak Park avenue and Erie street, which has been purchased by Harry J. Kusel from Mrs. F. F. Boiger for a reported consideration of $39,000. There are two old dwellings on the lot which will be removed to make way for the proposed apartment building.

The apartments will contain two, three, and four rooms. Work on the building will not begin before spring. In part payment Mr. Kusel conveyed the property at the northeast corner of California and Diversey avenues, 125x125 feet, improved with a three story brick building containing stores, offices, and a Masonic hall. The property went in at a valuation of $55,000, subject to an incumbrance of $35,000. The sale was negotiated by Isaac Herr and Otto C. Braese.

Deal in Hammond Factory Site.

The Hammond deal was the purchase by the Railway Motor Car Company of America, a new concern, of the plant formerly occupied by the Fitzhugh-Luther company at Cornelia avenue and One Hundred and Fiftieth street for a consideration said to be in excess of $100,000. The property comprises thirteen acres of ground improved with several buildings. The property is served by several railroads. The purchasing company manufactures cars and locomotives operated by kerosene motors and will employ several hundred hands. Alex Kwiat of Hooge & Chandler negotiated the deal.

The Lake Forest transactions numbered four, all of which were negotiated by John Griffith and all of which probably will be improved as country homes. One was the purchase by W. F. Burrows, president of Libby, McNeill & Libby, of a tract of twelve acres on the Green Bay road adjoining the country home of P. D. Armour. The property was acquired from the Mormon estate of Milwaukee, and, while the consideration is withheld, the asking price is said to have been $1,500 an acre.

Earl Reynolds Buys Tract.

In another transaction Earl Reynolds, son of George M. Reynolds, president of the Continental and Commercial National bank, purchased from Arthur Meeker a tract of twenty-two acres on the Green Bay road just south of the Charles Dewey place. The consideration is not disclosed.

Stanley Keith, Morse Ely, and John A. Spoor figured as the purchasers in another transaction, in which they acquired from the Vanderkloot estate a tract of twelve acres on the west side of Sheridan road, south of the Stanley Field place.

In the other transaction, De Forest Hulburd purchased from Henery Bidderman a tract of eighty acres on Telegraph road, adjoining the J. V. Farwell home and just north of the Armour country home. The consideration is not disclosed, but the asking price of the property is said to have been about $400 an acre.

Vacant Corner in Deal.

The vacant property at the northeast corner of Nashville avenue and Imlay street, 321x209 feet, has been purchased by Vaclav Pekar from C. J. Hruby for an expressed consideration of $23,000.

An interesting lease has been closed by Willoughby & Co. in the loop district in which the estate of F. R. Otis has leased a part of the ground floor and the entire second floor in the building at the southeast corner of Dearborn street and Jackson boulevard to the Southern Pacific railroad for a term rent of $115,000. The building will be known as the Southern Pacific building and the lease disposes of the larger part of the space in the building.

The second floor of the Mortimer building at 164 West Washington street has been leased to the Union Printers' club for five years at a term rent of $16,000. The building will be remodeled and equipped for club purposes. H. C. Whiting of Lee J. Lesser & Co. was the broker.

Record has been made of the purchase by Clara S. Johnson from Ellen S. Du Bois of the property in St. Clair street fifty feet north of Huron street, 50x150 feet, east front, for an indicated consideration of $21,000, according to the revenue stamps on the deed.

Song Writer Buys Real Estate.

Carrie Jacobs Bond, composer of the "Perfect Day," will invest some of her business gains in a high grade three apartment building at the southwest corner of Jeffery avenue and Sixty-ninth street, extended, on 50x134 feet of ground which she has just purchased from the State Bank of Chicago, trustee, a nominal consideration being given. The proposed building will cost about $28,000 and Mrs. Bond will probably live in one of the apartments.

The apartment house property at the southeast corner of Iowa street and Oakley avenue, lot 60x123 feet, has been sold by Fanny Moneak, the consideration being nominal, subject to an incumbrance of $22,400.

The six apartment building at 6640-42 Parnell avenue on a lot 50x150 feet, has been purchased by Teresa Stevens from Carl E. Swanson for a reported consideration of $20,000, subject to an incumbrance of $10,000. James B. Porter of Frank J. Conley's office was the broker.

S. W. Straus & Co. have made a loan of $115,000 two to seven years at 6 per cent to Harry C. Cottrell on the Monroe apartment building to be erected at the northeast corner of South St. Louis avenue and Monroe street. The building will contain forty-five apartments.

Straus & Co. have also made a loan of $65,000, two to seven years at 6 per cent to Carl Thorgersen and Hans C. Erickson on the Lafayette apartments at 4720-30 North Spaulding avenue to contain thirty-six apartments.

FOR SALE—COME OUT TO CRANEVIEW,
BEFORE THE PRICE OF ALL LOTS IS SUBSTANTIALLY INCREASED IN PRICE.

Chicago's last Big Close-In Subdivision, at Archer and Kedzie-avs.

See the phenomenal activity in building and other developments which always produce big quick rises in real estate values.

This is a subdivision for the man with a family. Over 250,000 men are now employed within 2½ miles of Craneview, on direct quick transportation.

Over 50% of the lots already sold have gone into the hands of workers who will immediately erect their homes; seventeen two flats [brick] now building, and eight more will be started this week.

Other choice lots for $475.

For $37.50 cash and $10 per month you can own one of them.

This is not a property for millionaires—just a common, everyday good neighborhood, with sensible restrictions to give Craneview the proper start.

Better arrange to come out Saturday or Sunday and see the property. Come before the best lots have been snapped up and before we put in effect a substantial increase in price without notice.

Craneview Subdivision offices open every day.
